8. Waste lands.—The rules for the grant of waste land leases in the 24-Parganas and Khulna portions of the Sundarbans remained in abeyance. An experiment in raiyatwari settlement is being made in the resumed lot Mansadwip 2nd portion in Saugor island; and the reclamation of lot Shikarpur 2nd portion in that island has been undertaken with the object of making the lot fit for raiyatwari settlement. In the area under colonisation in the district of Bakarganj, 416 new colonists settled on 24,070 bighas of land, against 535 colonists on 31,560 bighas in the preceding year.

9. Drainage, irrigation and embankments.—No new drainage or irrigation projects of importance were undertaken during the year. The scheme for improving the drainage of the Contai subdivision of the district of Midnapore is still under consideration, and that for the drainage of the Amta basin in the district of Howrah has been postponed on financial grounds. The work of raising certain portions of the Damodar left embankment was completed. The Gumti embankments in the district of Tippera, which are maintained by the zamindars, gave way in several places and flooded an area of about 50 square miles and destroyed all standing crops. As a result of a conference held at Comilla to consider schemes for the improvement or removal of the embankments, it has been decided that, pending the construction of storage reservoirs or escapes, the embankments should be maintained in an efficient condition, and that their height should be not less than that which existed when the Assam-Bengal Railway was under construction.

10. Partitions.—Forty-six cases were instituted during the year and 275 were pending at the close of the preceding year. Forty-eight cases, including 13 struck off for various reasons, were disposed of, leaving 273 pending at the end of the year.

11. Working of the Bengal Tenancy Act.—The Bengal Tenancy Act continued on the whole to work well. The levy of abwabs or illegal cesses by the landlords and the failure to grant rent-receipts has not, however, ceased, though in some districts the settlement and revaluation operations are said to have considerably restricted illegal demands.

There was an increase in the number of rent money-orders issued and in the amount covered by them. The percentage of money-orders refused by landlords fell from 18·5 in the preceding year to 16·9 during the year under report.

The Bill to amend the law relating to the transferability of occupancy holdings is still under the consideration of this Government.

12. The thanks of Government are due to the Board for its efficient administration of the Land Revenue Department during the year.

By order of the Governor in Council,

L. BIRLEY,

Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

REPORT ON FAMINE IN BANKURA DISTRICT FOR THE WEEK ENDING THE 21st OCTOBER 1916.

IN Bankura district the state of affairs in affected areas has improved. Prospects of standing crops are good. Condition of people on relief-works is good. The relief measures are adequate. Prices are stationary. The price of rice is 9 seers per rupee. The number of persons on relief-works was 3,449, and in receipt of gratuitous relief, being weavers, 1,204, total 4,653. Most of the relief works were closed on the 15th instant.

L. BIRLEY,
Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

DARJEELING, the 25th October 1916.

DISTRICT REPORTS ON WEATHER AND CROPS.

For the week ending on the 30th October 1916.

Summary.—During the week under report rain fell almost throughout the Province. The rabi sowings have been somewhat retarded in places of Western Bengal owing to excessive rainfall. Steeping and washing of jute still continue. Weeding of winter rice is practically over. The condition and prospects of this crop are on the whole good. Fodder is insufficient in parts of Jessore, Dinajpur and Tippera. Cattle-disease is reported from five districts. The average price of common rice for the Province has fallen by one per cent. as compared with that of the previous week.

DEPARTMENT OF MINES IN INDIA, DHANBAD P. O., MANBHUM.

Indian Mines Act, 1901.

AN examination for first and second class Coal Mine Managers' Certificates of Competency under the rules applicable to coal mines will be held at the Railway Institute, Dhanbad, on the 21st, 22nd and 23rd February 1917.

Rules 32 and 33 of the Indian Mines Act, 1901, require that a candidate for a first class certificate must be at least 23 years of age and have had at least five years' practical experience in a coal mine, and for a second class certificate be at least 21 years of age and have had at least three years' practical experience in a coal mine. The periods of practical experience may be reduced to three years and one year, respectively, in the case of a candidate who has received a diploma in scientific and mining subjects after a course of study of at least two years at an educational institution approved in this behalf by the Governor-General in Council, or who has taken a degree in scientific and mining subjects at a University approved in this behalf by the Governor-General in Council.

The fees are Rs. 15 in the case of first class certificates and Rs. 8 in the case of second class certificates. By rule 34 of Government of India (Department of Commerce and Industry) Notification No. 2968—82, dated the 21st April 1906, "these fees shall be paid, not less than one month prior to the date of the examination, to the Chief Inspector of Mines at his office." The fees may be remitted by money-order or paid in any other manner.

Applications and fees should be addressed to the Chief Inspector of Mines in India, Dhanbad, East Indian Railway, and not to any officer by name. No candidate will be permitted to sit at the examination unless his application and fee is received on or before the 21st January 1917.

No. 732T.M.—The 2nd November 1916.—The following draft of rules which the Governor in Council intends to make, in exercise of the power conferred by section 69B (ii) of the Bengal Municipal Act, 1884 (Ben. Act III of 1884), and in supersession of the rules published with Notification No. 1473M., dated the 23rd May 1914, for the guidance of the Commissioners of the Darjeeling and Kurseong Municipalities in matters connected with the carrying out of the purposes of section 69 (1) (ii) of that Act so far as they relate to the supply of water, is published for the information of persons likely to be affected thereby.

Darjeeling. Kurseong.

II. The draft will be taken into consideration on 15th December 1916, and any objections or suggestions which are received by the undersigned on or before that date will be duly considered.

Draft Rules for the Management of the Water-works of the Darjeeling and Kurseong Municipalities under the supervision of the Government of Bengal.

1. The management of the water-supply system of each of the municipalities of Darjeeling and Kurseong shall vest in the Commissioners of the Municipality (hereinafter called "the Commissioners"), and the Commissioners shall perform the duties prescribed in the following rules.

2. The Commissioners shall be responsible for the proper application of the water-supply funds. It shall be their duty to take requisite steps to rectify defects in case they find that water-rates are irregularly collected in any instance, or are insufficient for carrying out the purposes of Part VII of the Bengal Municipal Act, 1884.

3. The Commissioners shall frame the annual budget of income and expenditure on account of the water-works, and shall submit it to the Sanitary Engineer for any remarks he may consider necessary. The Sanitary Engineer shall return the budget with his remarks to the Chairman of the municipality.

4. The Chairman of the municipality shall, at the end of each month, prepare a statement of the accounts of the water-supply funds, which he shall submit to the Commissioners, at their next meeting.

5. The Commissioners at a meeting shall, every month, inquire into all matters connected with the water-supply of the municipality, and examine and pass the accounts submitted under rule 4, and shall record that the accounts have been passed in the book of the minutes of the proceedings of the meeting.

6. In all engineering matters connected with the water-works the Commissioners shall be guided by the advice of the Sanitary Engineer. The Commissioners shall afford the Sanitary Engineer all information he may from time to time require, and shall consider and attend to all communications received from him.

7. The Sanitary Engineer shall visit, or shall depute a representative to visit, the water-works not less than once a year, and shall submit a report thereon to the Sanitary Board.

8. Until all points raised in the report of the Sanitary Engineer have been disposed of, the Commissioners shall submit to the Deputy Commissioner for transmission to the Sanitary Engineer a monthly progress report showing how far effect has been given to the recommendations made in the report.

9. (1) The Commissioners shall appoint two of their number in rotation to be monthly visitors of the water-works.

(2) It shall be the duty of these visitors to ascertain by inquiry—

(a) whether an efficient supply of water is being given:

(b) whether the water-works establishment are attending to their duties and a proper discipline is being maintained:

(c) whether the works, plant, implements, materials and all other things connected with the water-works are being properly maintained in an efficient condition:

(d) whether these rules are being attended to in all respects: and

(e) whether any other matters in connection with the water-works require attention.

(3) The visitors shall report in writing to the Commissioners in meeting the result of their inspection, and a copy of their report, with a copy of any resolution that may be passed thereon by the Commissioners, shall be sent to the Sanitary Engineer.

10. An extract of the proceedings relating to the water-supply system at each meeting of the Commissioners shall be forwarded, within a week of the date of the meeting, to the Sanitary Enginer, who may, if he thinks fit, and shall, if the Commissioners so desire, submit it with his remarks to the Sanitary Board.

11. The chemical and bacteriological analysis of water from each of the water-works shall be carried out once a quarter in the laboratory of the Sanitary Commissioner and the results of the analysis shall be communicated to the Municipality and laid before the Commissioners at a meeting.

12. Whenever the Sanitary Commissioner makes an inspection of the water-works, he shall forward a copy of his remarks concerning the works to the Sanitary Engineer.

13. (1) Subject to the general control of the Commissioners, the duties prescribed for the Commissioners in these rules may, if the Commissioners so decide, be performed by a committee, to be called "The Water-works Committee," consisting—

(a) at Darjeeling, of the Chairman and the Vice-Chairman of the municipality and four other persons to be elected by the Municipal Commissioners at a meeting:

(b) at Kurseong, of the Chairman and the Vice-Chairman of the municipality and three other persons to be elected by the Municipal Commissioners at a meeting.

(2) The Committee shall act as the agent of the Commissioners in all matters relating to the administration of the water-supply of the municipality, and shall for this purpose exercise all the powers vested in the Commissioners by the Bengal Municipal Act, 1884:

Provided as follows:—

(i) the Committee must not act in opposition to, or in contravention of, any order passed by the Commissioners at a meeting, and must not exercise any power which is directed by the law to be exercised by the Commissioners at a meeting;

(ii) all orders or processes of a compulsory nature shall be issued under the authority and signature of the Chairman of the municipality, or of the Vice-Chairman under authority delegated to him in this behalf by the Chairman under section 45 of the Bengal Municipal Act, 1884;

(iii) in respect of the duties imposed by rules 2, 3 and 8, the Committee shall perform the functions of rectification of defects and transmission of documents through the Commissioners.

14. At every meeting of the Committee three members shall form a quorum.

REVENUES.

Column 14—

(a) Municipal rates and taxes. The increase is the result of a general revision of assessment taking effect from April 1914.

(g) Receipt of abnormal character. The amount of Rs 500 has been granted by the Divisional Commissioner for the construction of a masonry well in the town.

EXPENDITURE.

Column 19—

(3) Public Health and convenience. The increase is due to increase in the staff of methars and purchase of carts.

Closing balance of 1914-15. The figure includes Rs. 500 granted by the Divisional Commissioner for the sinking of a masonry well in the town.

In addition to the details required on the reverse, clear information should be given below under the following heads:—

(a) If the ordinary surplus is insufficient to meet the charges of the proposed loan, the particular steps which the municipality has taken, or has agreed to take, in order to make good the deficiency.	(a) The normal surplus is Rs. 35, while the charges of the proposed loan is Rs. 144-8-2. It is in contemplation of the Municipal Commissioners to curtail expenditure in certain direction in order to make good the deficiency. There will be no difficulty in meeting the proposed charges of the loan after a period of two years more when the balance of outstanding loan will be liquidated.
(b) The reserve of taxation or other possible means of increase in the revenues of the municipality.	(b) A fair increase in the revenues is expected as it has been decided that the next revision of assessment will be carried out by an outside agency.
(c) A statement of all outstanding loans specifying, in respect of each loan, the date when taken, the purpose (very briefly), the amount, the annual charges involved, and the amount still payable.	(c) Loan (1)—Rs. 2,000 taken on 7th February 1907 for the metalling of the main road of the town, repayable in ten equal instalments each year of Rs. 246-9-5. Balance outstanding is Rs. 237-0-5. Loan (2)—Rs. 2,000 taken on 24th February 1908 for the metalling of the main road of the town, repayable in ten equal instalments of Rs. 246-9-5 each year. Balance outstanding Rs. 465-0-3. Total loan balance Rs. 702-0-8.
(d) Any explanations in regard to receipts and expenditure to show the true financial position of the municipality when such position is otherwise than the ordinary surplus would indicate.	(d) The receipts on the whole show a tendency to rise. The Municipal Commissioners have agreed to revise the assessment through some outside agency and it is expected that there will be a fair increase in the revenue.

(2) Every application to the Commissioners for such permission must be made at least one week before the permission is required, and the applicant must state the nature of the fireworks that he intends to let off :

Provided that when permission is required for the letting off of bomb-golas or fireworks of any other kind which may be considered dangerous, the application must be made at least a fortnight beforehand.

(3) This by-law shall not apply to the letting-off of pataka, chinu pataka, chuncha baji, chota tubri, charki, and other harmless squibs and crackers.

Fine, Rs. 10.

Bankura.

No. 2510M.—The 4th November 1916.—The following draft of rules which, in exercise of the power conferred by section 290 of the Bengal Municipal Act, 1884 (Bengal Act III of 1884), the Governor in Council proposes to make and subject to which the Commissioners of the Bankura Municipality may allow communication-pipe to be laid down from the service-pipes of the Commissioners for the purposes of leading water to premises for domestic purposes only, are published for the information of persons likely to be affected thereby.

2. The draft rules will be taken into consideration on the 15th December 1916, and any objection or suggestion which may be received by the undersigned before that date will be duly considered :—

Draft Rules.

So long as the Commissioners deem it practicable and consistent with the maintenance of an efficient water-supply, they may allow any owner or occupier of a holding paying a water-rate imposed under the provisions of Part VII of the Bengal Municipal Act, 1884, on the annual value of such holding, when such annual value is not less than Rs. 60, to lay down communication-pipes from the service-pipes of the Commissioners for the purpose of leading water to such holding for domestic purposes only, subject to the following rules and conditions :—

1. The owner or occupier of any holding requiring water to be laid on to such holding for domestic purposes, or requiring any addition or alteration to an existing water-supply, must apply for the same on a printed form to be supplied, free of cost, at the Municipal office.

2. A fee of Rs. 100 must be paid to the Commissioners by such owner or occupier for each connection to a municipal main supply-pipe or a common communication-pipe laid in accordance with rule 3 before any work is commenced, such fee to be in addition to all other costs and charges imposed under these rules.

3. Except as provided below each holding must have a separate connection to the municipal main supply-pipe and extensions from the communication-pipe of one holding to another holding shall not be permitted :

Provided that with the consent of the Commissioners in meeting connections to two or more holdings may be permitted from a common communication-pipe. Any such communication-pipe must be laid in a street or common passage and a stop-cock and meter as provided for in rule 7 must be fixed on the connection to each holding :

Provided also that no holding shall have more than one separate connection, but if in any case the Commissioners are satisfied that an adequate supply to any holding cannot be given through a single connection, they may sanction a second connection thereto.

4. The owner or occupier of the holding in respect of which the connection is required, must pay the entire cost of the connection, including the supply and fixing of the fittings referred to in rule 7, and must also pay the cost of such alterations in, or repairs to, roads, drains, sewers, gas or water-mains or pipes, and the cost of such other works, as may be necessitated by, or result from, the work of making such connection.

5. The owner or occupier of the holding to which a connection has been given must, at any time, on receipt of notice to do so from the Commissioners pay the entire cost of any repairs or alterations to the connection or any part thereof that the Commissioners may consider necessary to put it into a satisfactory condition or which may be necessitated by any change in the municipal water-works or system of distribution or by the defective condition of the connection or any part thereof or by any other cause whatever.

6. (1) The works required under rules 4 and 5 may, at the option of the Commissioners, either be carried out by the Commissioners themselves at the expense of the owner or occupier of the holding in respect of which the works are required, or may be carried out by a person or firm employed by such owner or occupier and approved by the Commissioners.

(2) No work shall be carried out under sub-rule (1), except under the supervision of a Municipal Officer.

7. A holding connection shall comprise the following parts or fittings:—

(a) a brass or gun-metal ferrule inserted in the main supply-pipe;
(b) a galvanized iron communication-pipe from the ferrule to the meter;
(c) a stop-cock and its surface-box;
(d) a meter;
(e) service-pipes from the stop-cock to the taps; and
(f) taps.

8. (1) All the fittings referred to in rule 7 shall be exact duplicates of standard samples kept in the office of the Commissioners, and approved by them in meeting.

(2) All fittings shall be inspected and tested and stamped by an officer of the municipality before being fixed.

(3) If any owner or occupier shall desire to adopt any fitting of a pattern different from the standard patterns, he must present such fitting for the approval of the Chairman, and any fittings so presented may, if considered satisfactory by the Chairman, be stamped and samples thereof may be purchased and placed among the standard fittings.

9. The holding connection, when fitted in position, must be capable of standing a pressure of 75 feet, and no water shall be supplied until it has stood such a test applied by the Commissioners.

10. The size of the ferrule and the diameter of the communication-pipe referred to in clauses (a) and (b) of rule 7, and the number of taps shall be fixed in accordance with the annual valuation of the holdings as follows:—

Annual valuation of holding.				Size of ferrule.	Diameter of communication-pipe.	Number of taps.
	Rs.		Rs.	Inch.	Inch.
Under	200			¼	½	1
..	200	to	399	¼	½	2
..	400	..	599	⅜	⅝	3
..	600	..	899	⅜	⅝	4
..	900	,,	1,199	½	¾	5
,,	1,200	,,	1,499	⅝	⅞	6
..	1,500	..	1,999	¾	1	7
..	2,000 and over—an extra tap for every additional Rs. 1,000.

11. (1) On every communication-pipe a brass or gun-metal stop-cock having the same water-way as such pipe shall be placed as near as practicable to the point where that pipe enters the holding to be supplied.

(2) The stop-cock shall be built in a brick chamber provided with a cast-iron surface cover-box so designed that it can be locked, and the key of this box shall remain under the control of the Chairman.

(3) The stop-cock shall be capable of adjustment so that the supply to the holding may be regulated thereby.

12. (a) The meter shall be placed as near to the stop-cock as possible and in a position where it can be conveniently examined.

(b) The meter must be fixed in a brick chamber covered over with a cast-iron surface box of approved pattern.

13. Neither the stop-cock nor the meter must be placed in any private premises.

14. The Commissioners shall depute an authorized person to read every meter not less than once a quarter, and shall give notice to the occupier at least twenty-four hours before the reading is recorded.

15. (1) Every owner or occupier of any holding, in respect of which a connection has been made, under these rules, shall be entitled to a supply of—

(a) one hundred and sixty gallons of water per quarter for each rupee valuation per quarter, and (b) a further proportionate number of gallons per quarter for every additional fraction of a rupee.

paid by him quarterly as water-rate in respect of such holding.

(2) For all water in excess of the amount allowed under sub-rule (i) such owner or occupier shall be charged quarterly as follows :—

Annas 10 per 1,000 gallons.

16. The Commissioners may cut off the connection between any water-works of the Municipality and any holding to which the water is supplied from such works, or may turn off such supply, in any of the following cases, viz :—

(a) if the holding is unoccupied ;

(b) if the occupier refuses to admit any officer duly empowered in that behalf into the holding for the purpose of making any examination or inspection authorized under this Act, or under any by-law or rule framed under this Act, or prevents such officer from making such examination or inspection ;

(c) if the owner or occupier of the holding touches or interferes with his meter in any way except with the permission of the Chairman, or wilfully or negligently injures or damages it ;

(d) if the owner or occupier of the holding wilfully or negligently permits waste of water in such volume as will, in the opinion of the Chairman, endanger the water-supply in the neighbourhood ;

(e) if the owner or occupier of the holding shall refuse or neglect to pay any of the fees or charges imposed in accordance with these rules for a space of fourteen days after he has been served with a notice of demand for the same ;

(f) if the owner or occupier of the holding constructs or fixes any cisterns, tanks, reservoirs, taps, pipes or any other works in connection with the water-supply not authorised by these rules ;

(g) if the pipes, taps, ball-cocks, cisterns, or any other parts of the connection are, in the opinion of the Commissioners, in a leaking condition or a state of disrepair :

Provided that disconnection or turning off of the water-supply shall not relieve any person from any liabilities which he may have incurred under these rules.

In the circumstances contemplated in clause (d) an officer authorised by the Commissioners in this behalf by a general order shall have the power to turn off the supply for a period not exceeding eight hours on his previously recording his reason in writing.

17. Every tap shall be of the same size as the pipe to which it is attached and shall be of brass and of the pattern known as "Screwdown" or "Self-closing." Every tap shall be at least three feet above the surface of the ground beneath.

18. No cistern, tank, or reservoir of any description, which is intended to be supplied with water from the Municipal water-works, shall be permitted to any holding except with the sanction of the Commissioners in meeting and such sanction shall distinctly specify the dimensions and capacity of the cistern, tank, or reservoir allowed. The inlet to every such cistern, tank, or reservoir must be controlled by an efficient ball-cock, so that the discharge thereinto is completely stopped when the cistern, tank, or reservoir is full. Any taps fed from such cistern, tank or reservoir must be included in the number of the taps allowed under rule 10.

19. No connection shall be permitted to any holding unless and until the owner or occupier makes effective provision to the satisfaction of the Commissioners for draining all waste water away.

No. 7297.-L.S.-G.—The 31st October 1916.—The following draft of an order which the Governor in Council intends to make under section 38 of the Bengal Local Self-Government Act, 1885 (Bengal Act III of 1885), is published for the information of persons likely to be affected thereby.

2. The draft will be taken into consideration on the 15th December 1916, and any objection or suggestion which may be received by the undersigned through the Magistrate of the District before that date will be duly considered.

Draft Order.

THE INDIAN LAW REPORTS.

Published in FOUR SERIES viz.

CALCUTTA, MADRAS BOMBAY AND ALLAHABAD.

THE Indian Law Reports, published under the authority of the Governor-General in Council are printed in monthly Parts, which are issued, as soon as possible after the first of each month, at Calcutta, Madras, Bombay and Allahabad, respectively.

The Reports comprise four Series—one for the Calcutta High Court, a second for the Madras High Court, a third for the Bombay High Court, and a fourth for the Allahabad High Court.

The cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from each High Court are reported in the Series for that High Court. Cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from Provinces in India not subject to any High Court are reported in the Calcutta series.

The Calcutta Series is distributed by the Bengal Secretariat Book Depôt: and the Madras, Bombay and Allahabad Series are distributed direct from Madras, Bombay and Allahabad, respectively.

Persons desiring to subscribe for or purchase the Reports should apply to—the Officer in charge Bengal Secretariat Book Depôt, Calcutta, or the Superintendent, Government Press, Madras, or the Superintendent, Government Central Press, Bombay, or the Curator of Government Books, United Provinces of Agra and Oudh, Allahabad.

For the week ending on the 6th November 1916.

Summary.—During the week under report the rainfall throughout the province was moderate, causing slight damage to the standing winter rice crop in a few places in two Western Bengal districts. The preparation of lands for rabi crops and their sowing are proceeding. Steeping and washing of jute have been nearly finished. The weeding of winter rice has been completed. Condition and prospects are good. Fodder is reported to be insufficient in parts of Dinajpur, Tippera and Noakhali. Cattle-disease is reported from three districts only. The average price of common rice for the province has slightly risen as compared with that of the previous week.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

LAND REVENUE.

DARJEELING, THE 22ND SEPTEMBER 1916.

RESOLUTION No. 1562T.—R.

THE curtailment of the survey and settlement programme due to the unfavourable financial situation has had the result of throwing out of employment a large number of settlement kanungos whose service is on a temporary basis. These officers have been very carefully selected by the Settlement Department, and the work on which they have been employed is such as to have given them valuable experience in administrative duties. They are all men of superior education and are accustomed to hard outdoor work. The Governor in Council desires that every endeavour shall be made to find suitable employment for these officers, and at the meeting of the Bengal Legislative Council held at Dacca on 7th August 1916, he has accepted a resolution recommending that steps should be taken to find employment for them. He desires, therefore, that applications from the kanungos whose names are entered in the list* attached hereto shall receive careful consideration in connection with all classes of appointments for which they may be qualified. In the case of settlement kanungos he is prepared to make reasonable concessions in the matter of the age limit of 25 years, which is usually prescribed for candidates for Government appointments.

* Not published.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to the Board of Revenue, to all Commissioners of Divisions, and to Heads of Departments.

By order of the Governor in Council,

L. BIRLEY,
Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

(a) One pound mixed with half a gallon of tepid water makes good milk for use with or without sago, &c., for infants, nursing mothers, or invalids. If under exceptional circumstances an extra quantity be needed, the Master may be required by the Medical Officer to supply it.

(b) DISINFECTING SOLUTION.

Instructions for preparing the solution of Perchloride of Mercury for disinfecting purposes.

Take an ordinary galvanized iron bucket, of 4 gallons capacity, thoroughly paint it inside and outside, with tar or dammer. Then take 20 ounces perchloride of mercury, 40 ounces of common salt and 40 fluid ounces of strong hydrochloric acid. Dissolve in 3 gallons of hot water, stirring with a wooden stick to hasten the process. When all the salts are dissolved, the solution may be bottled off in ordinary quart bottles; the above quantity will fill 20 such. When required for use, half a bottle full of the mixture may be diluted with 3 gallons of cold water to form a solution of the strength of very closely 1 to 1,000. The solution is intensely poisonous and must not be left about near the source of supply of drinking water or in the way of domestic animals.

If a supply of hydrochloric acid is not available, the solution may be made without it, but it is preferable to add it when obtainable. If metal pumps are employed for distributing the solution, they should, previous to use, be worked in vegetable oil and after use thoroughly cleaned with fresh water in order to lessen the corrosive action of the mercury.

NOTIFICATION.

PLEADERS' SURVEY CLASSES, 1917.

1. Classes for the training of Pleaders in Surveying will be opened in January and February 1917 in connection with the Civil Engineering College, Sibpur, the Bihar School of Engineering, Bankipur, the Dacca School of Engineering and the Survey School at Cuttack, provided sufficient candidates register their names at each centre.

2. The course will last for six weeks and will consist of practical work combined with class instruction. The routine and hours of attendance will be settled by the heads of the institutions, who will also decide the exact locality in which the classes will be held and the date of the opening.

3. Pleaders must make their own arrangements for attending this course. No tents or other residential accommodation will be provided.

4. Credit for attendance at these classes will not be given unless the pleader has been present for 80 per cent. of the working days and for the full working hours of each day.

5. Any candidate who desires to undergo the course of training must apply to the Principal, Civil Engineering College, Sibpur, not later than 30th November. His application must be endorsed by the District Judge. It should state the centre which the candidate wishes to join, i.e., Sibpur, Bankipur, Cuttack or Dacca, and should be accompanied by a remittance receipt from the local treasury certifying that the fee of Rs. 100 has been paid into the treasury to the credit of the Engineering College.

6. The Secretary will allot candidates to the centres, consulting their wishes as far as possible, giving not more than 34 and not less than 8 to a centre. He will then inform the heads of the institutions of the names and addresses of the candidates registered at their centre and they will inform the candidates as to the locality and the date of opening.

7. The following is the syllabus of instruction. No definite text-books are prescribed :—

(a) Practical work—

Chain surveying, Prismatic compass surveying, plane tabling and levelling.

(b) Class work—

Use of mathematical instruments.	Variation of compass.
Construction of scales ..	Preparation of field books from maps.
Mensuration of areas ...	Elementary principle of levelling.
Plotting	Plotting of level sections.

Candidates who obtain the required percentage of attendance at this course of instruction are qualified to appear at the Practical Examination held in 1918, 1919 and 1920.

Notice.

THE Bengal and Madras Service Family Pension Fund which is provisionally managed and assisted by Government has for its object the provision of monthly pensions for the maintenance of the widows and children of subscribers and is open, with certain exceptions, to all active and pensioned members of the Uncovenanted Service of Government (except those serving under the Government of Bombay), and to Local Fund servants earning pensions from Government. Some of the special features of the Fund are—(1) that widowed daughters incapable of remarriage or children labouring under such mental or bodily infirmities as incapacitate them from earning their livelihood or preclude the possibility of marriage (in case of a daughter) are admitted to its benefits ; and (2) that subscribers to the Widows' and Daughters' branches are entitled to a refund of 30 per cent. of the premia paid, should the nominees predecease them after five years of admission. The Fund is now of ten years' standing and has a balance of over three and-a-half lakhs with Government on four per cent. interest. For forms of applications and rules of the Fund apply to the Comptroller, India Treasuries Imperial Secretariat Buildings, Calcutta.

CONTENTS.

MONTHLY WEATHER AND CROP REPORT OF BENGAL FOR OCTOBER 1916.

I. Character of the season.—During the month under review the rainfall was in excess of the normal throughout the province. The usual rainfall statement is appended.

II. Progress of agricultural operations.—By the end of the month the transplantation of winter rice was over and weeding was proceeding briskly. Harvesting of jute and other bhadoi crops was approaching completion. The preparation of lands for and sowings of rabi crops continued.

III. State of standing crops.—The condition of standing crops was generally satisfactory except in places in the flood-affected areas of Murshidabad, Burdwan, Birbhum, Midnapore, Howrah, Dacca, Bakarganj, Chittagong, Tippera and Noakhali.

IV. Prospects and probable outturn.—The prospects of winter rice were reported to be, on the whole, good except in the flood-affected parts of the province, and a fairly good outturn is anticipated.

V. Damage to standing crops.—Damage to standing crops by excessive rainfall and floods was reported from most places in the Presidency, Burdwan, Dacca and Chittagong Divisions during the first three weeks of the month. The damage in Burdwan and Birbhum is reported to have been severe owing to sand deposits over considerable areas. In Noakhali about 60 per cent. of the aman paddy in the Feni subdivision is said to have been destroyed. Slight damage by insects was also reported from the 24-Parganas and Khulna during the last two weeks of the month.

VI. Condition of agricultural stocks.—Agricultural stocks are reported to be in fair condition. Cattle-disease was reported from parts of Murshidabad, Jessore, Midnapore, Birbhum, Jalpaiguri, Darjeeling, Cooch Behar, Mymensingh and the Chittagong Hill Tracts. Cattle were reported to be dying from exposure in certain flooded villages in one thana in Burdwan in the middle of the month.

VII. Failure of pasturage and fodder.—Fodder scarcity was reported from Jessore throughout the month. Some insufficiency of fodder was also reported from Burdwan during the first part and from Dinajpur and Tippera during the latter part of the month.

VIII. Prices of food grains.—During the second fortnight of the month under review the price of common rice rose in four districts, fell in ten, and remained stationary in the remainder, varying from 6 seers 14 chitaks in Tippera to 9 seers 8 chitaks in Malda.

IX. Condition of the agricultural people.—The condition of the agricultural population throughout the province was fair except in the flood-affected tracts of Burdwan and Birbhum, where measures in the shape of gratuitous relief and agricultural loans had to be taken.

DARJEELING, the 8th November 1916.

DISTRICT REPORTS ON WEATHER AND CROPS

For the week ending on the 13th November 1916.

Summary.—During the latter part of the week there was heavy rainfall accompanied by wind storms in most districts of the Burdwan Division. Elsewhere the fall was light to moderate. Considerable damage has been done to the standing crops where the fall was heavy. Sowing of potatoes and pulses was also retarded. Sowings of spring crops and harvesting of early winter rice continue in the Eastern Bengal districts. Fodder is reported to be scarce in parts of Jessore, Khulna, Dinajpur and Tippera. Cattle-disease is reported from four districts only. The average price of common rice has fallen slightly from that of the preceding week.

RESOLUTION ON STEGOMYIA ENQUIRY IN THE PORT OF CALCUTTA.

MUNICIPAL DEPARTMENT.

SANITATION.

CALCUTTA, THE 21ST NOVEMBER 1916.

RESOLUTION—No. 703San.

THE question of the measures to be taken to prevent the introduction of yellow fever into the Port of Calcutta through the medium of the stegomyia mosquito in consequence of the opening of the Panama Canal has recently been under the consideration of Government. The Government of Bengal are advised that an essential preliminary to any scheme of anti-stegomyia work is to secure effective sanitary organization in the Port area. At present there are a number of independent authorities having sanitary jurisdiction in the Port area, whereas it appears desirable that measures for the reduction of the stegomyia mosquito should be under the supervision of one controlling authority. It also appears that the legal powers of these bodies in respect of sanitation are insufficient for the measures required for an anti-stegomyia campaign.

In these circumstances the Governor in Council has decided, on the recommendation of the Sanitary Commissioner, to convene a conference representing the different bodies concerned to consider the measures necessary to establish homogeneous sanitary control throughout the Port area, with special reference to the action which should be taken to ensure the security of the Port from yellow fever. The conference will be constituted as follows :—

Mr. C. J. Stevenson-Moore, C.V.O., I.C.S.	Chairman.
The Surgeon-General with the Government of Bengal ...	Members.
The Vice-Chairman, Port Commissioners ...
The Chairman or a representative of the Calcutta Corporation.
The Chairman or a representative of the Howrah Municipality.
The Chairman or a representative of the Cossipore-Chitpur Municipality.
The Chairman or a representative of the Garden Reach Municipality.
The Chairman or a representative of the Budge-Budge Municipality.
The Health Officer of the Calcutta Corporation ...
The Port Health Officer
The Sanitary Commissioner, Bengal	Secretary.

DECLARATION.

No. 4905Com.—The 15th November 1916.—Whereas certain land was acquired by the Bengal Government, under the provisions of Act I of 1894 and Act XVIII of 1885, for a public purpose, viz., for such portion of the Jatimatook siding of the East Indian Railway which takes off the main line at mile 124 feet 2,630 as lies between chain 2·84 and chain 40·00 and as is edged with pink on the plan L. A. M. A. No. 316 and whereas coal mines are situate under the said land, and whereas Kumar Promothanath Malia has given notice to the Government of Bengal, in accordance with the provisions of Act XVIII of 1885, that the said Company intend to work the seam known as the Jamehari seam, and whereas the mines have been inspected by the officer appointed by the Bengal Government for the purpose under section 5 (1) of Act XVIII of 1885, and whereas it appears to the Bengal Government that the working out of the coal of the mines underlying the said land is likely to cause damage to the surface of the said land and to the works constructed thereon, and whereas the said Kumar Promothanath Malia has agreed not to work and get minerals underlying the land acquired for his siding, or underlying the land acquired for the branch or other lines with which the siding is connected or underlying the land of the branch or branches connecting the said siding with the main line, in such a manner as to injure or to endanger the safety of the undertaking or any part thereof, nor to claim any compensation for any restricted working:

Burdwan.

Now, therefore, the Governor in Council is pleased to declare, under section 5, sub-section (2), clause (b) of the abovementioned Act, XVIII of 1885, that the working shall be carried on by the said Kumar Promothanath Malia in the manner and subject to the restrictions below specified, viz. :—

(a) No gallery shall be driven and no coal shall be extracted where the distance from the natural surface of the ground to the top of the gallery, if driven, is under 50 feet.

(b) Where the distance between the natural surface and the top of the gallery, if driven, is 50 feet or more, galleries, not more than 12 feet wide by 12 feet high, leaving not less than 3 feet of roof coal may be driven at distances apart not less than 52 feet, centre to centre, forming pillars not less than 40 feet square, to be left unworked for the support of the acquired land.

(c) Manholes not exceeding 6 feet in height by 3 feet in width by 4 feet in depth may be made where required by any rule made under the Indian Mines Act, 1901.

(d) Any inrush of water, quicksand or soft material shall be reported to the Chief Inspector of Mines in India without delay.

(e) These restrictions apply to the Jamehari seam only and to the area edged with pink upon the plan, and Kumar Promothanath Malia shall give notice under section IV of the Land Acquisition (Mines) Act, 1885, of his intention to work any other seam under this area or to work coal under any other area of acquired land, and that in all the above cases no further excavation shall be made in any of the galleries which already have been driven, the actual heights and widths of which have been carefully recorded on the plan marked L. A. M. A. No. 316 signed by the Chief Inspector of Mines.

The plan referred to may be seen in the office of the Chief Inspector of Mines in India by the parties concerned.

NOTICE.

DEPARTMENT OF MINES IN INDIA, DHANBAD P. O., MANBHUM.

Indian Mines Act, 1901.

AN examination for first and second class Coal Mine Managers' Certificates of Competency under the rules applicable to coal mines will be held at the Railway Institute, Dhanbad, on the 21st, 22nd and 23rd February 1917.

Rules 32 and 33 of the Indian Mines Act, 1901, require that a candidate for a first class certificate must be at least 23 years of age and have had at least five years' practical experience in a coal mine, and for a second class certificate be at least 21 years of age and have had at least three years' practical experience in a coal mine. The periods of practical experience may be reduced to three years and one year, respectively, in the case of a candidate who has received a diploma in scientific and mining subjects after a course of study of at least two years at an educational institution approved in this behalf by the Governor-General in Council, or who has taken a degree in scientific and mining subjects at a University approved in this behalf by the Governor-General in Council.

The fees are Rs. 15 in the case of first class certificates and Rs. 8 in the case of second class certificates. By rule 34 of Government of India (Department of Commerce and Industry) Notification No. 2968—82, dated the 21st April 1906, "these fees shall be paid, not less than one month prior to the date of the examination, to the Chief Inspector of Mines at his office." The fees may be remitted by money-order or paid in any other manner.

Applications and fees should be addressed to the Chief Inspector of Mines in India, Dhanbad, East Indian Railway, and not to any officer by name. No candidate will be permitted to sit at the examination unless his application and fee is received on or before the 21st January 1917.

THE CALCUTTA IMPROVEMENT TRUST.

NOTICE UNDER SECTION 63 (2) OF BENGAL ACT V OF 1911.

Plan of proposed Public Street No. XXII (Kumartuli Ghat to Central Avenue).

NOTICE is hereby given under section 63 (2) of Bengal Act V of 1911, as amended by Bengal Act III of 1915, that the Board of Trustees for the Improvement of Calcutta has prepared a plan of a proposed Public Street in Wards Nos. I and II, running eastwards from Strand Road, North, through Joy Mitra Ghat Lane, Nepal Chandra Neogi Street, Narayan Chandra Sur Street, along Neogi Lane, through Ganga Prasad Lane, Ram Sundar Kundu Street, Chitpur Road, Upper, along Raja Sir Radha Kanta Deb 1st Lane, through Raja Sir Radha Kanta Deb Lane, and terminating at the proposed Public Street No. IX (a portion of Central Avenue running between Shambazar Street to Gallif Street).

The plan provides for a road 60 feet wide throughout and for the widening of the junctions of several smaller streets through which the proposed Public Street will pass.

The proposed Public Street will pass through the following municipal holdings :—

Name of Street.		Number of municipal holdings.
Joy Mitra's Ghat Lane	...	1, 2, 2-1, 6, 7.
Nepal Chandra Neogi Street	...	2A, 3A.
Kebal Krishna Sur Street	...	6A.
Narayan Chandra Sur Street	...	2A.
Kumartuli Street	...	23B, 24A.
Banamali Sarker Street	...	1.
Chitpur Road, Upper	...	161, 260, 261, 262.
Gokul Mitra Lane	...	7-1, 8-5, 8-6, 8-7, 8-9, 9-1, 10, 10-1, 10-2, 11.
Hem Chandra Kar Lane	...	1, 1-1, 1-2, 1-2-1, 1-2-2, 1-2-3, 1-4, 2, 3, 4-2, 4-3, 4-4, 4-5.
Raja Rajballabh Street	...	18-4, 18-5.
Sitakanta Banerji Lane	...	2-1-1.
Khetra Dhol Lane	...	5.
Gobardhan Das Lane	...	7.

The plan of the proposed Public Street and the particulars of the lands through which the proposed Public Street will pass may be inspected at the Offices of the Trust, 5, Clive Street, on week-days between the hours of 11 and 4, Saturdays 11 and 2.

Copies of this notice may be obtained on payment of a fee of two annas per copy, and of the plan at a fee of eight annas per sheet.

Objections to the said plan may be submitted on or before the 18th January 1917.

FIELD OPERATIONS.

No. 1378.—A despatch by Lieutenant-General Sir P. H. N. Lake, K.C.B., K.C.M.G., on the operations of Indian Expeditionary Force "D" from the 30th April to the 27th August 1916, is published for general information.

No. 168-33-O., dated 27th August 1916.

From—LIEUTENANT-GENERAL SIR P. H. N. LAKE, K.C.B., K.C.M.G., Commanding, Indian Expeditionary Force "D.",

To—The Chief of the General Staff Army Headquarters, India, Simla.

On relinquishing command of Indian Expeditionary Force "D," I have the honour to submit a short despatch, dealing with the operations of this Force since the fall of Kut on April 30th, and also describing in general terms the work carried out at the base and on the line of communications up to the present date.

1. Operations.—No operations on a large scale have been undertaken since the fall of Kut.

On the Tigris line the troops immediately facing the enemy were, with the exception of those actually on duty in the trenches, resting, recuperating and consolidating their position. Fatigues were very heavy, the heat of summer came on rapidly, and a good deal of sickness prevailed.

Nevertheless pressure on the enemy was never relaxed and every opportunity was taken to test his morale by bombardments and minor engagements whenever opportunity offered.

2. During May the pressure of the Russian advance from Persia towards Baghdad must have begun to make itself felt by the enemy, for on the 19th May General Gorringe reported his apparent withdrawal from his advanced positions at and in front of Es Sinn on the right bank, though the Sannaiyat position was still strongly held. This withdrawal was followed up, and by the evening of May 20th, General Gorringe was able to report that, except for small rearguards covering the bridges over the Hai river, the right bank of the Tigris as far as the Hai was clear of the enemy.

3. As the enemy's retention of the Sannaiyat position prevented the passage of our supply ships up the river, our troops operating on the other bank towards the Hai had to depend for food, forage, and in some cases even water, upon land transport.

Consequently General Gorringe's occupation of the positions evacuated in the enemy's retirement could only be gradual, and was largely dependent upon the construction of new roads and a reorganisation of his supply system.

These conditions have continued practically unchanged up to the present date. The abatement of the floods and the intense heat have dried up the ground, caused the marshes to recede and made movement easier. On the other hand water difficulties have increased, and drinkable water away from the river is difficult to find, the soil being usually impregnated with various salts.

The Turks still hold the Sannaiyat position, and have constructed other lines behind it, on the left bank, which they appear to hold in force.

On the right bank their outposts reach the Hai river, which is now fordable. We hold positions from which we dominate the Hai and can deny its passage ; while we could, if we pleased, bombard Kut itself.

4. One incident requires mention. On May 20th a strong Russian cavalry patrol of 3 officers and 110 other ranks arrived unexpectedly at Ali Gharbi. The patrol had started from the neighbourhood of Karind and had safely executed an adventurous march of some 200 miles, much of it through the Pusht-i-Kuh hills. The officers came to report themselves to me in person at Basrah, where, by command of His Majesty the King, I decorated them with the Military Cross, in recognition of their exploit, and of this the first meeting of British and Russian troops as allies in the field for 100 years.

The patrol left Ali Gharbi on their return journey on June 4th, and after skilfully surmounting various difficulties succeeded in reaching their main body in safety.

5. On July 11, General Gorringe was succeeded in the command of the Tigris column by General Maude who has held it up to date.

6. As regards aviation, the superiority of certain of the hostile æroplanes over any of our machines in the matter of speed, combined with a large reduction in the number of our pilots (due to sickness partly attributable to overwork), enabled the enemy in May and June to establish what was very nearly a mastery of the air.

With the arrival of more pilots from home matters improved, until in August three of our machines working together forced the best enemy machine, a Fokker, to descend, seriously damaged, in its own lines.

7. Operations on the Euphrates have been confined to raiding expeditions, carried out in order to punish attacks on our vessels, damage to the telegraph line, or attacks on tribes who are our allies. Ibn Rashid, the leading hostile desert Arab chief, was driven away southwards in July with much diminished prestige. A very successful raid undertaken against Ajaimi, the chief Arab Shaikh hostile to us on the Lower Euphrates, was carried out on August 15th. All these expeditions have been well organised by Major-General Brooking.

8. On the Karun Line the only incidents worthy of note have been attempts by pro-German Persian tribesmen, who had been co-operating with the Turks against the Russians, to escape to their own mountains where they were likely to make mischief. These attempts were frustrated by the 23rd Cavalry operating on the Kharkeh and Ab-i-Diz rivers. Lieutenant-Colonel Younghusband's arrangements were well conceived and resulted in the complete discomfiture of the tribesmen and the capture of their leaders.

9. During the hot season, now drawing to a close, the business of administration and the work of preparation for more active measures during the coming cold weather assumed relatively great importance. I make no excuse therefore for alluding at some length to the work performed.

10. The valuable co-operation of the Royal Navy under Captain W. Nunn has as usual been conspicuous during the period under review. The gunboats stationed on the Euphrates took a leading part in the successful minor operations referred to in paragraph 7 on that river and in the Hammar Lake.

I would also bring to notice the able assistance given by Mr. W. Grant, Admiralty Overseer, at Abadan in preparing river craft for service.

11. In my previous despatch I alluded to the difficulties against which the Medical Services have had to contend.

Much thought and hard work have been devoted to overcoming these difficulties and meeting the medical needs of the force. The advance made in this direction is clearly shown by the fact that the total accommodation for sick and wounded in Mesopotamia, which on January 21st (exclusive of Kut) was 4,700 beds and by May 13th had risen to 9,425, amounted on July 1st to 15,745, with 2,700 more in process of organisation.

The advent of the hot weather early in May, with a sudden rise in the temperature, increased the number of sick rapidly. The intense heat was aggravated at the front by the total absence of shade and by the failure of the "shamal" or north wind, which, usually due about the middle of June, did not commence to blow till July 19th. The admissions to hospital then at once lessened and are still decreasing. The majority of the cases are not serious.

An outbreak of cholera occurred at the Tigris front at the end of April, but was got under control in the course of a short time, since when only a small number of isolated cases are reported from time to time from various parts of the country.

I am much indebted to Surgeon-General F. H. Treherne for the valuable assistance he has consistently rendered since his arrival in the country; also to Colonel W. H. Willcox, Consulting Physician, whose high professional knowledge has always been at the service of the force. Much credit is due to the Nursing Sisters, who have carried out their duties with great devotion, and have shown untiring zeal and energy in alleviating the sufferings of those who have passed through their hands.

By the untimely death of Colonel Sir V. Horsley, both the force and the medical profession sustained a severe loss.

12. In the Supply and Transport Corps much sickness followed by invaliding occurred, specially among the senior officers. As a result the duties of the corps fell heavily on those who remained, while the service of supply was much hampered by a shortage of river transport on a rapidly falling river. That the supply of food, clothing, etc., has nevertheless been maintained without serious deficiencies reflects credit upon the work of the crop.

13. During the flood season, from April to June, nine-tenths of the country round Basrah is under water, and in normal years a continuous belt of flood, from 6 to 9 miles wide and from 1 to 4 feet deep, separates the Basrah tract from the higher lying desert country to the south-west.

This flood water in 1915 forced its way into and inundated the Makina Masus Camp area. This year, in order to meet the needs of the constant stream of troops and stores pouring into Basrah, it was imperative to safeguard from floods the ground space required for camps, hutting, store depots and additional hospital accommodation. This was done by constructing, first, a main protective embankment or "bund" from the Tigris at Magil to the higher ground at Shaiba. This "bund" was 11 to 12 miles long, and completely shut off the belt of flood water above referred to.

It was supplemented by a second bund, which branched off from it about 2 miles from the river and was carried to the neighbourhood of the Zubair Gate of Basrah, some 3 miles. A series of smaller subsidiary bunds was constructed along the river front and the intermediate creeks. The whole system, covering a total length of some 20 miles, safeguards an area of some 48 square miles in all and of 1½ square miles at Magil and Makina Masus, which has been adopted as the main camp for troops in and near Basrah. Wharves have been constructed and ocean-going steamers are now able to come alongside and unload.

A large amount of hutting for hospitals and troops has been erected, providing accommodation for 8,700 sick and 15,000 troops ; water supplies for the troops have been installed at Basrah and Amarah, and many important miscellaneous works have been carried out.

The amount of valuable work brought to completion reflects credit on Major-General J. C. Remington, Chief Engineer, Colonel E. R. B. Stokes-Roberts, Director of Works, and those serving under them.

14. Two railways are now in course of construction. Lieutenant-Colonel J. H. White and his assistants are pushing on both lines with much zeal and energy in spite of considerable difficulties in the transport of materials.

15. A new powerful wireless station has been installed. Work was commenced on the 10th February 1916 and completed on the 25th August 1916. The rapid erection of this station is due to the energetic co-operation of the Director-General, Posts and Telegraphs, India, to Mr. E. L. Bagshawe, Director of Telegraphs, Force " D," and especially to the ability and energy of Mr. J. G. P. Cameron, Assistant Superintendent of Telegraphs, the Engineer in charge of the construction work.

16. The Veterinary Services under Lieutenant-Colonel W. S. Anthony have done much to maintain the animals of the force in good condition in spite of hard work and unavoidable short commons in certain cases.

17. The administration of the Remount Services, the care and training of the horses reflects credit upon Captain J. F. H. Anderson, Army Remount Department.

18. I am anxious to place on record my deep sense of the good effect produced throughout this Force by the Army Chaplains of all denominations, whose devotion to duty and contempt of danger while performing it deserve the highest commendation.

19. Like other Departments, the Royal Indian Marine has suffered severely from sickness and invaliding, especially among its superior officers. The rapid growth of its duties may be gathered from the fact that whereas in January 1916 there were 19 permanent and 21 temporary officers and 525 other ranks employed, by July the number had risen to 40 permanent and 163 temporary officers and 3,981 other ranks besides native labourers. The necessity for assimilating this large influx of newly appointed officers and men threw a heavy strain on the permanent cadres, who were also faced with many unforeseen demands. That under these conditions its duties have been carried out with a considerable measure of success is distinctly creditable to the service.

20. The thanks of the whole force in Mesopotamia are specially due to the Order of St. John of Jerusalem, the British Red Cross Society, including its Indian branch, and the Young Men's Christian Association.

The two former through their representative, Lieutenant-Colonel J. Gould, have devoted their resources to supplementing the medical appliances and comforts provided by the state for the care of the sick and wounded. All officers and men who have passed through the hospitals at any time would desire to express their gratitude to these Societies.

The Young Men's Christian Association, on the other hand, through its able officials, among whom I would specially mention Mr. L. A. Dickson, Revd. B. H. McLain, Revd. T. S. Riddle, and Mrs. Webley, has contributed most materially to the well-being, physical and moral, of the troops in general outside the hospitals in a manner deserving of the highest admiration.

21. The appointment of Sir G. C. Buchanan to the Force as Director-General of Port Administration and River Conservancy has been of undoubted value. Owing to the difficulty experienced in obtaining certain stores and equipment from India and Burma, and to sickness among the supervising staff, the work of developing the Port of Basrah, and of dredging and improving the water communications generally, was at first delayed. It is now, however, well in hand and the results already achieved are sufficient to show that the projected measures will have far-reaching effect on the business of the port and our all-important river communications. Sir G. Buchanan especially desires to mention the assistance he has received from Lieutenant J. G. Grant, R.E.

22. My thanks are due to Captain the Honourable Malik Sir Umar Hayat Khan for many valuable services rendered in connection with the Army of Occupation: also to 2nd-Lieutenant E. Ezra, I. A. R. O., attached General Headquarters, who held his fast motor launch at all times at my disposal.

23. The able services of Lieutenant-Colonel Sir P. Z. Cox and the officers of the Political Department, to which I referred in my previous despatch, have continued to be of high value to the state during the period under review

24. The administration of the lines of communication has throughout been extremely arduous and difficult; to Major-General G. F. McMunn, Inspector-General of Communications, and his staff, I am greatly indebted for the manner in which they have handled the many intricate problems of supply and demand with which they have been constantly confronted. The administration of the base depôts under Lieutenant-Colonel d'A. C. Brownlow, Base Commandant, has been carried out in a highly satisfactory manner.

25. In conclusion I desire to bring again to your notice the able and devoted assistance that I have at all times received from the general and administrative staffs at General Headquarters and from my personal staff, to all of whom I am deeply indebted. In this connection I would especially mention Major-General M. Cowper and Major-General A. W. Money, heads respectively of the administrative and general staffs, Brigadier-General O. B. S. F. Shore, Sub-Chief (now officiating as Chief) of the general staff, Lieutenant-Colonels W. H. Beach and H. R. Hopwood of the general staff and Captain L. G. Williams, Assistant Military Secretary. The work of all these officers has been of high value to the state.

The clerical establishment have one and all shown untiring zeal and energy in the performance of their arduous and responsible duties.

26. I have, in my previous despatch, submitted a list of officers and men whose services were deserving of reward. That despatch covered a period of active operations and the bulk of the names were those of officers and men who had distinguished themselves actively at the front.

I now submit a list composed chiefly of those officers and others who deserve commendation and reward for services, less interesting, but equally essential to the well-being of this force, rendered in connection with its administration.

PLEADERS' SURVEY CLASSES, 1917.

1. Classes for the training of Pleaders in Surveying will be opened in January and February 1917 in connection with the Civil Engineering College, Sibpur, the Bihar School of Engineering, Bankipur, the Dacca School of Engineering and the Survey School at Cuttack, provided sufficient candidates register their names at each centre.

2. The course will last for six weeks and will consist of practical work combined with class instruction. The routine and hours of attendance will be settled by the heads of the institutions, who will also decide the exact locality in which the classes will be held and the date of the opening.

3. Pleaders must make their own arrangements for attending this course. No tents or other residential accommodation will be provided.

4. Credit for attendance at these classes will not be given unless the pleader has been present for 80 per cent. of the working days and for the full working hours of each day.

5. Any candidate who desires to undergo the course of training must apply to the Principal, Civil Engineering College, Sibpur, not later than 30th November. His application must be endorsed by the District Judge. It should state the centre which the candidate wishes to join, i.e., Sibpur, Bankipur, Cuttack or Dacca, and should be accompanied by a remittance receipt from the local treasury certifying that the fee of Rs. 100 has been paid into the treasury to the credit of the Engineering College.

6. The Secretary will allot candidates to the centres, consulting their wishes as far as possible, giving not more than 34 and not less than 8 to a centre. He will then inform the heads of the institutions of the names and addresses of the candidates registered at their centre and they will inform the candidates as to the locality and the date of opening.

7. The following is the syllabus of instruction. No definite text-books are prescribed :—

(a) Practical work—

Chain surveying, Prismatic compass surveying, plane tabling and levelling.

(b) Class work—

Use of mathematical instruments.	Variation of compass.
Construction of scales ...	Preparation of field books from maps.
Mensuration of areas ...	Elementary principle of levelling.
Plotting	Plotting of level sections.

Candidates who obtain the required percentage of attendance at this course of instruction are qualified to appear at the Practical Examination held in 1918, 1919 and 1920.

THE INDIAN LAW REPORTS.

CALCUTTA, MADRAS BOMBAY AND ALLAHABAD.

THE Indian Law Reports, published under the authority of the Governor-General in Council are printed in monthly Parts, which are issued, as soon as possible after the first of each month, at Calcutta, Madras, Bombay and Allahabad, respectively.

The Reports comprise four Series—one for the Calcutta High Court, a second for the Madras High Court, a third for the Bombay High Court, and a fourth for the Allahabad High Court.

The cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from each High Court are reported in the Series for that High Court. Cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from Provinces in India not subject to any High Court are reported in the Calcutta series.

The Calcutta Series is distributed by the Bengal Secretariat Book Depôt: and the Madras, Bombay and Allahabad Series are distributed direct from Madras, Bombay and Allahabad, respectively.

Persons desiring to subscribe for or purchase the Reports should apply to—the Officer in charge Bengal Secretariat Book Depôt, Calcutta, or

the Superintendent, Government Press, Madras, or the Superintendent, Government Central Press, Bombay, or
the Curator of Government Books, United Provinces of Agra and Oudh, Allahabad.

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORTS ON INLAND EMIGRATION UNDER THE ASSAM LABOUR AND EMIGRATION ACT, 1901 (VI OF 1901), FOR THE YEAR ENDING THE 30TH JUNE 1916.

FINANCIAL DEPARTMENT.

EMIGRATION.

CALCUTTA, THE 15TH NOVEMBER 1916.

RESOLUTION No. 4887Emign.

READ—

The Reports on Inland Emigration under the Assam Labour and Emigration Act, 1901 (VI of 1901), for the year ending the 30th June 1916, submitted by the Superintendent of Emigration, Calcutta, and the District and Assistant Superintendents of Emigration.

IN the Resolution recorded on the reports of the year 1914-15 reference was made to the several administrative changes introduced at the beginning of the year under review, the most important of which were the abolition of penal labour contracts and the discontinuance of the system of recruitment by contractors. While seeking to purify the recruitment of labour for Assam by these measures, Government have also done much to encourage and facilitate bonâ fide recruiting operations by garden sardars. Concessions previously allowed only to a few approved associations have now been extended to individual employers who appoint duly licensed local agents to supervise the work of their sardars in the recruiting districts. Instructions have also been issued to local officers to see that the legitimate operations of garden sardars are not unduly interfered with, and that the unnecessary detention of emigrants in transit to the labour districts is avoided as far as possible. In view of the general rise in the price of food-grains, the diet money of repatriated emigrants and their escorts, prescribed in the rules relating to the repatriation of emigrants, has been raised from annas 2 to annas 4 per diem.

2. Recruiting operations were conducted, as in the previous year, by garden sardars in the districts of Burdwan, Bankura, Birbhum, Midnapore, and the 24-Parganas, where 10,876 emigrants were recruited during the year as against 2,011 in the year 1914-15. Of these, 10,579 were engaged by sardars working under the control of local agents, and the remaining 297 by independent garden sardars working under the ordinary procedure of Chapter IV of the Act. The districts of Bankura, Midnapore and Burdwan supplied the largest numbers, viz., 5,940, 3,412, and 1,098, respectively.

3. Seven local agents' licences were granted during the year as compared with 9 granted in the year 1914-15. The work of these agents was generally satisfactory. Two thousand nine hundred and seventy-one garden sardars (including 603 sardarnis) were employed in this Presidency during the year under report, as against 786 garden sardars (including 172 sardarnis) in the previous year. Of these, 23 only worked independently, while the remainder were under the supervision of local agents.

4. The Magistrate of the 24-Parganas reports that ex-contractors were found to be supplying emigrants to independent sardars working in his district. The certificate of one sardar was cancelled on this account. Other sardars were called on to show cause why their certificates should not be cancelled, but it was found that they had returned to the gardens and had discontinued recruiting. These steps seem to have stopped the practice for the time, but vigilance will still be necessary to prevent its recurrence. The number of criminal cases instituted in this Presidency in connection with recruiting operations decreased during the year to 9 from 24 in the preceding year, the number of persons convicted being 10 as against 22 in the year 1914-15.

5. The number of emigrants of all classes recruited in Madras, the United Provinces, the Central Provinces, Bengal, Bihar and Orissa, who embarked at Goalundo during the year under review, was 94,057 as compared with 60,215 in the preceding year. The nearest approach to this number—which is the highest on record—occurred in the year 1907-08, when 81,587 emigrants were despatched. This great increase may be explained partly by high prices due to the war, partly by scarcity in some of the recruiting districts, and partly by the abolition of the labour contract.

6. The places of accommodation and rest-houses for emigrants were properly inspected and maintained in good sanitary condition. The sanitary arrangements on steamers which conveyed emigrants to the labour districts were in accordance with the rules and were generally adequate. Proposals for more up-to-date medical arrangements on those steamers are now under the consideration of Government. Among the 93,415 sardari emigrants who arrived at Goalundo, 42 deaths were reported during their transit to that place and 10 deaths after their arrival there; of the remainder, 69,766 embarked for the Assam Valley districts, and 23,503 for Cachar and Sylhet. During the voyage to the labour districts in the Brahmaputra Valley there were 90 deaths, while there were 2 deaths during the steamer journey to Chandpur.

7. Thirty-two emigrants were repatriated through Goalundo from the labour districts, and 89 who refused to embark at that station and 4 who were rejected as physically unfit to labour in a tea estate were also repatriated.

8. There was a falling off both in receipts and expenditure in connection with the transport of labour to Assam, the figures being Rs. 2,805 and Rs 23,519 as against Rs. 4,765 and Rs. 29,425 in the year 1914-15.

9. The thanks of the Governor in Council are due to the local officers and to Dr. Banks for their assistance in the administration of the Act.

By order of the Governor in Council,

J. DONALD,

Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

REPORT ON FAMINE IN BANKURA DISTRICT FOR THE WEEK ENDING THE 11TH NOVEMBER 1916.

IN Bankura District the state of affairs in affected areas has improved. Prospects of standing crops are good. The harvesting of aman paddy continues. Prices are falling. The price of rice is 10 seers per rupee. The number of persons on relief-works was 788. All relief-works have been closed since 6th November.

L. BIRLEY,

Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

CALCUTTA, the 15th November 1916.

DISTRICT REPORTS ON WEATHER AND CROPS

For the week ending on the 20th November 1916.

Summary.—The week under review was almost rainless. A few light scattered showers fell in Mymensingh district. Sowing of rabi crops is progressing satisfactorily Harvesting of early winter rice has commenced in places, and that of jute is nearing completion. The prospects of winter rice and other standing crops are reported to be generally satisfactory. Fodder is scarce in parts of Jessore, Faridpur and Tippera. Cattle-disease prevails in five districts. The average price of common rice has fallen by about 1·6 per cent. as compared with that of the previous week.

No. 114Marine.—In exercise of the powers conferred by section 10, sub-section (2), clauses (f) and (k), of the Bengal Smoke Nuisances Act, 1905 (Bengal Act III of 1905), the Governor in Council is pleased to make the following amendments in the rules published under Notification No. 73-Marine, dated the 27th August 1907, at page 153 of Part I of the Calcutta Gazette of the 28th idem, namely:—

1. For rule 25 substitute the following:—

Furnaces of ocean-going steamers.

"25. The furnaces of the main boilers of ocean-going steamers when raising steam prior to leaving port or to moving from one part to another thereof shall be allowed, for half-an-hour before moving and for one hour after moving, thrice the times prescribed in the table in rule 23. Tugs while actually towing or assisting in the transportation of ocean-going steamers within the limits of the port shall also be allowed thrice the times prescribed in the said table."

2. After rule 29 add the following new rule:—

Construction of furnace, flue or chimney.

"30. (1) Every person who intends to construct, reconstruct or alter or add to a furnace, flue or chimney must make an application at the office of the Commission with plans of the furnace, flue or chimney for the approval of the Commission.

(2) Every such application must be accompanied by two copies of the plans of the furnace, flue or chimney, one of which shall be retained in the office of the Commission.

(3) Full particulars as to the dimensions and material of the furnace, flue or chimney must be shown on the plans submitted, and the plans must be adhered to after approval.

(4) The areas of flues and chimneys must not be less than as follows:—

Back and only flue	45	per cent. of the total grate area.
Bottom flue	40
Side flues	33
Delivery flue to main	33
Main flue connected to grate having an area of less than 150 square feet	30
Main flue connected to grate having an area of 150 square feet or more	25
Chimney connected to grate having an area of less than 150 square feet	25
Chimney connected to grate having an area of 150 square feet or more	20

Provided that, in the case of boilers of the marine, locomotive, vertical and other similar type, the flues and chimneys must not be of less area than the corresponding smoke outlets of the smoke-box or uptake forming an integral part of the structure.

(5) The flues and chimneys must be air-tight and of substantial design and material, and must be fitted with air-tight dampers of the same area as the flue passages arranged to control each set of furnaces separately.

(6) All flues must be of easy lead to the chimneys with corners well-rounded, and have a minimum width of 11 inches.

(7) The height of fire grate from stoking platform must not be more than 3 feet and 6 inches.

(8) Furnace doors must be substantial and a good fit, and have an air-regulating apparatus.

(9) Chimneys must be of the required height and of substantial construction and, where made of iron or steel, must not be less than one-eighth of an inch thick.

(10) Nothing contained in this rule shall apply to any steam-vessel, railway or road locomotive, or to any existing furnace, flue or chimney, except when the owner proposes to make an alteration in, or addition to, any such furnace, flue or chimney."

(Revised draft rules.)

DRAFT NOTIFICATION.

The 27th November 1916.

No. 115Marine.—In exercise of the powers conferred by section 6, sub-section (1), clause (p), of the Indian Ports Act, 1908 (XV of 1908), as amended by the Indian Ports (Amendment) Act, 1911 (IV of 1911), and in supersession of so much of all existing rules on the subject as relate to dangerous, infectious or contagious diseases and the disposal of dead bodies on vessels, the Governor in Council proposes to make the following regulations in respect of the following diseases: (1) Small-pox, (2) Chicken-pox, (3) Measles, (4) Plague, (5) Cholera, (6) Yellow Fever, (7) Sleeping Sickness, (8) Typhus, (9) Scarlet Fever and (10) Jigger, occurring on vessels coming to or leaving ports in the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal or for the time being in port therein, and in respect of any death on a vessel not carrying a medical officer coming to or leaving any port within the said area or for the time being in any port therein.

In the draft rules the changes which it is proposed to make have been printed in thick lead type, the matter which it is proposed to omit, being scored out.

The draft rules will be taken into consideration on or after the 29th December 1916, and any objections or suggestions with regard thereto, which are received by the undersigned before that date, will be duly considered.

F. A. A. COWLEY,
Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

PART I.—DEFINITIONS.

1. In these regulations—

(1) "Health Officer" means any person appointed by Government, either by name or by virtue of his office, to be Health Officer of a port, and includes an Additional or Assistant Port Health Officer and, any officer appointed by Government, either by name or by virtue of his office, to perform any of the duties of a Health Officer of a port;

(2) (a) Except as provided in clause 1 (3) "healthy vessel" means a vessel which, even though coming from an infected port, has not had on board any death from, or any person suffering from, any of the diseases enumerated in the preamble either at the time of departure, or during the voyage from the last port of call, or on arrival;

(b) "infected vessel" means a vessel which has on board one or more cases of any of the diseases enumerated in the preamble, or on board of which a case of any of those diseases has occurred either during the voyage from the last port of call or in the event of such voyage exceeding 12 days, within the 12 days or (in the case of plague and cholera seven days) immediately preceding her arrival at a port in British India;

(c) "suspected vessel" means a vessel on board of which there has been a case of any of the diseases enumerated in the preamble, at the time of departure or during the voyage from the last port of call, but on board of which no fresh case of such disease has occurred within the twelve days or (in the case of plague and cholera seven days) immediately preceding her arrival;

(3) (a) Every vessel which has come from the east coast of Africa within the limits of Port Sudan and Durban or from any other locality declared to be infected with sleeping sickness or jigger is a "suspected vessel" for the purposes of these regulations, unless during the voyage there has been one or more cases or suspected cases of either of these diseases on board, when it will be considered an "infected vessel;"

(b) Every vessel which has within a period of two months immediately preceding her arrival started from, or touched en route at, a port infected with yellow fever or communicated (except orally without contact or by signal) with a vessel either infected or which has left an infected port within that period is a "suspected vessel" for the purposes of these regulations, unless within the same period there has been on board a case or suspected case of yellow fever, when it will be considered an "infected vessel;"

(4) The term "infected," when used with reference to any articles, means articles which Government may, by notification, declare to be infected with any of the diseases in question;

(5) The term "infected port" means any port which Government may, by notification, declare to be infected;

(6) "Master," when used with reference to a vessel, means any person (except a pilot or harbour master) having for the time being charge or control of the vessel;

(7) "Port Officer" includes any person acting under the authority of Government in charge of port discipline;

(8) "Medical Officer" (of a vessel) means any person holding medical charge of a vessel who is in possession of a certificate or diploma in medicine and surgery of a recognised university or medical school and registered in the country in which he obtained it.

PART II.—VESSELS ARRIVING AT PORTS IN THE PRESIDENCY OF BENGAL.

2. The master of every suspected or infected vessel arriving at any port subject to these rules shall hoist a signal which shall be—

by day the Code Flag over Flag L of the Commercial Code, which is a square flag of yellow and black borne quarterly, and by night three lights, at a height of not less than 20 feet above the hull of the ship, which shall be arranged at a distance of not less than six feet apart in the form of an equilateral triangle, and of which the light at the apex of the triangle shall be white and the lights at the ends of the base shall be red, and shall report every such case or death that may have occurred from any of the causes enumerated above, or in the case of a vessel not carrying a medical officer any death from any cause, to the pilot or other boarding officer at the earliest opportunity, and shall also comply, on arrival at such place as may be appointed in this behalf by Government, with such regulations as may be made by Government in regard to—

(i) signalling the name of the port from which the vessel has come,
(ii) stopping at a particular place,
(iii) refraining from communication with the shore, and
(iv) taking measures for giving effect to the present regulations.

3. If the vessel be at anchor within port limits when such disease first breaks out or such death occurs, the master shall hoist the signals specified in Regulation 2.

4. The pilot or other boarding officer shall promptly report the circumstances of the case to the Port Officer, who shall immediately forward any report so made or give notice of any signal hoisted to the Port Health Officer.

5. (1) When any healthy vessel except as otherwise provided in clause (3) is within sight of a port in British India, the master shall intimate the fact by signal.

(2) Such intimation shall ordinarily be accepted by the Port Officer; and if so accepted, the Health Officer need not visit the vessel, which may be considered to have pratique.

(3) The master of a healthy vessel on which unusual mortality among rats has been observed shall hoist the signals specified in Regulation 2.

PART III.—BERTHING OF VESSELS.

6. (a) If the number of deaths from or cases of the diseases enumerated in the preamble, with the exception of plague and yellow fever, does not exceed two, the vessel will not be prohibited from taking up the usual place of anchorage in the harbour or port, except that she may not enter the docks without the written permission of the Health Officer, and the passengers and crew not suspected of having any of the diseases in question need not, except in the case of pilgrim and emigrant ships and those not carrying a medical officer, be detained on board pending the inspection of the Health Officer. The master of the vessel shall be responsible that no one of the passengers or crew, except those referred to above, is allowed to leave the vessel before inspection by the Health Officer, and shall prevent the landing of infected bedding, clothes, or other personal effects which he has reasonable cause to consider likely to be infected.

(b) If the number of cases or deaths within the previous twelve days has exceeded two, or when from their occurrence on pilgrim or emigrant ships or for other special reasons further precautions may be deemed advisable, the pilot, or in his absence the master, shall keep hoisted by day or night, as the case may be, the signals prescribed by Regulation 2 and shall anchor the vessel in the place appointed for the purpose and shall not allow any of the passengers or crew to leave the vessel except with the permission of, or under such instructions as may be issued by, the Health Officer.

7. If a case of yellow fever or of plague or unusual mortality among rats has occurred on board, the vessel shall not take up the usual place of anchorage pending the visit of the Health Officer; in the meanwhile the vessel shall stop at such place as Government may by order provide.

8. So long as the signals prescribed by Regulation 2 are shown, no tindal or other person in charge of or navigating any boat shall, without the permission of the Health Officer, attempt to take it alongside such vessel.

PART IV.—INSPECTION OF VESSELS.

9. Whenever the Health Officer receives the notice referred to in Regulation 4, he shall without unnecessary delay proceed on board and examine the vessel, and the master shall give him every facility for the examination of the passengers, crew, personal effects, cargo, and any part of the ship the Health Officer thinks necessary. The Health Officer may require a declaration on oath from the medical officer (if any) of the vessel or from the master or from both, whether any death or sickness from an unknown or suspicious cause or any case of any of the diseases enumerated in the preamble has occurred on board the vessel either during the voyage or before her departure, and with reference to plague, whether any unusual mortality has been observed among rats. If the Health Officer is satisfied that such deaths as may have occurred were not due to any of the causes enumerated in the preamble, he shall permit the vessel to proceed to the usual place of anchorage and to discharge passengers and cargo without any further restrictions. If he is not so satisfied he shall proceed as provided in these regulations. The inspection by the Health Officer will ordinarily take place between sunrise and sunset.

10. As a result of every inspection the Health Officer shall classify the vessel as infected, suspected or healthy, in accordance with the definitions given in Part I.

11. On the completion of the inspection prescribed by Regulation 9, such of the passengers and crew as have been detained under Regulation 6(a) but who are found to be free from any of the diseases in question and unlikely to carry infection shall be allowed to land. All baggage, personal effects and cargo, except such articles as the Health Officer is entitled to disinfect, may also be landed.

12. If a case of any of the diseases enumerated in the preamble occurs on any vessel after she has entered dock or has been moored at a wharf, the master shall forthwith cause information thereof to be given to the dock master or superintendent of the wharf, who shall communicate the information to the Health Officer (through the Port Officer) and to the Superintendent of Police, and shall be responsible that the sick person shall be isolated as much as possible, and that free communication with the wharf is stopped until the Health Officer has inspected the vessel.

PART V.—REMOVAL OF THE SICK.

13. When on inspection the Health Officer considers it necessary in order to prevent the spread of disease, he shall take the measures indicated in Part VI of these regulations as the case may be.

14. Unless a vessel shall have had communication with the shore under the proviso to Regulation 44, and except as provided for under Regulation 19 (2) and 34, the removal of sick passengers is not to be enforced in the case of persons bound for an onward port unless under the clearest necessity of which the Health Officer shall be the judge, and in every such case a special report explaining the reasons for the action taken must be submitted by the Health Officer to Government.

15. The Health Officer shall inform the Municipal Health Officer in all cases in which he arranges for the conveyance of a patient to a sanitarium or hospital or other place within municipal limits, and shall furnish the Municipal Health Officer with the address of any private residence to which he permits the removal of a patient.

16. Where small-pox is the disease on account of which the vessel is deemed to be infected, the Health Officer shall offer, without charge, vaccination or revaccination to all persons willing to be operated upon, and shall cause to be vaccinated, if their guardians or those in charge of them consent, all children below 10 years and over 6 months of age who do not bear marks of vaccination or of small-pox. In the case of plague inoculation may similarly be offered free of charge to all willing to be inoculated.

PART VI.—MEASURES TO BE TAKEN IN THE CASE OF HEALTHY, INFECTED AND SUSPECTED VESSELS.

17. Vessels classed by the Health Officer after inspection as healthy, shall be given free pratique, save as otherwise provided in rules 23 and 24. Other vessels will be dealt with in accordance with rules contained in Parts VI (A), VI (B), VI (C), VI (D), or VI (E), according to the disease on account of which they are declared suspected or infected.

PART VI-A.—SMALL-POX, CHICKEN-POX, MEASLES, CHOLERA, TYPHUS AND SCARLET FEVER.

18. In the event of a vessel being classed either as infected or suspected on account of any of the above mentioned diseases, the Health Officer—

(1) shall arrange for the conveyance of any person suffering or suspected to be suffering from such disease to a sanitarium or hospital unless the sick person or his friends can make adequate provision elsewhere of which the Health Officer must satisfy himself; but he shall not enforce the removal from the vessel of any person or persons bound for an onward port except as provided for in Regulation 14:

(2) shall either himself undertake, or direct the master of the vessel to undertake, the destruction or disinfection of all clothing, bedding, and other articles that he may consider infected;

(3) may, when a vessel with one or more of the above-mentioned diseases on board has in his opinion passengers or crew in a filthy and unwholesome condition, cause the clothing and personal effects of such persons to be disinfected before allowing them to leave the vessel;

(4) may, in the case of undecked craft, direct the disinfection, or in special cases the destruction, of food-stuffs which have been exposed to contamination and are considered likely to be infected

(5) may order that any portion of the vessel that has actually been exposed to contamination or is in a filthy or insanitary condition, or which he considers likely to be infected, should be disinfected and cleansed as he may direct and may prohibit the discharge of bilge-water or water ballast within port limits without previous disinfection;

(6) may, in the case of cholera, direct the master to have the bilges and water tanks emptied, cleaned and disinfected.

PART VI-B.—PLAGUE.

19. In the case of infected vessels the following measures shall be taken :—

(1) All persons on board shall be medically examined as prescribed in Regulation 9.

(2) All persons suffering from plague shall immediately be disembarked under the directions of the Health Officer and isolated in the camp or hospital, whether ashore or afloat. appointed by Government for the purpose.

(3) At the discretion of the Health Officer other persons may also be disembarked and be subjected to observation* or surveillance* or to a period of observation followed by surveillance provided that the total duration of these measures shall not exceed five days from the time of arrival.

(4) Such soiled linen, wearing apparel and articles belonging to the crew and passengers as are, in the opinion of the Health Officer, infected, shall be disinfected.

(5) All parts of the vessel which have been occupied or frequented by plague patients shall be disinfected ; and any other parts of the vessel that, in the opinion of the Health Officer, are infected, shall be disinfected.

(6) The rats on board shall be destroyed, either before or after discharge of the cargo, in either case as quickly as possible, and in such manner as to avoid as far as possible damage to merchandise and to the ship's plating and engines. The operation, in any case, must not last longer than forty-eight hours. In the case of ships in ballast this process must be carried out as soon as possible, before embarking cargo.

(7) Passengers arriving by an infected ship and subjected to the provisions of clauses (2), (3) and (4) above are entitled to obtain from the Health Officer a certificate showing the date of their arrival and the measures taken as regards themselves and their baggage.

20. When the measures prescribed in Regulation 19 have been duly taken in respect of any vessel the Health Officer shall, by written order. grant pratique, provided that, if a case of plague or of illness suspected to be plague occurs on board subsequent to the grant of the above certificate, the certificate shall become invalid and the vessel again become subject to the requirements of the regulations regarding infected vessels.

21. In the case of suspected vessels the following measures shall be taken :—

(1) All persons on board shall be medically examined as prescribed in Regulation 9.

(2) The destruction of rats may be ordered at the discretion of the Health Officer, and if ordered shall be carried out in the terms of Regulation 19 (6).

(3) All soiled linen, wearing apparel and personal effects of the crew and passengers which are or are suspected to be infected, shall be disinfected.

(4) All parts of the vessel which have been occupied or frequented by plague patients shall be disinfected ; and any other parts of the vessel that, in the opinion of the Health Officer, are infected, shall be disinfected.

22. When the measures prescribed in Regulation 21 have been taken in respect of any vessel, the Health Officer shall, by written order, grant pratique.

* " Observation " means isolation either on board the ship or in a sanitary station appointed for the purpose before the grant of pratique. Passengers under " surveillance " are not isolated ; they receive pratique at once and are at liberty to proceed to their destinations, but the authorities at those places are informed of their coming and they are subjected to medical examination for such period as may be fixed in these regulations.

23. In the case of healthy vessels, other than those referred to in rule 24, pratique shall ordinarily be given at once as provided for in Regulation 17 but the Health Officer may, in his discretion, if special circumstances appear to him to require it, impose any or all of the following measures :—

(1) medical examination as prescribed in Regulation 9 ;
(2) disinfection of soiled linen, etc., as prescribed in Regulation 19 (4) ;
(3) destruction of rats as prescribed in Regulation 19 (6); but the process of deratisation when applied in the case of a healthy ship from a plague-infected port must not occupy more than 24 hours and should be carried out in such a manner as not to interfere with the coming and going of passengers and crew between the ship and the shore.

24. In the case of a healthy vessel on which unusual mortality among rats has been observed, the following measures shall be taken :—

(1) medical examination as prescribed in Regulation 9 ;
(2) bacteriological examination of rats for plague as far and as quickly as possible ;
(3) destruction of rats as prescribed in Regulation 19 (6) when considered necessary by the Health Officer or when rats are found on bacteriological examination to have plague ;
(4) in case of rats having plague, disinfection of such parts of the ship and such articles as the Health Officer considers infected ;
(5) surveillance of passengers and crew for a period not exceeding five days from the time of arrival.

25. In exercise of the functions imposed upon him by Regulations 9, 19 and 21, the Health Officer shall :—

(a) attach due importance to the presence on board the vessel of a medical officer and to the provision of apparatus for disinfection by means of saturated steam and for the destruction of rats, and
(b) shall take into account the sanitary or insanitary, and roomy or crowded condition of the vessels.

26. If in the case of any vessel making a passing call, the communication with the shore is restricted to the landing of passengers, mails or goods, the Health Officer may, in his discretion, enforce the provisions of Regulation 19, 21, 23 or 24 as the case may be, to such extent only as may, in his opinion, be necessary for the purpose of controlling the actual communication with the shore.

Provided (a) that any persons on board the vessel whom the Health Officer has reason to believe to be suffering from plague shall be landed and kept under observation.

Provided also (b) that ships from an infected place that have been disinfected and have undergone adequate sanitary measures, shall not, on their arrival in another port, be subjected to these measures a second time if no case has occurred since the disinfection was performed and if they have not called at an infected port. A ship which has merely disembarked passengers and their baggage or mails, without having been in communication with the shore, shall not be regarded as having called at the port.

27. The Health Officer shall, whenever requested, furnish the master, the ship-owner or the ship-owner's agent with a certificate stating that measures of rat destruction have been carried out and giving the reasons why they were resorted to. Health officers of ports visited by ships upon which periodic rat destruction is carried out, should take such certificate into account in considering whether measures under Regulation 23 (3) should be imposed.

28. The foregoing regulations shall not prevent the transhipment, under restrictions to be imposed by the Health Officer in conformity therewith, of passengers, mails or goods between vessels which have not been granted pratique.

29. If any case of plague occurs among any group of persons who are being kept under observation, the patient shall be isolated or sent to a hospital, and the other persons shall continue to be detained and segregated as aforesaid for a period not exceeding five days from the date on which the group became free from plague. The clothes and effects of the patient and of such persons as have been in contact with the patient shall be disinfected at the discretion of the medical officer in charge.

30. The medical officer in charge of any place appointed for the isolation of any persons under these regulations may, in his discretion, by written order, direct that any person who is kept there under observation shall be allowed to depart and shall be subject to surveillance.

31. If the system of surveillance to which any person is subjected on shore requires his daily attendance before a medical officer. the Health Officer may. by written order, exempt such person from such attendance on being satisfied that he may be relied upon to send in a prompt report if he should fall sick.

32. Persons subjected to surveillance shall submit to, and comply with, all directions as to medical supervision or otherwise, which may be given by written order of a medical officer appointed by Government in this behalf.

PART VI-C.—YELLOW FEVER.

33. In the case of vessels which have, within a period of two months immediately preceding their arrival, started from or touched en route at a port infected with yellow fever or communicated (except orally without contact or by signal) with a vessel either infected or which has left an infected port within that period, the following procedure shall be observed :—

(1) The vessel shall be anchored at sea or in the river at such special anchorage as may be fixed for this purpose by the Local Government but in no case less than half a mile from the land at low water. The visit of the Health Officer shall be made during the day as early as possible and all persons on board shall be medically examined as prescribed in Regulation 9.

(2) Any person suffering from yellow fever, if in the first four days of the disease, or if there is any doubt about the duration of the disease, shall be protected from the approach of mosquitoes by means of curtains, and shall be treated on board for at least four days. Any person suffering from fever shall similarly be isolated. be protected from the approach of mosquitoes by curtains and treated on board for at least four days. All passengers in perfect health (with normal temperature, etc), may be landed, and shall be kept under close observation for a period of at least eight days extensible at the discretion of the Health Officer to a maximum of twelve days, special precautions being taken throughout the whole of this period to prevent mosquitoes having access to them.

(3) In no case should any person sick of yellow fever be landed during the first four days of his illness without the special sanction of Government. If such sanction is given, the most minute precautions to prevent mosquitoes reaching the patient shall be taken, including a mosquito-proof cabin on the launch, mosquito-proof ambulances and a mosquito-proof ward in an isolation hospital.

(4) The crew of the vessel should be required to sleep in airy places preferably on deck, and should be protected by mosquito curtains.

(5) The ship shall be cleared of mosquitoes by the systematic fumigation,* under efficient supervision, of every cabin, store-room, alley-way and hold.

(6) All water in which mosquitoes could breed should be emptied into the sea or river and all drains flushed by means of a hose. The bilge should be pumped out or oiled. The drinking water tanks should be emptied to get rid of larvæ, fresh water being taken and the tanks completely filled so as to drown any adult mosquitoes which may be present in them.

* Sulphurous acid is probably the best gas to use.

(7) Provided if no case of yellow fever has occurred on board within two months immediately preceding the vessel's arrival, only such of the above measures in addition to those described in paragraphs (1), (5) and (6) shall be carried out as are considered by the Health Officer necessary in the circumstance of the case.

(8) No ship shall leave the anchorage for the purpose of taking up her berth until the measures described in paragraphs (5) and (6) have been carried out.

PART VI-D.—SLEEPING SICKNESS.

34. In the case of a vessel having on board a person suffering, or suspected to be suffering, from sleeping sickness, the person or persons shall not be permitted to land without the specific written permission of the Health Officer, who may, pending the receipt of written instructions from Government, permit the landing of such persons only if arrangements can be made for their strict isolation on shore. In the case of Aden the Health Officer may prevent the embarkation of, or subject to the arrangements above referred to, may disembark any person proceeding to India who is suffering or suspected to be suffering from sleeping sickness.

35. In the case of a vessel arriving from the East Coast of Africa within the limits of Port Sudan and Durban or from other localities declared to be infected, the procedure prescribed by Regulation 2 shall be complied with and the crew or passengers, etc., shall be medically inspected in accordance with Regulation 9.

PART VI-E.—JIGGER.

36. In the case of a vessel having on board any person or persons suffering from jigger—

(1) the Health Officer shall carefully examine every person on board and any person or persons found to be suffering shall be removed to hospital for treatment;

(2) the clothes of infected persons shall be disinfected, and the Health Officer may, in his discretion, order the disinfection of the clothes, bedding, etc., of all persons on board;

(3) any part of the vessel likely to harbour jigger fleas shall be thoroughly washed with a watery solution of kerosene oil emulsion or in a recognized solution of tar acid which is accepted by the Port Health Officer;

(4) the ballast of such vessel, if of earth or sand, shall not be landed without the permission, in writing, of the Health Officer, who, if he considers it necessary, may order that it shall be discharged into the $\frac{\text{sea}}{\text{river}}$ at such places as shall be appointed for the purpose by the Conservators of the Port of Calcutta or Chittagong, as the case may be, subject to the approval of the Local Government.

PART VII.—GENERAL.

Vessels.

37. The master of any vessel coming under these regulations shall comply with all directions which the Health Officer may consider necessary under the foregoing rules.

38 The master of any vessel who may object to submit to the foregoing regulations may put out to sea again, provided that objection has been taken before there has been any communication, except by signal or through the port authorities, between such vessel and the shore or with any other vessel in port. Goods may be landed from such vessels after precautions have been taken to isolate the ship, crew and passengers and on condition that such information as the Health Officer may require regarding the mortality among rats is duly supplied: Passengers may be disembarked at their own request on condition that they submit to all the measures prescribed by the local authorities.

39. In the event of any vessel putting back to sea the Health Officer shall intimate the fact by telegraph to the next port of call if in British India.

Persons.

40. All persons removed to hospital or kept under observation at any place shall obey and conform to the rules, regulations and orders for the time being in force at such hospital or place and shall be liable to pay all such charges as for the time being may, under the sanction of Government, be made against them.

41. When a suspected case of any infectious disease is removed from a vessel at any port, the Health Officer shall report the confirmation or otherwise of the diagnosis, by telegraph, to the Health Officer of the next port of call if that port is in British India, Ceylon or the Straits Settlements. In other cases a note shall be made on the bill of health stating the nature of the suspected infectious disease and the precautions taken in connection therewith.

Dead Bodies.

42. Disposal shall be as follows:—

(1) If death occurs on board a vessel before entering port limits, the body shall, unless there are special reasons to the contrary, be buried at sea in not less than nine fathoms of water, in such manner as shall secure its immediate sinking and remaining below the surface.

(2) If death occurs during the day on board a vessel within the port limits the ensign and house flag, if there is one, are immediately to be lowered half-mast and kept in such position from sunrise till sunset as long as the body remains on board. If death occurs between sunset and sunrise one red light is to be hoisted at the peak, half-mast high.

(3) The master of the vessel shall cause the death of a person on board to be intimated forthwith to the police, either by letter or otherwise and shall forward to the Port Officer a written report as soon as possible after the occurrence, in which all the circumstances attending the death must be fully detailed.

(4) No dead body shall be removed from a vessel within port limits without the permission of the police, which shall not be given until the Health Officer has certified either—

(a) that the death is not due to infectious disease, or

(b) that in the case of infectious disease, the Port authorities have given permission for burial on shore.

If the Port authorities in consultation with the Health Officer decide that burial on shore cannot be permitted, the body must be buried at sea in such manner as the Health Officer may direct.

Disinfection.

43. All disinfection prescribed by these regulations shall be carried out, unless otherwise specifically provided for, in the manner prescribed in the Appendix thereto.

PART VIII.—VESSELS LEAVING PORTS IN THE PRESIDENCY OF BENGAL FOR PORTS BEYOND INDIA.

44. No vessel shall leave any port which has been declared to be infected with any contagious or infectious disease for any port beyond India until—

(1) all persons sailing by the vessel, whether as passengers or as members of the crew, have been medically examined by the Health Officer;

(2) in the case of plague—

(a) all persons sailing by the vessel, either as passengers or as members of the crew (except such onward bound passengers as have not remained one night on shore and such members of the crew, as have not remained one night on shore or have not newly joined, who may be examined on board) have been medically examined by the Health Officer on shore by day as shortly as possible before embarkation ;

(b) all merchandise or articles of any sort which the Health Officer may consider to be infected with plague have been disinfected on shore previous to embarkation ;

(c) all clothing, bedding, and infected articles belonging to Asiatic and African members of the crew, not being officers, engineers or doctors, to deck and fourth class passengers, and to third class passengers not entitled to cabin accommodation, which the Health Officer may consider to be infected with plague, and, if the Health Officer thinks fit so to direct, all clothing, bedding and infected articles belonging to passengers of any class higher than the third and of any members of the crew, have been disinfected on shore by day as shortly as possible before being placed on board ;

(3) the Health Officer has given to the master of the vessel a bill of health stating that the medical examination and disinfection prescribed by this regulation have been carried out ;

(4) in the case of any disease other than plague the Health Officer may, in his discretion, enforce the provisions of clauses 2 (b) and 2 (c) above :

Provided that, if the vessel is only making a call at the port in question, the medical examination and disinfection prescribed by this regulation shall be made only in the case of persons joining the vessel there and articles belonging to them, unless there is communication between the vessel and the shore. The Health Officer shall decide, for the purpose of this proviso, what constitutes communication between the vessel and the shore. The bill of health in such case need only take the form of an endorsement on the last bill of health held by the vessel and need only refer to the passengers and crew embarking at the port in question.

45. It shall be open to the Consular representative interested in any vessel to be present, if he so desires, at the medical examination and disinfection prescribed by regulation 44.

46. If any vessel does not leave port within 24 hours after the medical examination made under Regulation 44, she shall not leave until—

(a) a fresh medical examination of the passengers and crew has been made under that regulation, and

(b) a fresh bill of health has been given to the master under that regulation :

Provided that such fresh examination may be conducted on board the vessel, whether or not there has been communication with the shore since the previous examination was made, and provided that if the time of departure be after sunrise on the day after that of inspection, the master of the vessel shall send the bill of health to the Health Officer to have the date of departure amended.

47. If, after a bill of health has been given to the master of any vessel and before the vessel leaves the port, any cargo or goods of any kind be placed on or taken off the vessel except in such manner as may be directed by the Health Officer, the vessel shall not leave the port until—

(a) such further medical examination and disinfection as the Health Officer may consider necessary have been made under Regulation 44, and

(b) a fresh bill of health has been given to the master under that regulation :

Provided that such further examination and disinfection may be conducted on board the vessel.

48. (1) After a bill of health has been given to the master of any vessel no person except the pilot or person authorised by the Health Officer shall be permitted to embark on the vessel unless he has been medically examined by the Health Officer as prescribed in Regulation 44.

(2) If any such person is permitted to embark, the Health Officer shall amend the bill of health accordingly.

49. Port-clearance shall not be granted for any vessel, unless and until the master produces the bill of health prescribed by the foregoing regulations:

Provided that, at any port where, in the opinion of Government, local conditions render this relaxation advisable, the authority responsible for granting port-clearance may grant port-clearance for any vessel on receiving from the agents of the vessel a written guarantee that a duplicate of such bill of health, signed by the Health Officer, will be furnished by them to him within forty-eight hours.

50. (1) If the Health Officer considers that any passenger is suffering from, or is in the incubation stage of, any infectious or contagious disease, he shall prevent such passenger and his or her relatives and attendants from embarking or sailing: and their baggage and personal effects shall not be allowed on board the vessel and, if already placed on board, shall be removed as early as possible.

(2) For the purposes of this regulation, the term "relatives" shall mean such persons as have been living with, or have been, in the opinion of the Health Officer, in dangerous communication with the suspected passengers.

51. (1) If the Health Officer considers that any member of the crew of the vessel is suffering from, or is suspected to be in the incubation stage of, any infectious or contagious disease—

(a) he shall prevent such member from re-embarking on such vessel and shall refuse to give a bill of health until the baggage and personal effects of such member have been removed from the vessel and such parts of the vessel as have been occupied or frequented by such member have been disinfected; and

(b) the baggage and personal effects of such persons as were in immediate contact with such member of the crew shall be disinfected, and the names of such persons shall be given to the medical officer or master of the vessel for supervision on the voyage.

(2) All action taken under clause (1) of this regulation for the disinfection of a vessel shall be noted in the bill of health.

52 Any person who is prevented by the Health Officer under the foregoing regulations from embarking or sailing may be removed to and kept at a hospital or kept under observation; or, if any such person gives a genuine address, he may, at the discretion of the Health Officer, be sujected to surveillance for a period not exceeding five days.

53. At all ports declared to be infected with plague proper measures shall be taken to prevent rats obtaining access to vessels (Appendix B).

54. Regulations 44 to 53 shall apply to all pilgrim or emigrant ships and may, by order of Government, be applied to vessels leaving a port in India or Burma for another in India or Burma.

(See Regulation 43.)

APPENDIX A.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR DISINFECTION.

Personal effects, such as rags, bandages, papers and other articles without value, which, in the opinion of the Health Officer, are deemed likely to carry infection, should be destroyed by fire.

2. Under-clothing, bedding, wearing apparel, mattresses, carpets, etc., which are contaminated or suspected, and other articles to be disinfected, should be exposed for 15 minutes to saturated steam—under pressure if possible—at a temperature of not less than 100°C (212°F.), care being taken that the steam shall reach all parts of each article to be disinfected.

3. Disinfecting Solutions.—

(a) Solution of corrosive sublimate of one part in 1,000 with the addition of 2 parts in 1,000 of hydrochloric acid or 160 grains of chloride of soda in one gallon. The solution should be coloured with aniline dye or indigo. It should not be placed in metal vessels.

(b) A 5 per cent. solution of pure crystallized carbolic acid, or 5 per cent. of crude commercial carbolic acid free from tar oils in a warm solution of soft soap.

(d) Such proprietary tar acid compound as the port Health Officer may approve of.

4. Special instructions to be observed in the employment of disinfecting solution.—The linen, clothing and articles soiled by the excreta of patients should be soaked in the solution of corrosive sublimate. The solution of pure carbolic acid and the solution of soap and carbolic acid are equally suited to the purpose. The articles should remain in the solution for at least six hours.

Articles which cannot be subjected to the temperature of 212° F. without injury, as leather goods, wooden articles stuck together with glue felt, velvet silk, etc., should be washed with a disinfecting solution; coins can be disinfected with the solution of soap and carbolic acid. Persons engaged in nursing the sick should wash their hands and faces with one of the carbolic solutions. The carbolic solutions will be useful more particularly for disinfecting articles such as metal, or instruments, which can neither be subjected to a temperature of 212°F. nor placed in contact with corrosive sublimate. Chlorinated lime is particularly recommended for disinfecting excreta. Expectorated matter should be burnt.

5. Disinfection of ships on which plague has occurred among human beings or rats.—All rats on board shall be destroyed by means of sulphurous anhydride or other suitable disinfectant. The cabins, etc., occupied by the sick or those suspected to be suffering from plague shall, at the discretion of the Health Officer, be treated with a solution of corrosive sublimate and thoroughly cleansed with soap and water. In the case of pneumonic plague preliminary disinfection with corrosive sublimate solution shall be invariably carried out.

6. Disinfection of the hold of an infected ship.—The bilge-water shall be pumped out, and the hold washed with sea-water, a sufficient quanity of a solution of corrosive sublimate being subsequently thrown in at the discretion of the Health Officer. The bilge-water shall not be pumped out when the vessel is in harbour without the written consent of the Health Officer.

APPENDIX B.

MEASURES TO BE ADOPTED TO PREVENT RATS OBTAINING ACCESS TO VESSELS.

1. There shall be a space of at least three feet between any part of the vessel and the wall of the dock or wharf.

2. All ropes and hawsers connecting the vessel with the dock or wharf shall be furnished with a circular concave-convex rat-guard at least four feet in diameter, fitting tightly, with the concavity towards the wharf, on the rope or hawser, and so fixed that no part of the margin of the guard shall be less than 24 inches from the rope or hawser, or any other pattern of rat-guard that may be approved by Government.

3. To prevent rats reaching the ship by means of a gangway, as few gangways shall be used as possible; all gangways shall be raised at night; and a watchman shall be placed on each gangway during the day from the time the gangway is lowered until it is raised.

4. A responsible person shall be deputed by the Local Government to ensure these measures being applied immediately the vessel is berthed.

* The lime-wash should contain 20 per cent. of lime, and may be prepared as follows :—Take 2 pounds of good quick-lime and slake it by moistening it gradually with about half a pint of water. When the operation is completed, the resulting powder must be kept in an airtight vessel in a dry place.

For use the quantity of slaked lime obtained from 2 pounds of quick-lime should be placed in a convenient vessel and water added to make one gallon.

NOTICE.

DEPARTMENT OF MINES IN INDIA, DHANBAD P. O., MANBHUM.

Indian Mines Act, 1901.

AN examination for first and second class Coal Mine Managers' Certificates of Competency under the rules applicable to coal mines will be held at the Railway Institute, Dhanbad, on the 21st, 22nd and 23rd February 1917.

Rules 32 and 33 of the Indian Mines Act, 1901, require that a candidate for a first class certificate must be at least 23 years of age and have had at least five years' practical experience in a coal mine, and for a second class certificate be at least 21 years of age and have had at least three years' practical experience in a coal mine. The periods of practical experience may be reduced to three years and one year, respectively, in the case of a candidate who has received a diploma in scientific and mining subjects after a course of study of at least two years at an educational institution approved in this behalf by the Governor-General in Council, or who has taken a degree in scientific and mining subjects at a University approved in this behalf by the Governor-General in Council.

The fees are Rs. 15 in the case of first class certificates and Rs. 8 in the case of second class certificates. By rule 34 of Government of India (Department of Commerce and Industry) Notification No. 2968—82, dated the 21st April 1906, " these fees shall be paid, not less than one month prior to the date of the examination, to the Chief Inspector of Mines at his office." The fees may be remitted by money-order or paid in any other manner.

EMIGRATION.

RESOLUTION.

Delhi, the 15th November 1916.

THE following paper is published for the information of those interested in the subject :—

Despatch from the Government of India to His Majesty's Secretary of State for India, No. 41 (Emigration), dated the 15th October 1915.

We have the honour to address you regarding the present system under which Indian labourers are recruited for certain Crown colonies. It will be remembered that in the year 1910 the Committee over which Lord Sanderson presided submitted a report which contained certain criticisms and suggestions regarding the conditions under which the emigration of Indian labour to the colonies should be conducted; but the general trend of its conclusions was in favour of the continuance of the present method of indenture which was considered to be 'to the great benefit,' not only of the colonies, but equally of the main body of emigrants. It may be remarked incidentally that this Committee sat in London, and did not visit any of the colonies, though it examined a number of representative witnesses from each of them. The Committee's report contained a recommendation to the effect that officers of the Indian Government should visit each of the colonies employing indentured Indian labour at regular intervals, and report on the condition of the emigrants and on the measures which may be desirable to promote their welfare.

2. In pursuance of this recommendation, the Government of India deputed Mr. McNeill, I.C.S., and Mr. Chimman Lal, an Indian gentleman from the United Provinces, which is an important recruiting ground for colonial emigration, to visit the colonies concerned and submit a report on the conditions under which Indian labour was employed. The report was received by the Government of India in July 1914. These two gentlemen agreed with Lord Sanderson's Committee in their approval of the system. They considered that 'its advantages far outweighed its disadvantages,' and that 'the great majority of the emigrants exchanged grinding poverty with practically no hope of betterment for a condition varying from simple but secure comfort to solid prosperity.' They also made certain recommendations for the improvement of the system and for the elimination from it of certain undesirable features to which they drew attention.

3. Apart from these recommendations, there are certain significant facts and figures in the report, which have attracted the special attention of the Government of India, and have led them to consider carefully whether the economic benefits which, it has been claimed, are conferred on the Indian labourer by indentured emigration may not be outweighed by other and more serious drawbacks, and whether the popular feeling in this country, which has been setting more and more strongly against the practice of recruitment on indenture, is not after all based on solid as well as sentimental reasons. The colonies which at present receive Indian indentured labour are Trinidad, Demerara, Jamaica, Fiji and Dutch colony of Surinam. We do not propose to consider in any detail the arguments regarding emigration to the latter colony, for it is clear that, if our views regarding British colonies meet with your acceptance, it will be impossible for the Government of the Netherlands to demand the application of any different policy to Surinam. The varying degrees of dependence of the different colonies on imported Indian labour, and the history of the system under which it has been worked in the past in each case, are fully set forth in the report of Lord Sanderson's Committee; it is not necessary, therefore, to repeat these, nor do we desire to discuss the housing, sanitary and medical arrangements that exist in the various colonies: it may be at once admitted that they are generally satisfactory and often excellent, while the weak spots are mostly capable of, or in process of, removal. It is rather to the social, administrative, and economic conditions under which Indian labour is employed that we desire to direct attention. We shall first discuss the death and suicide rates, the proportion of the sexes, the prosecutions for labour offences in the colonies, and the method of recruitment in India. We shall then consider the economic advantages of emigration from the Indian point of view. And finally, we shall explain the objections which Indian public opinion has raised against the continuance of the system.

4. Death-rate.—The statement below represents the death-rate in the colonies of indentured and, so far as figures are separately available, of unindentured Indian labour:—

Year.	Colony.	Population.		Death-rate per 1,000.		General Indian death-rate in colony.
		Indentured.	Unindentured.	Indentured.	Unindentured.
1911 ...	Trinidad ...	9.627	15,873	18·2	...	9·8
1912 ...		10.982	14,199	17·9	...	...
1913 ...		12.747	13,306	15·5	...	...
1911-12	British Guiana	9,141	54,804	17·7	26·4	25·6
1912-13		9,453	57,442	12·1	19·4	18·9
1913-14		9.114	57.336	9·4	20·2	18·6
1911-12	Jamaica ...	2,910	...	30·9	...	...
1912-13		3.066	...	22·1	...	...
1913-14		4,047	...	23·0	...	...
1911 ...	Fiji ...	14.462	29,758	27·3	13·3	17·8
1912 ...		15.369	32,482	25·9	11·8	16·9
1913 ...		15,961	35.644	22·7	10·7	11·4

The above figures do not enable a contrast to be made in all cases between indentured and unindentured population. But the figures are particularly striking in Fiji. Here the death-rate has been decidedly high, considering that the island is free from malaria and that the majority of indentured coolies are adults in the prime of life selected after medical examination. The death-rate, however, shows signs of diminution which may be attributed to the improvement effected by the colony in sanitary and medical arrangements The death-rates for persons of all ages and for persons of 20-30 years of age, the age which most nearly corresponds to the average age of indentured immigrants, in the United Provinces and Madras, were as follows:—

Year.	Ages 20-30.				All ages and sexes.
	United Provinces.		Madras.		United Provinces.	Madras.
	Per 1,000 men.	Per 1,000 women.	Per 1,000 men.	Per 1,000 women.	Per 1,000.	Per 1,000.
1910	20·43	21·66	11·5	11·9	38·67	24·7
1911	23·09	26·71	10·9	11·6	44·95	23·1

The average death-rates in 1914 in Madras and the United Provinces jails, where the inmates are cared for on somewhat similar principles but much more closely than in the colonies, were 11·83 and 11·9, respectively. Allowing for the fact that indentured emigrants are all medically examined before leaving India, and that the housing, sanitation and medical supervision of coolies in the colonies are far superior to anything available for the Indian village population, it is clear that the mortality among indentured coolies is decidedly high, especially in Fiji, although more conscientious and sustained efforts are probably made in this colony for the medical care and sanitation of Indian labourers than anywhere else in the world.

5. As a special feature of the death-rate, the high number of suicides among indentured coolies has for long attracted attention. This subject is dealt with in considerable detail in Messrs. McNeill and Chimman Lal's report. We reproduce the figures below :—

Colony.	Average rate, for ten years ending 1912, of suicides per million of Indian population. Free.	Indentured.
Trinidad	134	400
British Guiana	52	100
Jamaica	...	396
Dutch Guiana	49	91
Fiji	147	926

These figures may be compared with the figures given below for various parts of India :—

Bombay City	75
Bombay City (ages 20-30)	107
Madras	45
United Provinces	63
India	51

The average rate amongst the unindentured population is high: but that among the indentured is a most serious matter, and not the less so in that it is seen at its very worst in the colonies with the largest population basis of indentured labour. We may admit at once that a more careful record is probably maintained for indentured than for unindentured Indians. But the difference is too marked and the ratio too constant to admit of this being at all a complete explanation. We may admit also that the indentured population includes practically all the newcomers. But this again cannot explain such high figures. Messrs. McNeill and Chimman Lal's report abstains from drawing very definite conclusions as to the causes; among possible factors are home sickness, lack of freedom, the abnormal sex ratio, which will be discussed below in greater detail, and the unaccustomed surroundings.

6. Proportion of the sexes.—The coolies despatched from Calcutta in the year 1913 comprised 4,284 males and 1,845 females. The corresponding figures for 1912 were 5,960 and 2,569. From Madras 1,517 men and 605 women embarked in 1913 for Fiji and British Guiana. The proportion of sexes among the average Indian population of various colonies concerned was stated in the report presented to Parliament by the Colonial Office in March 1914 to be as under :—

Colony.	Adult males.	Adult females.	Remarks.
Trinidad, Tobago	31,989	17,159	These figures were compiled from the 1911 Census Reports of the various colonies.
British Guiana	53,083	34,799
Jamaica	7,137	4,775
Fiji	20,062	8,785

This disproportion affects both indentured and unindentured labour, the latter of course to a much less extent.

7. The high suicide rate and the disproportionate sex ratio are not, it is true, evils peculiar to a system of indentured labour. At the same time, suicides are undoubtedly of far greater frequency among indentured colonial labourers than among the unindentured. The latter class is largely composed of persons who have passed the dangerous period of hopeless home-sickness, which is said to be one of the main causes of suicide. But it is possible enough that the feeling of being bound to serve for a fixed period and on the same estate is often the last straw that turns the scale in the mind of a man who is already depressed by home-sickness, jealousy, domestic unhappiness, or any other cause. Even if indentured labour were abolished, the effect of unusual surroundings, inability to return at will, or other causes might be sufficient to maintain the suicide rate above a normal figure. But it is most probable that the ability of the coolie to change his surroundings and his employer would, in this event, cause a very great diminution in the rate. As regards the question of sexual immorality, though this very important subject has not been dealt with in any great detail in the reports of the two previous Committees, there is a considerable amount of unofficial evidence, which shows that the moral conditions in the Indian coolie lines in Fiji at any rate are indescribable : and in view of the proportion of the sexes shown in the official figures, we feel certain that these accounts are little, if at all, exaggerated. The only suggestion that is made in Messrs. McNeill and Chimman Lal's report for its removal would take a great length of time to exercise its full effect, which after all would be comparatively slight. The evil seems inseparable from the maintenance of emigration under present conditions and on its present scale. Immigrants, except where a system of seasonal emigration by families prevails, are bound to include more men than women ; and the latter are equally bound to include, as is the case at present, a large proportion of persons who are prostitutes, social outcastes, or have been unhappy in their domestic relations. Choice of partners is thus necessarily limited, both as to quantity and quality ; and it is still further restricted by the obligation to reside on a particular estate. It thus appears impossible to effect any improvement in the present state of things, which forms one of the darkest blots on the system, without a radical alteration in the sex ratio ; and the necessity for bringing this about calls for serious consideration. But until this is done, the moral responsibility, which we incur, would be infinitely less under a system of free emigration than under the present system. The law which allows the coolie to enter into a binding agreement in India is an Act of the Indian Government, and enforceable in its courts.

8. Prosecutions.—The figures for prosecutions are very significant, though they have decreased in number in recent years.

TRINIDAD.

Year.	Number of indentured coolies.	Prosecutions	Percentage of prosecutions to coolies.	Convictions.	Percentage of convictions to prosecutions.	Sentenced to imprisonment.
1909	11,620	2,800	24	2,457	87	597

1911	10,660	2,373	22	2,031	85	397

Almost all the cases dismissed were on account of want of prosecution or evidence and most of these were presumably cases in which the employer himself did not wish to proceed to extremities.

1911	15,352	1,520	10	1,372	90	446
1912	16,111	1,256	8	1,135	90	186

In Fiji, as in certain other colonies, conviction often involves extension of the period of indenture, a very undesirable form of punishment.

Imprisonment for labour offences, except after three previous convictions, was abolished in Fiji in 1912.

It may be noted that many of the prosecutions involve more than one charge against the same coolie, and that the same men are sometimes prosecuted more than once in the same year, so that the actual number of coolies prosecuted is somewhat less than the number of cases. With this explanation, it may be stated that the average percentage of prosecutions on population concerned over the periods for which figures are given above was for Trinidad 23, for British Guiana 19, for Jamaica 12, and for Fiji 13. By far the larger proportion of these prosecutions arose out of the provisions of the labourer's contract.

There is no need to suppose that all these prosecutions were unreasonably undertaken : in fact, it is fairly clear that in most estates, prosecutions are kept down to the minimum number consistent with what has hitherto been considered efficient management. There are, however, not wanting signs that, in Fiji at any rate, the unwisdom of the system hitherto pursued is being recognized : but as long as a labourer is bound to serve a particular master, kind or cruel, it will be impossible to avoid retaining some means of compulsion to make the coolie keep to his bargain.

The extraordinarily high proportion of convictions to prosecutions is significant even in such simple cases as labour offences. It is alleged by the opponents of the system that justice is not done; that the coolie is largely in the hands of the interpreter who is apt to take the side of the employers; that the magistrates are in many cases themselves employers, or necessarily favour the employers; and that the witnesses are servants of the prosecutor. Some of these facts are obviously true; but of the truth of others no authoritative evidence is forthcoming, while Messrs. McNeill and Chimman Lal's report states that justice is usually properly administered. But the possibilities of injustice which obviously exist, coupled with the very high percentage of convictions, give rise to uncomfortable suspicions.

9. Method of recruitment.—The recruitment of coolies by contractors, whose earnings depend on per capita payments for coolies recruited, has for long been regarded by the Government of India as unsatisfactory. In the case of labour required for Assam the system was made illegal from 1st July of this year. No specific local enquiry has as yet been made into the conditions under which labour is recruited in upcountry districts for the colonies, but there is no reason to believe that colonial emigration, controlled as it is only by Crown agents at comparatively distant centres, is on any better footing than was contract recruitment for Assam, while the complaints that appear in the press, or reach the ears of local officers, regarding occasional abuses, are of a very similar nature to those which led the Government of India, after careful enquiry, to abolish contract recruitment for Assam labour. Those responsible for the management of tea gardens, in Calcutta or upcountry, though they usually desire to work on clean lines, have proved quite unable to control the abuse which seem inseparable from the system of contract recruitment. The coolie contractor and his agents have for long borne a decidedly unsavoury reputation with their fellow villagers or townsmen. The policy of the Government of India in respect of Assam emigration has been to replace these men by sardars, who are labourers of a superior class from the tea gardens themselves, and who come back from time to time to their own villages and return with the recruits which they have collected there to the garden of their own employer, where they again work side by side with the recruits they have brought. This is the only system now permitted for Assam recruitment, and the kangani system under which recruitment for Ceylon and the Straits Settlements is mostly conducted, while it has certain drawbacks of its own, resembles it in its main features. It will readily be appreciated that there are serious difficulties involved in the maintenance of a system for the benefit of overseas colonies, which we have found it necessary to abolish in the case of Assam, one of our own Provinces.

Regarding the class of persons collected by the recruiters, the last annual report on emigration from the Port of Calcutta bears eloquent testimony. Of 5,210 persons received into the upcountry depôts, 1,186 were rejected as medically unfit; of the balance 3,837 persons reached the Calcutta depôts, of whom only 2,678 left for the colonies, the balance having been returned as unfit or having absconded. The nature of the miscellaneous scraps of humanity collected by the recruiters in the first instance can be readily imagined.

10. Economic aspect.—We turn now to the economic aspect of the question. It has often been stated that the economic advantages gained by the Indian labourer are so great that they outweigh the moral and social evils which we have just described. We do not think it possible to apply a common measure which will enable such a comparison to be made. But the extent of these economic advantages has been too readily assumed. The rise in wages and in the standard of comfort among the labouring population of India has been great, and in certain particular areas, very great indeed. It is necessary, therefore, to compare the economic conditions of Indian labour in the colonies with those existing in various parts of India itself in order to decide precisely what degree of weight can be allowed to this argument.

Trinidad.—On the estates visited by Messrs. McNeil and Chimman Lal, the wages averaged about 4*s.* 6*d.* a week for indentured men. On a few of the best estates, the earnings were about 5*s.* The women earn from half to two-thirds of the above. The food of an industrious worker with a healthy appetite costs from 2*s.* 9*d.* to 3*s.* a week. Infants get rations at the employer's expense. Messrs. McNeill and Chimman Lal's Report states that a good worker can save 2*s.* a week and all but inferior workers can save on the average about 1*s.* In point of fact with average earnings of 4*s.* 3*d.* and food costing 3*s.*, it does not seem very probable that the labourer will clothe himself and his children, pay for petty luxuries, etc., of the type he affects, and yet save as much as 1*s.* It may be noted that rice, which sells at 4 seers to the rupee, pays an import tax of 20 per cent. ad valorem, and dhal 12 per cent. Coolies have little or no chance of adding to their earnings while under indentures. No separate particulars are given for remittances or savings by indentured Indians.

British Guiana.—The average for all workers, including females and children, is 11¾*d.* a day, for an average week of 5 days. On field work, the weekly average for shovel-men was 8*s.* 9½*d.* and 6*s.* 5½*d.* for all others. Good workers sometimes earn £1-5-4 a fortnight, and earnings of 18*s.* 8*d.* are not uncommon. The average earnings per day actually worked by men is about 12*d.* A man, it is stated, ought to be able to save upwards of 2*s.* a week, if of average physique.

Indentured coolies are rewarded by being allowed to cultivate plots of rice. Repatriated emigrants took back with them the following sums :—

Year.	Returned emigrants.		Sums brought back.
	Men.	Women.	Deposited for transmission.	Estimated additional sums.
			Dollars.	Dollars.
1910	558	220	43,454	7,242
1911	460	179	36,897	4,800
1912	404	158	39,860	6,644
1913	446	154	29,253	4,875

These amounts were saved after a period, presumably, of ten years, and represent an average saving of 70 to 80 dollars a head, or say Rs. 240.

Jamaica.—Men's wages per day worked averaged from 10½*d.* to 1*s.* 5¾*d.* The average labourer works on two days out of three. Women's wages average from 7¼*d.* to 1*s.* ¾*d.* per day worked. A fair estimate of the daily cost of living would be, it is stated, 3*s.* 6*d.* weekly for an able-bodied man. Plots of land are rarely given to indentured coolies, nor are they encouraged to keep cows, for fear of deteriorating the type of animals kept by their employers.

Returned emigrants took back with them the following sums :—

Year.	Returned emigrants.		Sums brought back.
	Men.	Women.	Cheques.	Jewellery.

1912	210	74	2,650	22

Fiji.—An ordinary skilled man earns 9*s.* or 10*s.* a week at cane cutting and for loading trucks from 1*s.* 3*d.* a day upwards. Coolies very seldom work more than 5½ days a week. Rations are given to indentured immigrants for six months and to children for twelve months after arrival. The employer may not deduct for an adult's rations more than 2*s.* 4*d.* weekly. The retail cost of these rations to the coolie would be from 3*s.* to 3*s.* 6*d.* The price of rice is about 2½ seers to the rupee. Children's rations include milk. The average number of days worked is higher than in other colonies, as the climate is healthy, the sanitary arrangements good, and the coolies are said to like the variety of the work with its slack and busy seasons, during the latter of which they can earn high wages. Repatriations are comparatively few, owing to the good wages. Plots of land have not hitherto been given to coolies, but it is now proposed to do this. One shilling is the minimum wage for men for a day of 9 hours. The average earnings in 1913 were as under :—

	Per working day.	Per day worked.
	d.	d.
Men	12·29	13·32
Women	6·54	8·37

The average savings after paying for food would thus be about 2*s*. 10*d*. Repatriated emigrants took back with them the following sums :—

Year.	Returned emigrants.		Sums brought back.
	Men.	Women.	Cash deposited.	Value of other cash, etc.	Total.
1910	199	70	1,156	7,313	8,470
1911	334	98	2,391	10,194	12,585
1912	275	106	1,879	11,955	13,834
1913	376	131	2,760	14,000	16,760

About one-third of those repatriated were destitute or unfit. The remainder had worked for 10 years. Assuming that the former class brought back nothing, which is improbable, the latter brought on an average some £49 a piece.

It would appear therefore that coolies in the above mentioned colonies can save from less than 1*s*. to about 3*s*. a week, provided that they spend little or nothing except on food and clothes. The savings brought home after 10 years' work, during 5 years of which they are presumably employed as free coolies, show that they do not, as a matter of fact, save anything like this figure, even allowing for money remitted to India. Annual remittances by Indians, which however include those by both free and indentured labourers, were as under :—

Year.	Trinidad.	British Guiana	Fiji.	Jamaica.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
1910	58,013	31,026	48,214	6,614
1911	55,614	33,635	47,730	6,305
1912	52,791	41,133	57,300	6,975
1913	65.218	46,677	57,421	5,595
1914	79.513	38.084	60,900	5,155

The annual report on emigration from the Port of Calcutta for the year 1914 shows that out of emigrants arriving in Calcutta, the following brought back savings :—

—	Returned emigrants.		Savings brought by.	Of whom sums over Rs. 150 were brought by.
	Men.	Women.
Demerara	424	157	483	241
Trinidad	487	172	273	182
Jamaica	......	......	......	......

These figures bear out fairly well the figures already quoted, as regards the relative wage earning possibilities in the different colonies. They do not include the value of the jewellery brought back, which is presumably estimated and somewhat doubtful : and a very large proportion of returned emigrants, nearly half, brought back no savings at all.

11. We have seen, then, that the wages earned by indentured coolies in the colonies range between 4*s*. 3*d*. and 6*s*. 3*d*. per week, or say, 18*s*. and 26*s*. a month, the highest earnings being in Fiji. Deducting the cost of rations at 3*s*. 3*d*. a head, the net earnings in the latter colony came to 3*s*. a week, or say

12*s*. 9*d*. a month. But there are many places in India where as good or almost as good wages are paid for unskilled labour, excluding the Punjab where the labourer is stronger and more efficient. In Eastern Bengal, wages run as high as 1*s*. 4*d*. a day in the jute season which lasts for several months. The published wage statistics for the eastern districts of Bengal, which are however not entirely reliable, give the rate for ordinary agricultural labour at from 13*s*. 4*d*. to 20*s*. a month. More accurate figures obtained by the personal enquiries of an officer on special duty, showed that the labourers in Mymensingh earn from 8*d*. to 10*d*. a day; while others obtain from 5*s*. 4*d*. to 9*s*. 4*d*. a month with their food. On the above figures an average wage of from 4*s*. to 5*s*. a week may be fairly assumed. Calculating the cost of the same rations as are given or brought in Fiji, at Eastern Bengal prices, the Eastern Bengal coolies weekly food expenditure is 1*s*., 4½*d*., and deducting this from the average weekly wage rate of 4*s*. 6*d*. the balance is roughly 3*s*. 2*d*. The Eastern Bengal labourer's position is thus nearly as good as that of an indentured coolie in Fiji. He has to pay house rent unless, as is usually the case, he sleeps in a jute godown, or the cultivator's verandah, while the Fiji labourer is housed for nothing. The Eastern Bengal labourer is often an emigrant from Bihar, who leaves most of his family behind him where no doubt they earn a trifle, while the very few children that the Fiji coolie takes with him contribute to the family earnings, and his infant children receive rations. But the above figures are enough to show that in point of actual excess of wages over the bare cost of living there are places in India, outside the large towns, where a coolie can do as well as in most, if not all, of the colonies without the great disadvantage of having to leave his country and indenture himself to an employer, who may be considerate or the reverse, but whom he is bound to serve for five years, or go to jail if he refuses. It is true that in the areas in the east of the United Provinces and in Madras, whence the indentured coolie is mostly drawn, the wages are miserably low, and congestion is intense. But there is no reason except the lack of a recruiting agency to take him there, why the United Provinces coolie should not follow the example of his Bihar neighbour and go to work in Eastern Bengal, where the field for labour is very large. In the towns and the urban mills the wages for labour, with a small degree of skill that does not take long to gain, are nearly as high as in Eastern Bengal, though house rent and cost of food are higher. A coolie ought thus to be able, on purely arithmetical considerations, to save from 2*s*. a week upwards. It is certain that the Indian demand for labour is far more than enough to absorb the 6,129 coolies that left Calcutta for the colonies on indenture in 1913, even if thereto be added the 1,607 coolies that left Madras for the same destination in the same year.

There is, however, a real advantage to the coolie, and it is a very real one in colonial emigration. It gives the coolie the chance, after his indenture is over, of obtaining land, from which he can derive higher profits and live a life the conditions of which are in many ways more pleasant than anything which is open to him in India, though it is to some extent attainable in this country. In Assam, for instance, where labour under indenture has now been abolished, the tea garden labourer is usually allowed a plot of land to cultivate in his spare time: and when he leaves the garden an abundance of fertile waste land is available from which he can take up a plot at very little expense, and with the title of a ryot holding direct from Government.

12. We have seen that the case against indentured emigration is, from the point of view of the moral and social welfare of the coolies, very strong: and from the material point of view, its advantages are not so considerable as is sometimes thought. We have now to consider, so far as the information before us permits, and so far as it is necessary at the present stage, what would be the effect on the colonies, were it abolished.

British Guiana.—The average number of coolies who entered the colony yearly up to 1905 was 3,500: and between 1905 and 1910, 2,200. In the year 1913, the colony took only 64 coolies from Madras and 1,276 from Calcutta. At the end of the year 1912, the resident Indian population was 129,389 out of a total of some 300,000. The injury to colonial interests, even if Indian emigration were stopped altogether, which we do not propose, would thus apparently not be fatal.

Trinidad.—The total population of this colony was estimated in 1907 at 338,000: the Indian residents at the end of 1912 were 117,100.

The average yearly emigration has been as under :—

1881-1891	... ...	2,500
1891-1901	... ...	2,100
1901-1908	... ...	2,700
1911	... ...	3,557
1912	... ...	2,637
1913	... ...	1,236

The number of adult labourers indented for and supplied during the last three years was as under :—

		Indented for.	Supplied.
1911	... ...	More than 3,200	3,557
1912	... ..	2,300	2,550
1913	... ...	1,089	1,188

The demand thus appears, on the whole, to be declining, and a further diminution of the supply, while it would no doubt affect the plantations adversely, could scarcely make plantation agriculture impossible.

Jamaica.—The total population is 830,000, of whom in 1908 the Indian element was stated to constitute 13,821, a number which showed a decrease of about 1,000 in 19 years. At the end of 1912, it is shown at the obviously estimated figure of 20,000. In 1913, only 824 indentured emigrants sailed for Jamaica. In 1914, there was no emigration. Here prohibition must be a matter of indifference to the colony.

Fiji.—The case is, however, very different in Fiji, where, at the end of 1913, the resident Indian population was 51,605. Between 1905 and 1910 about 8,000 coolies emigrated from India to the colony, and 2,200 returned. The subsequent figures have been—

Year.		Emigrated.
1911	... ...	4,204
1912	... ...	3,373
1913	... ...	3,222

By far the greater proportion of these were from Madras.

In view of the nature of the cultivation, which is mainly conducted by capitalist interests and consists of sugarcane and coconut plantations, of the declining numbers of native population, of the difficulty experienced in recruiting Polynesians to a sufficient extent, and of the scanty population of the island ; there is no doubt that any considerable diminution of the supply of Indian labour would be a very serious matter for the colony.

It would appear, in fact, that any diminution in the Indian labour supply which may reasonably be anticipated as the result of the proposals we are making in this despatch, can hardly affect Jamaica at all ; will not be a really grave matter in the case of Demerara and Trinidad ; and is only likely to need serious consideration in the case of Fiji.

13. We may now consider the position from the point of view of India herself. Including the figures of emigration to Surinam, the total Indian emigration on indenture to the tropical colonies during the year 1913 was—

Port of embarkation.		Number.
Madras	... ...	1,607
Calcutta	... ...	6,129
	Total ...	7,736

From an economic point of view, then, the interest of India as a whole in indentured emigration is negligible, and we need not meet the argument that colonial emigration is a safety-valve for congested districts in India.

It is, moreover, the case that in the same year, 117,783 unindentured coolies proceeded from Madras alone to the Straits Settlements, and 19[illegible],059 to Ceylon.

14. Conclusions.—In his despatch of 3rd January 1913, Lord Crewe stated that the Indian national sentiment against the stigma laid on the race by the existence of the indentured system ignored the advantages to the labourers themselves. We have attempted to show that the economic advantage gained by the coolie, while actually serving under indenture, is not so great as is often supposed; and that the real benefit, which he gains from emigration arises after the close of his indenture period, from the opportunities then before him of purchasing or leasing land or setting up in business and making himself a position as a settler. But whatever may be the extent of the economic advantage arising from the emigration of indentured labour, the political aspect of the question is such that no one, who has at heart the interests of British rule in India, can afford to neglect it. It is one of the most prominent subjects in Indian political life to-day: and its discussion arouses more bitterness, perhaps, than that of any other outstanding question. For Indian politicians, moderate and extreme, alike consider that the existence of this system, which they do not hesitate to call by the name of slavery, brands their whole race in the eyes of the British Colonial Empire with the stigma of helotry. How, they ask, will a European colonial ever admit us into the fellowship of citizens of the Empire, when he knows that men of our country and colour can be purchased for five years for five shillings a week? It is firmly believed also in this country, and it would appear, not without grave reason, that the women emigrants are too often living a life of immorality in which their persons are, by reason of pecuniary temptation or official pressure, at the free disposition of their fellow recruits and even of the subordinate managing staff. The feelings which these beliefs engender are strong. As far back as 1910, when moving a resolution in favour of the abolition of indentured labour in Natal, the late Mr. Gokhale mentioned the unanimous feeling of his party and of Indians in South Africa, that indenture should be abolished everywhere. A further debate on the general question took place in 1912, when the resolution brought forward by the same gentleman, though defeated, had the support of every Indian member of the Imperial Council. It is unnecessary here to trace the arguments brought forward in the mover's eloquent speech which are recorded in the debates of the Imperial Council, and are still used by Indian editors and politicians. The Government speakers on the other side admitted the existence of certain abuses, which it was believed could be largely remedied: but pressed the economic advantages to the coolie emigrants and denied that the indentured system could rightly be entitled slavery. Indian public opinion has strengthened and grown more articulate since the debate of 1912, while the favourable impression created on our minds by Lord Sanderson's Report, on which our defence of the system in 1912 was mainly based, has been considerably qualified, as has been indicated in the earlier paragraphs of this despatch, by the information which has subsequently been elicited by Messrs. McNeill and Chimman Lal.

15. On receipt of Messrs. McNeill and Chimman Lal's Report, we invited the opinions of Local Governments on its recommendations and on the general question whether indentured emigration to the colonies should be continued. The greater number of the Governments consulted have submitted their opinions, and we append copies of the letters marginally noted.

Although the report favoured the continuance of indentured emigration, while its recommendations referred only to the measures necessary for improving that system, it is noteworthy that the opinions of the Governments of the United Provinces, Madras and the Central Provinces (that of the latter Government conveyed in a memorandum by Sir B. Robertson, the Chief Commissioner), provinces which provide, practically speaking, all the indentured recruits that emigrate to the colonies to which this despatch relates, unanimously testify to the necessity of putting an end to indentured emigration altogether. The opinion of the Assam Administration is much to the same effect, in that they suggest the replacing of indentured emigration by a system of State-aided, but presumably free, emigration. The Bombay Government have no very decided views on the maintenance of indentured emigration which does not, however, directly concern them, as the Bombay Presidency sends, practically speaking, no emigrants to the colonies. We have still to receive reports from certain other provinces; these, however, have little immediate concern with the question and there are strong reasons for indicating our own attitude on this urgent and important question without further delay.

16. The feeling in India against indentured emigration has in no way diminished since the discussions of 1912, but has indeed gained force owing to the labour troubles in South Africa two years ago. We would also again point out that now that we have abolished in India what was considered by a large section of the intelligent public to be an abuse, it is becoming increasingly difficult for us to defend the retention of a similar system for the benefit of the colonies. We are of opinion that the moment has now arrived to urge His Majesty's Government to assent to the total abolition of the system of Indian indentured labour in the four British colonies where it still prevails and in Surinam; and thus to remove a social stigma which is deeply resented by educated public opinion in India, and exposes to hostile criticism the Government of India and His Majesty's Government in the sanction which they lend to a system entailing much unhappiness and moral degradation amongst certain classes of a population dependent on their care and protection. We can well understand that His Majesty's Government, with their heavy pre-occupations during the course of the war, may prefer to postpone the final settlement of the question till after the conclusion of peace. But in the meantime, to facilitate the preliminary discussions which will have to be undertaken with the colonies interested, we desire to submit the following preliminary suggestions on the general outlines of a scheme which, in our opinion, affords the most hopeful solution of the difficulties which we have pointed out, while causing as little disturbance to colonial interests as is compatible with the maintenance of our obligations to the classes of the Indian population concerned.

17. It is quite clear that the mere abolition of indentured emigration, a course which implies the refusal to allow any emigrant to leave the country under a contract, will not be sufficient. The result of this would be that recruiters would induce coolies to go without any agreement, but by the grant of advances, or by fraud, and the coolies on their arrival in the colony would be wholly at the mercy of its laws, and might be compelled to work out the advances which they had received, or were alleged to have received, by local labour laws with which the Government of India would have greatly weakened its power of interference. The mere abolition of indentured emigration, while it would remove what is in India considered a racial stigma, would not do away with the morally undesirable features of coolie life in the colonies, or with the abuses of contract recruiting in India, and yet these are stains from which British administration in India ought to cleanse itself. The introduction of a system of recruitment on sardari or kangani lines would, we admit, present difficulties in the case of distant colonies. It would be costly to arrange for the continuous voyage under proper conditions of small parties of coolies; and the system must, in any case, be freed from the bonds which the receipt of advances and the Ceylon enticement law attach to the kangani system. We think, however, that such difficulties can, and should, be met. One of the best features of the last mentioned system is the possibility which it holds out of improving the present abnormal sex ratio with its attendant evils, the removal of which is, in our opinion, an absolutely essential condition of whatever new system be introduced to take the place of indentured emigration. The system might be financed by the colonies through a tax on coolie-cultivated estates, or coolie-produced exports. There is no need for the individual planter to pay for the individual coolie, and so be led to consider that he has a right of property in him. The coolie should be at liberty to serve whatever master he chose, while if he desired to return to India, he would be called on to pay some share of the cost of his repatriation, a share which might vary with the nature of the circumstances and with the length of time he had served. The prospects of free emigration are not at present very hopeful, except so far as the Mauritius figures are concerned. The figures for free labour emigration during the past three years have been as under :—

	British Guiana.	Jamaica.	Trinidad.	Fiji.	Mauritius.
1911-12	19		62	16	...
1913-14	4		49	83	794

It would appear, then, on the whole, that an improved kangani system, under which a coolie was not bound by the receipt of advances or by the local law to serve on a particular estate, with a proper sex ratio, and confined to approved colonies, offers the most promising results. The present system of inspection, shipping, and sanitary regulations would have to be maintained. There is no doubt that the change, especially the insistence on a proper sex ratio, would lead, at any rate at first, to a considerable falling off in the number of emigrants. But, after all, it is not the duty of the Government of India to provide coolies for the colonies, but to insist that those who go there shall do so under conditions which are not repellent to educated Indian opinion, and which give the emigrant himself a chance to live a decent life under proper conditions, and to develop into a more desirable class of settler than the man who at present leaves the coolie barracks of a Fiji sugar estate at the expiry of his period of indenture. By a policy on these lines India will surely offer a more acceptable contribution to the cause of Imperial progress and unity than by a blind compliance with demands for the continuance of an evil system.

War Office,
25th September, 1916.

The following Despatch has been received by the Secretary of State for War from General Sir Archibald Murray, Commander-in-Chief, Egyptian Expeditionary Force :—

General Headquarters,
Egyptian Expeditionary Force,
1st June, 1916.

Sir,—I have the honour to submit a report on the operations of the Force under my command from the date on which I assumed command to the 31st May, 1916.

1. On 9th January, 1916, I arrived in Cairo, and, on the following day, took over the command of the Mediterranean Expeditionary Force from General Sir C. C. Monro, G.C.M.G., K.C.B., who had himself arrived from Mudros but a few days before. At that date the Mediterranean Expeditionary Force was in a state of transition as regards its larger component, the Dardanelles Army. On the night of the 8th-9th January this Army had completed its successful evacuation of Cape Helles; its units were still concentrated at Mudros and Imbros awaiting transport to Egypt, where all the Force, excluding the Salonica Army, had been ordered to concentrate. Meanwhile, a portion of the Force, which had been set free by the earlier evacuation of the Suvla Bay and Anzac positions, had already arrived in Egypt, where it had come under the command of General Sir John Maxwell, K.C.B., K.C.M.G. The concentration of the Australian and New Zealand Army Corps, for instance, was practically complete, and the 53rd Division was occupied in operations on the Western Frontier of Egypt. General Headquarters of the Mediterranean Expeditionary Force were temporarily established in Cairo.

The instructions which I had received from the Secretary of State for War placed under my command all organized formations then in Egypt, or on their way to Egypt, with the exception of such troops as might be considered necessary for the defence of Egypt and the Nile Valley against attack from the west, or for maintaining order in the Nile Valley and the Nile Delta. The function assigned to me was that of protecting Egypt against attack from the east, and the westward limit of my command was roughly fixed by a line running north and south approximately five miles west of the Suez Canal. The British Force at Salonica was also placed under my general supervision.

2. During the period under review, in addition to the extensive military preparations required for the defence of the eastern front, the amount of purely administrative work thrown on all sections of my Staff has been extremely heavy. The exigencies of the Gallipoli campaign had placed the Force under my command in a state of serious disorganisation. Some units were in Egypt, others on the sea, others in Ægean ports. It was not until the end of February that the last units of the Dardanelles Army reached Egypt. Every day for over six weeks ship loads of troops, guns, animals and transport were arriving at Alexandria and Port Said The components of this mass had to be disentangled and forwarded to their proper destinations; old units had to be re-organised, new units to be created, brigades, divisions, Army Corps to be re-formed. The British troops from Gallipoli were incomplete in personnel and material. It was urgently necessary to bring them up to strength, re-equip them, and provide them with train and mechanical transport on a modified scale. The Australasian troops also needed re-equipment, and, in their case, there was the additional problem of dealing with a mass of unabsorbed reinforcements. Further training of officers and men was an urgent necessity. Moreover, the embarkation of troops for service elsewhere began in February and continued without intermission till the end of April. To this work must be added not only the maintenance of my Force, both in Egypt and Salonica, with animals, supplies, ordnance stores, works material, and medical and veterinary stores, but also the provision and despatch of ordnance stores, works material, and supplies specially demanded for Basrah and East Africa.

The bulk of the work of disembarkation and embarkation, including the very heavy work of railway transport, fell upon the staffs of my Deputy Quartermaster-General and Inspector-General of Communications, to whom great credit is due. This work, together with the task of supplying and maintaining the troops operating on the eastern, and subsequently also on the western front, was efficiently carried out by the Ordnance, Supply and Transport, Remount, and Works departments.

As regards instruction, a training centre for Australasian reinforcements was started at Tel el Kebir and continued until it was decided that the Australasian training depôts should be transferred to England. Further, a machine gun school was formed at Ismailia which, after producing excellent results, was merged in the Imperial School of Instruction at Zeitoun. The latter institution, which came under my control after 19th March, has since been increased in size so as to train officers in all branches of warfare. Under its commandant, Lieutenant-Colonel the Hon'ble F. M. Colston, M.V.O., its work has been most valuable. Besides the ordinary courses for officers and non-commissioned officers, it holds machine gun, Lewis gun, signal and telephone, artillery, Stokes gun, and grenadier classes. Between 7th January and 31st May, 1,166 officers and 5,512 other ranks attended and passed in the various classes. A machine gun school was also started at Salonica.

Excellent work has been done by the signal service during this period. In the first place, it has efficiently carried out the work of refitting the signal units from the Peninsula, re-organising them to suit the conditions peculiar to Egypt, and training locally officers and men to fill the gaps and meet the increased demand for signallers and telegraphists. Ninety-four officers and 1,305 other ranks have been trained in these duties at Zeitoun and Alexandria this year. Secondly, it has had to provide intercommunication for troops engaged upon over 1,000 miles of front, which has involved the development of an unusually extensive net-work of military telegraphs. All the resource and engenuity of the service has been taxed to cope with the conditions peculiar to this field of operations—abnormal distances, unusual means of transport, desert, sand storms and mirage. Lastly it has substituted a military telegraph and telephone service for the civil system which, until this year, had been the only available means of communication throughout Egypt and was worked mainly by native personnel.

I would also specially mention the survey work that has been carried out since the arrival of the Mediterranean Expeditionary Force in Egypt. In addition to the standardisation, printing and issue of tactical maps of Sinai to the whole of the army on the eastern front, a new survey on a large scale of the Canal zone and certain areas east of our lines and advanced posts has been continuously carried on by the Topographical Section of the Intelligence Branch, working in close co-operation with the Royal Flying Corps. This survey, which has now been in process for nearly six months, is now approaching Qatia. I believe that the map based on this survey is the first map entirely constructed on this principle. The work was initiated by Mr. E. M. Dowson, Director-General, Survey of Egypt, who placed his resources at the disposal of the Mediterranean Expeditionary Force. The actual direction of the work has been in the hands of the Intelligence Branch of my General Staff, and is based on experience, gained in Gallipoli, of the production of trench maps from aeroplane photographs, controlled by ordinary field survey methods. Co-operation in this Survey has been part of the routine of the Royal Flying Corps.

These labours, most of which demanded the utmost despatch in their completion, were carried out concurrently with the conduct of more strictly military operations, to my report on which I will now proceed.

3. When I arrived in Egypt the intentions of the enemy as regards an attack on the Suez Canal were by no means certain. Though his new means of communication in southern Syria and Sinai, commenced with this end in view, were still in a backward state, he undoubtedly had at his disposal the troops, amounting to 250,000 men or more, necessary for such an attack. The adequate defence of the Canal was, therefore, a matter of serious importance. The outline of a scheme of defence had already been prepared; certain works were being constructed, railways and pipe-lines and roads commenced, and troops were being concentrated in the three sections of the Canal defences, which were based on Suez, Ismailia and Port Said respectively. A satisfactory agreement was arrived at between Sir John Maxwell and myself regarding the delimitations of our respective spheres of command and the troops to be allotted to him. On 22nd January General Headquarters opened at Ismailia.

My chief concern was now the defence of the Canal. The work on the stationary defences was backward. Difficulties of water-supply on the east bank were increased by shortage of piping; labour troubles had delayed the progress of roads and railways. Guns had still to be emplaced, and no part of the front defence line was actually occupied by troops. Nevertheless, as there were no signs of an imminent advance on the part of the enemy, the question of the stationary defences caused me no serious anxiety, though everything possible was done to hasten on their completion. The organisation of the offensive defence, which time has proved to be paramount, was, however, a pressing matter hitherto untouched Practically nothing had been done towards the organisation of mobile forces. The collection of a large number of riding and transport camels had to be undertaken at once and a plan of campaign to be devised. Moreover, time was short, for it was plain that any offensive on a large scale by the enemy must be commenced before the middle of March. For the force under my command the only possible line of advance was along the northern line from Qantara towards Qatia and El Arish, and the task was at once taken up of examining the possibilities of an offensive on this line and solving the problem of maintaining a considerable force at Qatia during the summer months. The result of these investigations is to be seen in my memorandum of 15th February addressed to the Chief of the Imperial General Staff, in which I stated that the first step towards securing the true base for the defence of Egypt was an advance to a suitable position east of Qatia and the construction of a railway to that place.

Up to the middle of February aeroplane reconnaissance was the only active military operation possible, owing to the need for reorganising the units of the Force and for pushing on the work of laying roads, pipe-lines and railways to enable an adequate force to be maintained on, and beyond, the front lines. The magnitude of the latter task may be judged from the fact that, during the period covered by this despatch, 114 miles of road, 154 miles of pipe-lines, and 252 miles of railway were laid. The work of the Royal Flying Corps, most actively and gallantly pursued, enabled me to keep the enemy's posts at Hassana, Nekhl and El Arish under close observation, and neither their reports nor those of the equally gallant and efficient Naval Air Service, which observed by seaplane the garrisons of southern Syria, showed any concentration of enemy troops for a big attack on the Canal. On February 16th the Russian Army entered Erzerum, inflicting a heavy defeat on the Turkish Army opposed to it. It seemed likely then that all the enemy's schemes for attacking the Canal in force must, for the present, fall to the ground, and such has proved to be the case. The garrisons in Syria were gradually reduced, until it was estimated that not more than 60,000 men were available for an attack on Egypt. During the latter half of February the work of reconnaissance beyond the front line began in earnest, especially in the northern section, where the 15th Corps partolled as far as Bir El Nuss and Hod Um Ugba, establishing the fact that the country was all clear and practically deserted. At this period, too, a reconnaissance was undertaken from Tor. This post and that of Abu Zeneima, both on the Sinaitic coast south of Suez, were then garrisoned by a battalion of the Egyptian Army—subsequently by the 14th Sikhs—and had, by arrangement with General Maxwell, come under my direction. The reconnaissance from Tor was undertaken against a concentration of a small body of the enemy at Wadi Ginneh, some miles distant from the coast. This minor operation was in every way successful, though the enemy had fled before their camp was reached, leaving behind their baggage, which was destroyed. The troops then returned without further incident.

4. From March onwards, the rapid embarkation of troops for France depleted my forces considerably. During this month the military operations on the eastern front, if not momentous, were satisfactory. On 6th March a very gallant and successful attack on Hassana was made by the Royal Flying Corps, which resulted in the destruction of the pumping station. Bomb attacks were made on Nekhl and other places in Sinai, and on 24th March Hassana was again attacked in force with bombs. In the northern sector, the preliminary steps were being taken for the advance to Qatia. Week by week permanent posts were pushed further ahead, special reconnaissances were made with a view to testing the water-supply, and the broad-gauge railway from Qantara to Qatia was being carried forward as fast as possible.

5. On 11th March I received instructions from the late Secretary of State for War that the command of the troops in Egypt was to be reorganised, and that I was appointed General Officer Commanding-in-Chief all the Imperial forces in this country, which added to my original command, the command held by General Sir John Maxwell. The preliminary details for carrying this change into operation were fixed at a conference with General Maxwell held on 13th March, and on 19th March I formally took over the whole command in Egypt, thus ending a system of dual control which had of necessity been unsatisfactory, especially from the point of view of economy. By this change I not only became responsible for the administration of martial law in Egypt and the maintenance of order throughout the Nile Valley and Delta, but I also succeeded to the direction of the operations against the Senoussi on the Western Frontier, which had very appropriately been brought to a triumphant period by General Maxwell by his victories which led to the occupation of Sollum on 14th March, the capture of Gaafer, the dispersal, with the loss of all his guns, of Nuri's force, and the recapture from the enemy of 90 British prisoners taken by hostile submarines. The unification of the command in Egypt made large economies in staff possible, and these were carried out at once. The Levant Base also ceased to exist, General Sir Edward Altham, K.C.B., remaining as Inspector-General of Communications. The work of reorganising the forces and staffs for the Delta and Western Frontier Force was pushed on as fast as possible. I decided to keep General Headquarters at Ismailia, and to establish at Cairo a General Officer Commanding the Delta District, who would also act as Commander of L. of C. Defences. For operations on the west I formed a Western Frontier Force, divided into two sections, a north-western and a south-western, divided by a line drawn east and west through Deirut. These staffs and forces were definitely established and at work by 1st April. The whole force under my command now took the name of Egyptian Expeditionary Force. Towards the end of March, at the request of the Sirdar, I undertook the responsibility for the defence of the reach of the Nile between Assouan and Wadi Halfa. Captain F. H. Mitchell, R.N., D.S.O., was sent for this purpose to make all arrangements for an armed naval patrol of this reach.

On 18th March, Captain H.R.H. the Prince of Wales took up his duties as Staff Captain on my Sta , remaining till his departure from Egypt on 1st May.

6. As soon as the conduct of operation on the Western Frontier devolved upon me, I took steps, in consultation with the various officers who were then best acquainted with the situation, to estimate the size of the hostile forces with which I should have to deal, and to determine the policy along this front of over 800 miles by which the Nile Valley could best be protected. It appeared from the information placed at my disposal that the Senoussi forces, spread over the whole western desert, did not exceed 3,000, and it was certain that the enemy's morale had been severely shaken by Sir John Maxwell's recent successful operations. The chief dangers, therefore, against which I had to guard were enemy raids upon the Nile Valley, the stirring up of native tribes that were inclined to be well disposed towards the Senoussi, and the creation of unrest in the Nile Valley and Delta among disaffected or nervous elements of the population. The chief end to be held in view was to prevent any local success on the part of the Senoussi.

On 15th April the Kharga Oasis, which had previously been reported by aerial reconnaissance and resident agents to be clear of the enemy, was occupied without incident. The movement of troops was effected by the existing light railway, and by the 18th April a force numbering 1,660 of all ranks was concentrated in the Oasis.

On the 27th April the small Oasis of Moghara was occupied. A strongly entrenched post has been constructed. The occupation of this post has materially assisted in preventing the passage of foodstuffs from the Nile Valley to the west, and denies the water to any enemy force attempting to move in the contrary direction.

During April frequent raids and reconnaissances, chiefly with a view to capturing concealed depôts of ammunition, were undertaken on the Western Front; in these enterprises our armoured and light motor-cars have been of inestimable value. On 7th April a detachment of four armoured cars, accompained by the machine-gun section of the 2-7th Middlesex Regiment, conducted a raid from Sollum upon an ammunition depôt at Moraisa, eighteen miles north-west of Sollum. After a very slight resistance from the guard of thirty Muhafzia, twenty-one boxes of 8·9 centimetre Mantelli gun ammunition and 120,000 rounds of small arms ammunition were taken and destroyed. On 11th April a motor-car reconnaissance found and removed eleven rifles and 7,000 rounds of small arms ammunition some twenty miles west of Sollum. On 23rd April an armoured car reconnaissance from Sollum discovered and brought in 140,000 rounds of small arms ammunition from a concealed depôt. On the 30th April a further 20,000 rounds were discovered and brought in to Sollum. During this month, also, four prisoners, including a Turkish officer, were captured sixty miles west of Minia, and two small camel convoys were captured near El Alamein. The light car patrols were responsible for all these captures.

7. During the month of April reconnaissance was active all along the Eastern Front, with the result that by the middle of the month all water-supplies of any importance within thirty miles of the Canal were patrolled by our troops, and mobile columns were ready to go out and deal with enemy parties approaching them, or, in the event of serious threat, to demolish the rock cisterns. In No. 1 Section, on 20th April, a patrol from Bir Mabeiuk came in contact with an enemy patrol, fifty strong, on the sand hills near the mouth of the Wadi Hamatha, some eighteen miles W. S. W. of Suez. A squadron and fifty rifles endeavoured to cut the enemy off, but he at once retired and scattered among the hills. Our casualties were two men killed. On 23rd April and the following days four columns, each composed of mounted troops and infantry, carried out reconnaissances of the approaches from the west to Ain Sudr and Sudr El Heitan. The columns returned to their respective posts on 26th April.

In No. 2 Section, on 27th March, the 2nd Australian and New Zealand Army Corps came into existence on the departure of the 1st Australian and New Zealand Army Corps to France. The Corps was commanded by Lieutenant-General Sir Alexander Godley, K.C.M.G., C.B., and consisted of the 4th Australian Division, commanded by Major-General Sir H. V. Cox, K.C.M.G., C.B., C.S.I., the 5th Australian Division, commanded by Major-General Hon'ble J. MacCay, V.D., and the Anzac Mounted Division, commanded by Major-General H. G. Chauvel, C.B.C. M.G. (attached). In this section, the wells at Moiya Harab and Wadi Um Muksheib having been brought into the regular patrolling area, a very successful reconnaissance to Jifjaffa was carried out between 11th and 15th April. The troops for this enterprise were a squadron of the 9th Australian Light Horse Regiment, accompanied by a detachment of Bikanir Camel Corps, and commanded by Major Scott, D.S.O., 9th Australian Light Horse. The objective was fifty-two miles from the starting point, and a jumping-off-place for the attack, eight miles south-west of the objective, was reached at 2-30 A.M. on 13th April. From here an attack was launched by three troops upon the enemy's position at 9 A.M. The enemy, cut off in their attempted retreat by the right flanking party of the attack, stood at bay on one of the hills above the village, and lost six men killed and five wounded before surrendering. One Austrian lieutenant of engineers and thirty-three other prisoners were captured, our own casualties being one man and one horse killed. The destruction of the enemy's camp was thoroughly carried out, a quantity of correspondence was taken, and the elaborate well-boring plant, which had been at work for five months, was completely demolished. The manner in which this operation was carried out was most creditable, both to the commander of the column and to all ranks composing it.

In conjunction with this reconnaissance, a mounted column was sent out in No. 1 Section to reconnoitre Bir el Giddi and the roads leading east from it. This force satisfactorily accomplished its mission, and, after an encounter with a hostile patrol, captured unwounded three armed Arabs.

In the Qatia District, where alone there is sufficient water-supply to maintain a large body of troops, preliminaries to the accomplishment of our ultimate aim—the permanent occupation of the well-watered zone radiating 15 miles east and south-east of Qatia—were steadily pushed on. On 2nd April, a squadron of the Gloucestershire Hussars under Lieutenant-Colonel Yorke, with a detachment of Bikanir Camel Corps, reconnoitred Bir el Abd, some 15 miles east of Qatia, met with no resistance, and burnt some tents and stores belonging to the enemy. On the following day, Bir Mageibra, 10 miles south-east of Qatia, was reconnoitred by the Worcestershire Yeomanry. On the 6th April Brigadier-General E. A. Wiggin, commanding the 5th Mounted Brigade, took command of the Qatia District, and was made responsible direct to the headquarters of No. 3 Section.

On 9th April, a further reconnaissance of Bir el Abd was undertaken by a squadron of Worcestershire Yeomanry, This time a strong party of enemy were found in possession of a ridge north-east of Bir el Abd. A sharp skirmish ensued when the Yeomanry attacked, and the enemy was driven eastwards from his position, but owing to the heaviness of the sand, it was impossible for our cavalry to keep up the attack, and after easily fending off an attempt at a flank attack, they withdrew unmolested. On 12th April, on orders being received for General Horne to proceed to France, Major-General The Hon. H. A. Lawrence took over the command of No. 3 Section.

By the 21st April, the railway towards Qatia had reached a point upon which a serious advance to hold the whole district could be based, as soon as the necessary dispositions could be made. On the 23rd, however, the enemy attempted to forestall any such advance by making a sudden raid in force upon Qatia. This operation, though comparatively small forces were engaged, produced the severest fighting yet experienced by the force under my command.

8. On 21st April, the 5th Mounted Brigade were disposed as follows:—The Worcestershire Yeomanry at Qatia, the Warwickshire Yeomanry, less one squadron, at Hamisah, 3 miles south south-west of Qatia, and Brigade Headquarters and the Gloucestershire Yeomanry at Romani, 6 miles north-west of Qatia. General Wiggin, commanding the Brigade, had received orders to dispose his Brigade in the Qatia District in such a manner as to protect all railway, topographical and water-survey parties, with special attention to the exploitation of the water-supply; also to observe the route eastwards towards Bir el Abd, but not to take any serious offensive measures without further orders. It had also been impressed on General Wiggin by the General Officer Commanding, No. 3 section, that, since it would take two days to reinforce him with infantry, he was, in the event of a heavy attack, to manœuvre back upon Dueidar, 13 miles from Qantara on the Qatia road, or upon the railhead near El Arais some 7 miles north-west of Qatia. On the evening of the 21st one squadron of Worcestershire Yeomanry moved into bivouac at Oghratina, 7 miles east-north-east of Qatia to cover an R. E. party detailed to prepare wells. On the 22nd another squadron of Worcestershire Yeomanry proceeded to Oghratina, being replaced in Qatia by a squadron of Gloucestershire Yeomanry, pending the arrival of one regiment of the Anzac Mounted Division, which had been ordered up from Salhia so as to reach Qatia on the 24th. The remainder of the 2nd Australian Light Horse Brigade was marching to arrive at Qantara on the 23rd.

In Qatia the squadron of Gloucestershire Yeomanry was covered by good trenches for some 50 or 60 men, and a number of smaller shelters afforded good covers. Their horses were picketed close to their camp.

The Officer Commanding the two squadrons of Worcestershire Yeomanry at Oghratina had been told to push on entrenchment as far as possible, and it was General Wiggin's intention that these squadrons, if attacked in force, should retire on Qatia and thence, if necessary, on Romani, with their left flank covered by the Gloucestershire Yeomanry and their right by the Warwickshire Yeomanry from Hamisah.

On the morning of the 23rd, both posts stood to arms at 4 A.M., and I have ascertained that patrols had gone out by that hour, though those at Oghratina were probably much hampered by a thick fog.

On the 22nd April, the Royal Flying Corps reported to No. 3 Section that new bodies of enemy troops were at Bir el Bayud, 15 miles east-south-east of Qatia, and Bir el Mageibra, 10 miles south-east of Qatia. Upon receipt of this information, General Wiggin obtained leave from General Officer Commanding, No. 3 Section, to attack the enemy at Mageibra that night, reporting that he intended to use two squadrons of Warwickshire, and the one remaining squadron of Worcestershire Yeomanry. General Wiggin, with Lieutenant-Colonel Coventry, commanding the Worcestershire Yeomanry, accompanied the raid to Mageibra. Finding very few enemy, they destroyed the camp and returned to Hamisah about 9 A.M. on the 23rd with six Turkish prisoners. In the meantime the post at Oghratina was attacked at 5-30 A.M. This attack was repulsed. No further information was received from the Officer Commanding at Oghratina until 7 A.M., when he reported that he was again heavily attacked on all sides. This attack carried the post, all the garrison of which were either killed, wounded, or captured. No details of the fighting have, therefore, been obtainable. Qatia itself was attacked about 9-30 A.M. Lieutenant-Colonel Coventry was detached with one squadron of Worcestershire Yeomanry from General Wiggin's Force to operate towards Qatia. Unfortunately, this squadron became involved in the unsuccessful resistance of the Qatia garrison, and, with the exception of some 60 men and one officer who were able to disengage themselves, fell with it into the hands of the enemy. I have therefore been able to gather no detailed information of the actual fighting at Qatia.

General Wiggin and Colonel Yorke, commanding the Gloucestershire Yeomanry at Romani, both showed great judgment in dealing with the situation, and did all that was possible with their small forces against the enemy force of about 2,500, with four guns of small calibre. General Wiggin pushed forward from Hamisah north-east against the enemy's left, south of Um Ugba, and drove him back for about a mile; the advance was slow owing to the nature of the ground and the determined resistance encountered. Colonel Yorke, after hearing that Dueidar was safe, moved his whole force at 10 A.M., to attack the enemy's right advancing on Qatia. He skilfully drove the Turkish right back to El Rabah, and caused their guns to shift their position further east. The enemy gave ground slowly, and, since, by 3-30 P.M., it was evident that Qatia had fallen, General Wiggin determined to fall back; he himself retired on Dueidar by way of Hamisah, Colonel Yorke on Romani; neither were followed. Meanwhile, at 5-30 A.M. a Turkish force, 1,000 strong, with one gun, advancing from the south, attacked Dueidar, the most advanced defensible post, which was held by 100 men of the 5th Battalion, Royal Scots Fusiliers, under the command of Captain Roberts, 5th Battalion, Royal Scots Fusiliers. This officer, who throughout showed conspicuous skill and ability, succeeded in repelling two determined attacks on the position at 6-30 A.M. and 8-30 A.M., respectively. Both attempts cost the enemy dear. At 9-30 A.M. reinforcements of two companies 4th

Royal Scots Fusiliers, under the command of Major Thompson, 4th Battalion, Royal Scots Fusiliers, who had been despatched from Hill 70, seven miles away, on the first news of the attack, arrived at Dueidar. The various posts were strengthened, and a counter-attack, delivered at 12-30 P.M. with great spirit, forced the enemy to retire, leaving 30 prisoners in our hands and 70 dead. The Turks were pursued in their retreat by the 5th Australian Light Horse, who had only arrived at Qantara at 1 P.M., and by aeroplanes, thereby suffering further loss. Besides the three and a half squadrons of Yeomanry and details lost at Qatia and Oghratina, our casualties on the 23rd were 2 officers and 18 men killed, 4 officers and 21 men wounded. Aeroplane reconnaissance on the evening of the 23rd established the fact that the enemy force, which included a large body of picked Turkish regular troops, was already retiring. At dawn on the 24th eight machines of the 5th Wing, Royal Flying Corps, made bomb and machine gun attack from a low altitude on the enemy troops left in Qatia, causing very heavy casualties and completely destroying the camp. One machine also located and attacked a large body of enemy at Bir el Abd, and located another party retiring on Bir el Bayud. On the morning of the 25th further bomb and machine gun attacks were made by the Royal Flying Corps on enemy forces at Bir el Abd and Bir el Bayud. Both attacks were extremely successful, working great havoc among men and animals. I cannot speak too highly of the admirable work done by the 5th Wing, Royal Flying Corps, during these few days. The strain thrown on pilots and machines was very heavy, and the former displayed the utmost gallantry and resource on all occasions. Chiefly through their efforts the enemy was made to pay a very heavy price for his partially successful raid. The general situation in front of No. 3 Section was not affected by these operations. Our cavalry continued to patrol the Qatia district, which was now practically clear of the enemy, while our infantry posts at Dueidar and Romani were strengthened, and the railway towards Romani was pushed on with all speed.

9. After 16th January, when General Sarrail assumed supreme control of the operations of the Allied Forces at Salonica, the British Force there commanded by Lieutenant-General Sir B. T. Mahon, K.C.V.O., C.B., D.S.O., only remained under my control for administrative purposes. From the beginning of January to the end of April no active operations of importance took place. The general line of defences remained practically unaltered. Some 200 miles of deep trenches, including communication trenches, 710 emplacements for guns, 230 reduits or strong posts, 160 miles of obstacles (barbed wire), and 1,300 miles of telegraph cable have been completed; and the defences as a whole are now quite ready for occupation should the situation demand it.

As in Egypt, so in Salonica, the administrative work has been extremely heavy. At the outset the state of the communications was very unsatisfactory. There were only two metalled roads leading to our lines, both in a shocking state of repair; the few existing tracks soon became impassable in wet weather for everything except pack animals. The construction and repair of roads had, therefore, to proceed simultaneously with the preparation of the defences. Roads in the forward area were all begun by the troops themselves, and all ranks worked admirably, the men thoroughly recognising the importance of the matter. Later, it was found possible to organise local civilian labour companies who have largely been employed to complete and maintain the road work begun by the troops. Altogether about 90 miles of new metalled cart roads have been constructed, and 105 miles of mule tracks, besides some 60 miles of repairs to previously existing roads and tracks. Railway extensions leading to the various depôts on the Monastir road, with the necessary sidings, have been constructed, and Decauville lines laid within the depôts themselves. Preparations have been made for further extensions. Another great difficulty, that of insufficient wharfage accommodation, has been met by the construction of new piers in the bay itself and at Skala Stavros. These have reduced the congestion to an appreciable extent and fully justified the labour and expense involved.

The supply system, though hindered at first by the state of the communications and by the fact that the equipment of the force with a special scale of transport was only in process of gradual completion, has worked with uninterrupted success. The health of the troops has been excellent, all ranks having benefited by hard physical work in good climatic conditions. In view of the approach of summer, when malaria is likely to prevail in certain districts through which our line passes, special precautions have been taken for the protection of the troops and, where possible, alternative positions prepared.

Throughout the period the importance of training the troops has been insisted upon. At first one day weekly was devoted to training, as opposed to road-making or work on the defences. This proportion has gradually risen to four days weekly, excluding one day of rest.

On 9th May, under orders from the War Office, Lieutenant-General G. F., Milne, C.B., D.S.O., succeeded Lieutenant-General Sir Bryan Mahon, K.C.V.O., C.B., D.S.O., in command of the Salonica Army. General Mahon sailed on the same date to take up command of the Western Frontier Force in Egypt.

10. In Egypt during the month of May there was no major operation to record. Intelligence received early in the month showed that the Turks had materially increased their numbers in Sinai, doubtless with the view of detaining troops in Egypt. The enemy's main concentrations were too far away for me to strike at them, and I was in hopes that he might be induced to cross the barrier of hills which extends from north to south some sixty miles from the Canal: he would then have been exposed to attack with the defiles behind him. However, he made no such advance, and, during the hot weather in the middle of May, there were indications that he was drawing in his advanced posts. On the 8th and 21st May enemy aircraft attacked Port Said with bombs, doing no material damage. On the first occasion three civilians were wounded; on the second two civilians were killed, five soldiers and thirteen civilians were wounded. In each case the attack was answered by prompt and successful retaliation by the Royal Flying Corps. In all sections of the Eastern front reconnaissances were frequent, particularly in No. 3 Section, to which were now allotted three brigades of the Anzac Mounted Division. During the month the Mahemdia-Romani district has been occupied in some force and at a conference, held on 17th May, at which General Lawrence, commanding No. 3 Section, was present, further decisions regarding the occupation of the Qatia district were arrived at.

During the month several successful reconnaissances to the east were made by the Anzac Mounted Division, which proved itself a unit upon which I could absolutely depend to display energy, resource and endurance. On the 8th May, starting early from Oghratina, the 2nd Light Horse Brigade reconnoitred to Bir el Abd with patrols pushed out to Hod Salmana. On the 16th May, a day of intense heat, the same brigade, starting from Hod el Sagia, five miles east-south-east of Qatia, reached Hod el Bayud, 15 miles on in the same direction, at 7 A.M. Camels and dismounted men were seen making off in a north-easterly direction. The enemy's camp was destroyed, and one prisoner, 36 camels, and a quantity of ammunition were brought in. The reconnaissance returned to Qatia, having covered 60 miles in 30 hours. During this time the Canterbury Mounted Rifles went out to Bir Abu Afein covering 40 miles in 30 hours.

On the 18th May a very successful bombardment of El Arish from the sea and the air was carried out. A sloop and two monitors of His Majesty's Navy bombarded the town, reducing the fort south-west of the town to ruins and damaging the aerodrome. The seaplanes of the Royal Naval Air Service then attacked with bombs, being followed later by 6 machines of the Royal Flying Corps, who had orders to attack any enemy aircraft that appeared and to bomb the enemy's camp and troops. The camps were effectively bombed, and three bombs exploded in the middle of a body of a thousand men who were on the march south of the town. A close reconnaissance of El Arish from the air was made, and many valuable photographs taken at the same time. All ships and aircraft returned safely On 22nd May, the Royal Flying Corps carried out a highly effective bombardment of all enemy camps on a 45 mile front roughly parallel to the Canal, during which severe damage was done to the waterworks at Rodh Salem and to buildings at El Hamma and Bir Mazar. On 23rd May, the 2nd Australian Light Horse Brigade reconnoitred Hod el Gedaidia, 15 miles east of Qatia, where shots were exchanged with a patrol of 40 men on camels, who retired. Finally, on 31st May, the New Zealand Mounted Rifles Brigade, one regiment of Australian Light Horse, and a sub-section of the Ayrshire Battery, R.H.A., attacked the enemy's post at Bir Salmana, 20 miles east-north-east of Qatia. The post was surrounded before dawn, and an enemy post on the Ganadil road was rushed, while a camel detachment was seen making off to the south-east. The enemy lost 15 men killed and 2 men captured. Our cavalry pursued till 8 A.M., when the pursuit was taken up by aeroplanes which bombed scattered parties with effect, killing 20 camels and 8 more men. The force returned, having covered 60 miles in 36 hours besides fighting an engagement. The only casualties were two men slightly wounded.

On the Western Front during May preliminary measures for the occupation of the Baharia Oasis have been in progress. A line of blockhouses has been established along the Darb el Rubi which runs due west from Samalut on the Nile. Four blockhouses were completed and occupied by 23rd May. Work on the two remaining blockhouses has been postponed till the railway has reached a point where it can materially assist in the supply of stores: this should be about the end of June. From the most advanced blockhouse it is now possible to reconnoitre as far as the Mohariq sand dunes, some 80 miles west of Samalut. The difficulty of maintaining such a line in a waterless desert subject to frequent and severe sand storms has not been small, but all ranks have worked well and with great keenness.

The enemy has a small body of troops, under the command of Nuri, collected on the Libyan side of the frontier west of Sollum, but as yet he has not openly displayed his intentions. Two battalions of Italian troops landed at Moraisa during the month and have occupied Bardia. The relations between the Italian and British commanders on the frontier are excellent. The area between Sollum and Barrani has been cleared of the Bedouin population, and, though it has been impossible entirely to prevent communication between the Bedouins and Siwa, the energy of our patrols, according to numerous reports, is successfully restricting the entry of food supplies into Siwa.

By means of patrols of Imperial Camel Corps and motor-cars, communication between the oases occupied by the enemy and the Nile Valley and Delta has been rendered almost impossible. In particular, the camel patrolling from Kharga towards Dakhla and Beris has been carried out most efficiently by No. 1 Imperial Camel Company under specially trying conditions. The Farafra, Baharia, Moghara and Wadi Natrun fronts have also been controlled with great vigilance.

The Aulad Ali tribes in Egyptian territory are now all west of Barrani, except for a receiving camp at Sollum. Markets have been established for the sale of food at Sollum, Mersa Matruh, Dabaa, El Hamman and Wadi Natrun, where they are allowed to purchase what is necessary for their daily needs. This restricts indiscriminate movement to the west on to the Delta.

In spite of the occupation, during very hot weather, of so many advanced posts in the desert or on its edge, I am glad to report that the health of the troops has been remarkably good. I much regret, however, that General Sir Bryan Mahon, shortly after his arrival in this country to take up the command of the Western Frontier Force, had to be invalided home owing to severe sunstroke. In the meantime, Major-General A. G. Dallas, C.B., has continued, with great ability, in temporary command of that force.

11. I beg to acknowledge with great respect the valuable assistance I have received from His Highness the Sultan of Egpyt. He has with great kindness placed at my disposal his unrivalled knowledge of affairs affecting his country.

To His Excellency the High Commissioner, Lieutenant-Colonel Sir A. H. McMahon, G.C.V.O., K.C.I.E., C.S.I., and to the Government of Egypt, I owe a deep debt of gratitude for whole-hearted co-operation and help.

I am very greatly indebted to Vice-Admiral Sir R. E. Wemyss, K.C.B., C.M.G., M.V.O., and the naval forces under his command for constant assistance and active co-operation.

The construction of roads, waterworks, and kindred tasks in connection with the Canal Defences, which I have described to you, owe their accomplishment in a very large measure to the admirable services of Colonel Sir Murdoch Macdonald, K.C.M.G., of the Public Works Department of Egypt. His wide experience and capacity have been an indispensable asset to me in dealing with these important problems.

I am particularly indebted to the Railway Department, under Colonel Sir George Macauley, K.C.M.G., R. of O., Royal Engineers, for the highly successful manner in which railway communication has been carried on under great difficulties. The movement of a large number of troops and impediments of an Army has severely taxed the capacity of the railway, and has put a great strain on its staff. That it never failed to accomplish what was desired is due to the high efficiency this Department has attained, and to the personal exertions of Colonel Sir George Macauley.

I wish to bring to your notice the very responsible and important duties that have fallen to my Director of Army Signals, Brigadier-General M. G. E. Bowman-Manifold, D.S.O., R.E., and to the admirable way in which he has discharged them.

Military operations on the two fronts have been spread over a very wide front, amounting to close on 1,000 miles in the west and 90 miles in the east. Prompt and reliable inter-communication has been a matter of vital importance.

In the successful achievement of this I beg also to bring to your notice the services of the Egyptian Telegraph Department under Lieutenant-Colonel J. S. Liddell, D.S.O., Royal Engineers, and to express my thanks to the Eastern Telegraph Company and the Telephone Company of Egypt, who have given my Director of Army Signals unceasing valuable help.

I beg to bring to notice the valuable services rendered to the Canal Defences by the representative and principal officer of the Suez Canal Company, Charles Comte de Serionne, Agent Superieur de la Compagnie du Canal de Suez, and by the staff of that company.

The arduous and important work of the care of the sick and wounded in the Hospitals has been considerably lightened by a large amount of voluntary aid. I wish specially to mention the work of the British Red Cross Society and Order of St. John of Jerusalem under Sir Courtauld Thomson, C.B.

The Nursing services, both English and Australian, have done admirable work, and the voluntary aid of the Sisters of Notre Dame de la Déliverance, working at the Australian Hospital at Alexandria, have been specially brought to my notice.

Finally, and in conclusion, I wish to bring to notice the admirable services of my Chief of the General Staff, Major-General A. L. Lynden-Bell, C.B., C.M.G., my Deputy Quartermaster-General, Major-General W. Campbell, C.B., D.S.O., and my Deputy Adjutant-General, Major-General J. Adye, C.B. No Commander-in-Chief has ever been more loyally served, and no staff has ever worked with less friction.

I have other names to bring to notice for distinguished and gallant service during the operations under review, and these will form the subject of a separate communication.

I have the honour to be,

Sir,

Your most obedient Servant,

A. J. MURRAY, General,

Commander-in-Chief,

Egyptian Expeditionary Force.

War Office,

London, S. W.,

25th September 1916.

The following despatches have been received by the Secretary of State for War from the Commander-in-Chief, Egyptian Expeditionary Force:—

General Headquarters,

1st July 1916.

SIR,

In accordance with the closing paragraph of my despatch of 1st June 1916, I have the honour to submit a list of names of those officers, non-commissioned officers and men whose services I consider deserving of special mention, and I beg to recommend them to your notice.

I will, at a later date, submit to you a further list of names of officers, non-commissioned officers and men, belonging to the Salonika Army, whom I desire to mention in despatches and recommend for reward.

I have the honour to be,
Sir,
Your most obedient Servant,

A. J. MURRAY, General,
Commander-in-Chief,
Egyptian Expeditionary Force.

NOTIFICATION.

A State Scholarship of £200 or £250 per annum for European and Anglo-Indian Boys domiciled in India.

APPLICATIONS are invited for the above scholarship for the year 1917. The scholarship will be awarded for the purposes of general study and will be tenable for three or four years in the United Kingdom or, with special sanction, in foreign countries. It carries with it no conditions as to any subsequent career or service under Government, and no expectations of such employment are held out. The value of the scholarship will be £250 when held in a College at Oxford or Cambridge; otherwise £200.

2. The scholar will be selected by the Government of India from among the candidates nominated by the Local Governments. Intending candidates are requested to forward their applications to the Inspector of European Schools, Bengal, No. 285, Bowbazar Street, Calcutta, from whom further particulars may be obtained, in time to reach the Director of Public Instruction not later than the 1st February 1917. The application should be accompanied by (1) evidence of the candidate having passed the European High School Examination or obtained a degree of an Indian University; (2) a certificate of the candidate's age being over 18 years and under 21 years on the 31st March 1917; (3) a medical certificate of physical fitness to undergo a course of study abroad; (4) a certificate from some person of recognised position well acquainted with the candidate, to the effect that he is a native of India within the meaning of Statute 33 Vict., cap. 3, section 6; and (5) full details, including the name and occupation of the candidate's father and place of birth, a summary of his academic career in India, and a statement of the course of study proposed to be followed in the United Kingdom.

3. The term "Native of India" in paragraph 2 above is not to be interpreted as excluding a person who, though born in a Native State or temporarily residing in a Native State, is domiciled in British India.

4. The selected scholar will be provided with a second class passage to England, and also with second class return passage if he carries out the instructions of the Secretary of State and completes the full period of residence, or is compelled by sickness to return within that period.

THE INDIAN LAW REPORTS.

CALCUTTA, MADRAS BOMBAY AND ALLAHABAD.

THE Indian Law Reports, published under the authority of the Governor-General in Council are printed in monthly Parts, which are issued, as soon as possible after the first of each month, at Calcutta, Madras, Bombay and Allahabad, respectively.

The Reports comprise four Series—one for the Calcutta High Court, a second for the Madras High Court, a third for the Bombay High Court, and a fourth for the Allahabad High Court.

The cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from each High Court are reported in the Series for that High Court. Cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from Provinces in India not subject to any High Court are reported in the Calcutta series.

The Calcutta Series is distributed by the Bengal Secretariat Book Depôt: and the Madras, Bombay and Allahabad Series are distributed direct from Madras, Bombay and Allahabad, respectively.

Persons desiring to subscribe for or purchase the Reports should apply to—the Officer in charge Bengal Secretariat Book Depôt, Calcutta, or the Superintendent, Government Press, Madras, or the Superintendent, Government Central Press, Bombay, or

the Curator of Government Books, United Provinces of Agra and Oudh, Allahabad.

DEPARTMENT OF STATISTICS, INDIA.

CALCUTTA TRADE FLUCTUATIONS.

THE following tables are intended to show the trade of the Calcutta Block* in certain selected articles during the months of April to August 1916 by all routes, i.e., by rail, river, canal, road and sea. The statistics have been compiled from returns furnished by the Collector of Customs, Calcutta, Railway Audit Offices, Steamer Companies, the Commissioners for the Port of Calcutta, the District Magistrates of the 24-Parganas and Howrah, and the Assistant Engineer, Calcutta Canals.

* Calcutta block consists of the town of Calcutta with Howrah and Kidderpore Docks.

General Summary.

Imports.—The imports of rice including paddy into Calcutta by rail, river, canal, road and sea (coastwise) during April to August 1916, amounted to 6,795,422 maunds as against 12,466 095 maunds in the corresponding period of the preceding year—a decline of 45 per cent. There was a slight increase in the imports of coal and coke (46,139,854 maunds as against 45,049,492 maunds last year). The arrivals of Indian cotton piece-goods showed considerable improvement, the total value amounting to Rs. 1,80,08,443 as against Rs. 67,53,583 in 1915. The quantity of indigo imported during the five months ending August 1916, rose by 205 per cent. (1,916 maunds as against 628 maunds last year) owing to larger supply having been received from Bihar and Orissa. Imports of raw jute amounted to 945,382 bales—a fall of 53 per cent., while the importations of gunny-bags showed a large increase, 165 million bags against 134 millions in the preceding year. The total imports of oilseeds rose by 38 per cent. (4,499,252 maunds against 3,263,427 maunds), and those of sugar by 6 per cent. (275,920 maunds against 263,568 maunds). There was a decrease in the imports of tea (1,319,744 maunds in 1915 to 983,639 maunds in 1916).

Exports.—The despatches of cotton piece-goods. Foreign from Calcutta by all routes increased by 11 per cent. (Rs. 8,43,44,506 as against Rs. 7 58,42,690 last year). The exports of gunny-bags including the exports by sea to foreign countries increased from 543 million bags to 569 million bags. Shipments of gunny-bags to foreign countries other than the United Kingdom declined by about 25 million bags in the period under review, and those to the United Kingdom increased by 49 million bags. The quantity of kerosine oil despatched from Calcutta and Budge-Budge by internal routes and by sea (coastwise) rose from 2,906,304 maunds to 2,951,846 maunds.

Overseer:

Babu Niranjan Mukherji :

Clerk:

Babu Tarak Chandra Chatterji.

Gate Clerk:

Babu Panchanan Mukherji.

The following is a list of the menial staff of the garden at the end of 1915-16:—

8 durwans.
1 head keeper.
19 keepers.
3 bhistis.
1 cook.
1 head gardener.
11 gardeners.
3 sweepers.
1 chaprasi.
1 carpenter.
2 cartmen.
1 syce.
1 scythe-man.

Besides those, a number of temporary labourers were engaged during the year.

3. BUILDINGS.

During the year under report various improvements were carried out, the most important of which comprised the following:—

(1) Retiring-rooms for Indian visitors.—The want of proper retiring-rooms for Indian visitors to the garden was keenly felt for a long time and it was decided to build up-to-date retiring-rooms for Indian ladies and gentlemen. The rooms have been built on approved lines with all sanitary improvements and will meet the requirements of the visitors.

The cost of construction was met from a generous donation by Babu Ambica Charan Law, a member of the Committee of Management of the Garden.

(2) Roofing of Deer Paddock.—The wooden roofing of one of the houses of the deer paddock overlooking the public road having become rotten, it was thoroughly overhauled and galvanised sheeting was put over the planks.

(3) Crocodile Pool.—The gravel path round the Crocodile Pool became a cause of considerable trouble and annoyance to the inmates of the pool. Mischievous visitors used to take a handful of gravel and throw them on the reptiles and every morning a basketful of gravel was collected. To put a stop to this state of things, the path was covered with patent stone and the inmates are now safe from further molestation.

(4) Murshidabad House.—The brick-on-edge flooring and the side walls of the outer enclosure of the Murshidabad House settled down, being situated in close proximity to the big lake and it was apprehended that the northern portion would collapse. It was, therefore, decided that steps should be taken to prevent this. The foundation of the wall was laid deeper and blocks of stone were set and brick stays were constructed. The bank of the lake was lined with trees and earthwork done. The floor was dismantled and a 4-foot concrete was laid and brick-on-edge floor over a brick flat was provided for.

(5) Drainage.—Much drainage work was undertaken during the year. The northern portion of the garden and the main drive could not be kept in an up-to-date condition for want of proper drainage. It was decided to construct hydrants along the main drive from the Small Carnivora House to the Burdwan House. The unfiltered water-supply in the Burdwan House circle was also far from satisfactory. The whole system was thoroughly overhauled and new pipes were laid.

(6) Birch Hill Park, Darjeeling.—The aviary which had been erected at Darjeeling for the reception of Himalayan animals prior to their despatch to Calcutta was removed to Birch Hill Park from "Rockwood", the residence of the late Mr. F. E. Moller, Vice-Chairman, Darjeeling Municipality. It is a spacious aviary, being 20′ × 10′, divided into three portions. Thanks are due to the Conservator of Forests and the Forest Department, Darjeeling, for kindly taking charge of it.

As the repairs to the buildings could not be taken in hand last year, they needed repairs badly during the year under report. They were therefore carried out on an extensive scale.

The following is a list of the more important repairs executed :—

(1) Entrance lodge and office.—The office rooms were whitewashed, the ceiling was repainted and woodwork repaired and repainted. The gates were repainted. There are considerable repairs to be done to the roofing which is leaking and which will cost a good deal of money. It is hoped to take the work in hand next year.

(2) Dumraon House.—Inside walls were lime-washed and outside colour-washed. Iron- and woodwork was painted. The iron gratings of some of the inner cages require renewing and the work will be taken in hand next year.

(3) Crocodile Pool.—The railing round the pool was painted.

(4) Peafowl Pavilion.—Wire-netting was repaired and ironwork repainted.

(5) Dalgola House.—Inside walls were lime-washed and outside colour-washed. The iron partition fencing of one of the enclosures which was broken down by a falling tree after a storm was repaired and wire-netting repaired in many places.

(6) Paddocks,—The iron fencing of the paddocks and partitions were repaired and coal-tarred. The kiosks were repaired and repainted.

(7) Barking Deer Enclosure.—The ground being low was under water during the rainy season. It was raised and the shed was thoroughly overhauled and painted and a dwarf wall was built round it.

(8) Sonebursa Enclosure.—Inside walls were lime-washed and outside colour-washed. Repairs were done to the surface drain and the ground was raised. The woodwork was repaired where necessary and was painted.

(9) Rhinoceros Enclosure.—The house was repaired and colour-washed and the dwarf wall and fencing painted.

(10) Crane Enclosure.—The wooden sheds were absolutely worn out and required thorough overhauling. They were accordingly repaired and repainted and the iron- and wire-fencing repainted.

(11) Murshidabad House.—Inside walls were lime-washed and outside colour-washed. Some of the glass panes were replaced and wire-netting repaired.

(12) Sarnomoyi House.—Thorough repairs were done to this house. The sand plaster and the woodwork of the inner houses were considerably damaged by mischievous parrots and roseate cockatoos. These were repaired. The wire-netting of the outer and inner enclosures became weak at places, due to corrosion and it was repaired.

(13) Antelope House.—Iron-and woodwork was repainted and wire-netting repaired and portions renewed.

(14) Small Carnivora House.—The inside walls were lime-washed and ironwork repainted. The iron gratings of some of the cages were weak at the bottom and it was thought advisable to replace them, which was done The iron partitions between the cages having corroded at the bottom, the bottom pieces were changed.

(15) Bird of Prey House.—The ironwork was repainted.

(16) New Bear House.—Inner walls were lime-washed and outside colour-washed.

(17) Wild Dog House.—The front grating was replaced by a new one. The house was repainted.

(18) Cooch Behar House.—Repaired and lime-washed. The iron gratings of the cages were repainted.

(19) Hippo Enclosure.—The house was repaired and repainted and the outer enclosure colour-washed.

(20) Tapir Enclosure.—Inside lime-washed and outside colour-washed.

(21) Ezra House.—Inner portion was lime-washed and outside colour-washed. The iron and woodwork repainted.

(22) Burdwan House.— Extensive repairs were done to the Burdwan House. The outer and inner dens were repaired and lime-washed and outside walls colour-washed. The iron- and woodwork was repainted. The broken glass panes were replaced by new ones.

(23) Schwendler House.—Inside walls were lime-washed and outside colour-washed. Iron- and woodwork repainted.

(24) Refreshment Pavilion.—Woodwork and ceiling painted. The tiled roof which was leaking was repaired. The furniture was polished.

(25) Rodent House.—Inside walls were lime-washed and outside colour-washed. The ridges over the tiles were repaired. The wire-nettings of the outer enclosure were renewed at the bottom.

(26) Retiring-rooms.—Inside walls were lime-washed and woodwork repainted and furniture polished.

Besides the above, petty repairs of smaller houses, sheds and enclosures were attended to. The repairs of roads were carried out as usual. The main drive was remetalled at places and roads and garden paths were repaired and gravelled.

4. VISITORS.

There was a slight increase in the attendance of paying visitors during the year, the turnstile records indicating a total of 598,024 visitors, and showing an increase of 38,265 over the figures for 1914-15. The following is a comparative table of visitors for the last three years:—

Year.	Visitors.	Year.	Visitors.	Year.	Visitors.
1913-14 ...	704,982	1914-15 ...	559,759	1915-16 ...	598,024

5. FINANCE.

Corresponding with the increase in the number of visitors, the gate receipts increased by Rs. 2,063-12 as will appear from the following statement:—

Year.	Receipts. Rs. A.	Year.	Receipts. Rs. A.	Year.	Receipts. Rs. A.
1913-14 ...	53,913 11	1914-15 ...	42,269 1	1915-16 ...	44,332 13

The financial condition of the garden has been on the whole satisfactory, though the cost of food-grains, etc., has considerably risen and though the gate receipts have come down on account of the European war.

The amounts of income and expenditure are summarised in Appendix A.

A large number of children under 4 years of age and school children attended by their teachers were admitted free. On the day of the Fancy Fair about 7,000 people entered the garden. Besides these, 60,546 persons visited the garden on the free days. A list of free days with the number of visitors is given in Appendix C.

6. GARDEN.

The Floricultural Department was carefully attended to and the display of flowering plants and evergreens continued to be a most attractive feature. The ornamental part of the garden, such as lawns, flower beds, shrubberies, etc., was kept in the best possible condition. Flowering annuals were exhibited at the monthly shows held by the Agri-Horticultural Society of India and the Superintendent was awarded a bronze medal for some very fine exhibits.

CONCLUSION.

The thanks of the Committee are due to the ladies and gentlemen who have added to the collection of the garden by their donations, a list of which is given in Appendix D. Thanks are also due to those who kindly offered to present animals to the garden, but whose offers could not be accepted, either because the particular species of animals was already sufficiently well represented, or owing to the want of accommodation.

The Committee also desire to express their sincere thanks to various railway and steamer companies for conveying animals belonging to the garden free of charge and in particular to the East Indian Railway Company, Eastern Bengal Railway, Bengal-Nagpur Railway Company, Oudh and Rohilkhund Railway, Bengal and North-Western Railway Company, Darjeeling-Himalayan Railway, British India Steam Navigation Company, India General Steam Navigation and Railway Company and the Rivers Steam Navigation Company.

S. C. BERRIDGE,
Honorary Secretary.

F. J. MONAHAN,
President.

SUPERINTENDENT'S REPORT.

I HAVE the honour to submit the following report on the existing condition and the progress of the menagerie of the garden.

The following comparative table shows how the various collection of animals in the garden stood during the last four years :—

Year.	Mammals.	Birds.	Reptiles.	Year.	Mammals.	Birds.	Reptiles.
1912-13	... 341	1,188	150	1914-15	... 334	1,893	246

REPORT ON THE STATE OF THE SALT MARKET FOR THE SECOND QUARTER OF THE YEAR 1916-17.

FINANCIAL DEPARTMENT.

SEPARATE REVENUE BRANCH (SALT).

No. 2456 S.R.

Dated Calcutta, the 29th November 1916.

THE following report on the state of the salt market for the second quarter of the year 1916-17, comprising the months of July. August and September 1916, in the Presidency of Bengal, is published for general information.

2. The quantity of salt of every description cleared during the quarter amounted to 2,655,2 2 maunds (including 1,768,735 maunds issued under the credit system), as compared with 2,815,838 maunds (including 2,176,478 maunds issued under the credit system) in the previous quarter and 3,497,656 maunds (including 2,434,089 maunds issued under the credit system) in the corresponding quarter of the previous year. The net amount of duty levied was Rs. 30,34,977 (including Rs. 20,03,629 adjusted under the credit system), as against Rs. 33,14,308 (including Rs. 25,44,082 adjusted under the credit system) in the previous quarter, and Rs. 32,66,583 (including Rs. 23,29,476 adjusted under the credit system) in the corresponding quarter of the previous year.

3. The subjoined table I shows in detail the importations into the port of Calcutta and the total clearances of sea-imported salt during the quarter, compared with the figures of the corresponding quarters of the two previous years :—

(a) Inclusive of 1,768,785 maunds of salt issued under the credit system. Besides this quantity 25,080 maunds of salt were issued under the credit system to inland bonded warehouses.

Compared with the corresponding quarter of the previous year and the same quarter of 1914-15, importations were less by 30·91 and 2·00 per cent., respectively, but clearances were less by 22·54 per cent., and more by 9·81 per cent., respectively. As compared with the corresponding period of the previous year, the increased imports from the United Kingdom, and decreased imports from Port Said, Spain, Aden and Massowah are especially noticeable.

4. Table II shows the quantity of sea-imported salt remaining in the warehouses at the close of the quarter as compared with the preceding four quarters :—

DISTRICT REPORTS ON WEATHER AND CROPS

For the week ending on the 4th December 1916.

Summary.—The week under review was rainless. Reaping of winter paddy and sowing of pulses, potatoes, mustard and other spring crops are progressing satisfactorily. The outturn of winter paddy is expected to be good. The prospects of sugarcane and other standing crops are reported to be satisfactory on the whole. Cattle-disease prevails in four districts. The average price of common rice for the province has perceptibly decreased with the advent of the new crop into the market.

DECLARATION.

No. 5221Com.—The 4th December 1916.—Whereas certain land was acquired by the Government of Bengal, under the provisions of Act 1 of 1894 and Act XVIII of 1885, for a public purpose, viz., for such portion of the Prankissen assisted siding of the East Indian Railway, as lies between chain 31·50 and chain 39·75, such land being edged with pink on the plan L. A. M. A. No. 310, and whereas coal mines are situate under the said land, and whereas Babu S. Chowdhury has given notice to the Government of Bengal, in accordance with the provisions of Act XVIII of 1885, that he intends to work the Jotejanaki seam, and whereas the mines have been inspected by the officer appointed by the Government of Bengal for the purpose under section 5 (1) of Act XVIII of 1885, and whereas it appears to the Government of Bengal, that the working out of the coal of the mines underlying the said land is likely to cause damage to the surface of the said land and to the works constructed thereon, and whereas the said Babu S. Chowdhury has agreed not to work and get minerals underlying the land acquired for their siding or underlying the land acquired for the branch or other lines with which the siding is connected or underlying the land of the branch or branches connecting the said siding with the main line, in such a manner as to injure or to endanger the safety of the undertaking or any part thereof, nor to claim any compensation for any restricted working:

Now, therefore, the Governor in Council is pleased to declare, under section 5, sub-section (2), clause (b) of the abovementioned Act XVIII of 1885, that the working shall be carried on by the said Babu S. Chowdhury in the manner and subject to the restrictions below specified, viz :—

1. Galleries shall be driven only in the approximate direction of the red centre lines AB, CD, EF, GH, JK, EL, MN and OP on the plan. The galleries JK, EL, MN and OP shall not exceed 10 feet in width by 10 feet in height and the remaining galleries shall not exceed 12 feet in width by 12 feet in height.

NOTE.—The lines EF and GH are lines drawn in the direction of the dip of the seam from the centres of the galleries Y and Z. The lines JK, EL, MN and OP are drawn to fit in with 45 feet centres from Y and Z.

2. Manholes not exceeding six feet in height by three feet in width by four feet in depth may be made where required by any rules made under the Indian Mines Act, 1901.
3. Any inrush of water, quicksand or soft material shall be reported to the Chief Inspector of Mines without delay.
4. The restrictions apply to the Jotejanaki seam only and to the area edged with pink on the plan, and Babu S. Chowdhury shall give notice, under section IV of the Land Acquisition (Mines) Act, 1885, of their intention to work any other seam under such area or to work coal under any other area of acquired land.

The plan marked L. A. M. A., No. 310, signed by the Chief Inspector of Mines, may be seen in the office of the Chief Inspector of Mines in India by the parties concerned.

J. H. KERR,

Chief Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

CALCUTTA POLICE.

NOTIFICATION.

Draft Rules for regulating Traffic on the occasion of the Departure of Ocean-going vessels from the Pontoon at Outram Ghât.

The following draft of rules, which the Commissioner of Police intends to make under clauses (b) and (c) of section 62 of the Calcutta Police Act (Bengal Act IV of 1866), with the previous sanction of the Governor in Council, is published for the information of persons likely to be affected thereby.

2. The draft will be taken into consideration on or after the 6th January 1917, and any objection or suggestion received by the undersigned before that date will be duly considered.

Draft Rules.

On the occasion of the arrival or departure of any ocean-going vessel from the Pontoon at Outram Ghât the following rules shall be observed :—

(1) All vehicles of intending passengers and their friends shall be parked in a double line by the side of the west footpath of the Strand Road facing north. The line shall begin from a point at least ten yards distant from the south side of the entrance to the Pontoon.

(2) The north and south gangways to the Pontoon shall be used by duly-licensed or authorised baggage coolies.

(3) No person shall be allowed on to the Pontoon until the vessel approaching the Pontoon has been made fast.

(4) Only passengers and licensed baggage coolies shall be allowed on the deck portion of the Pontoon and other persons accompanying passengers shall proceed upstairs on to the verandah.

R. CLARKE,

Commissioner of Police, Calcutta.

MARINE DEPARTMENT.

The 4th December 1916.

No. 117Marine.—In exercise of the power conferred by section 36 of the Indian Steamships Act, 1884, the Governor in Council, with the previous sanction of the Governor-General in Council, is pleased to make the following amendments in the rules to regulate the granting of certificates of competency to Engineers of sea-going steamships, which were published under the notification of this Department, No. 172Marine, dated the 30th December 1913.

F. A. A. COWLEY,
Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

AMENDMENTS TO THE REGULATIONS RELATING TO THE EXAMINATIONS OF ENGINEERS.

Paragraph 19.—Add the following :—

Failure in a number of elementary questions involving fundamental principles, or in questions ignorance of which might lead an Engineer to do something actually unsafe in the management of any part of a ship's machinery, will be regarded as failure in practical knowledge.

Paragraph 28.—Add the following :—

Each candidate who claims remission of sea service on account of attendance at a recognized Marine Technical School must produce his class notebooks when he makes application to be examined.

These books will be forwarded to the Examiner, in order that he may satisfy himself that the candidate has followed the approved course of instruction, and that the remission of sea service claimed may be allowed accordingly.

Application for examination of candidates claiming remission of sea service should, as a rule, be made at least a week before they desire to sit.

A list of the Marine Technical Schools recognised for this purpose is given in Appendix J.

Paragraph 31.—Add the following :—

This paragraph applies only to works at which the making and of repairing of steam-engines, boilers, etc., forms part of the regular business for which the works exist. Service at works where the repairing of steam-engines, boilers, etc., is merely incidental to the running of plant, however large, which is used for the production of power for other machinery, etc., should be dealt with under paragraph 33, each case being considered on its merits.

Insert after paragraph 33—

Service in Colonial and Foreign Workshops.—Paragraphs 31 to 33 apply to service in the United Kingdom and India only. Service in a Colonial or foreign workshop will not be accepted unless the Examiner is satisfied in each case that its value is substantially equivalent to that of service in the United Kingdom and India. In cases where the Examiner is not satisfied that the value is equivalent, he will refer the matter for decision.

Workshop service in India is to be taken as equivalent to not more than four-fifths of the same period of service in the United Kingdom.

Paragraph 34.—Add the following:—

Time spent in attending evening classes in Engineering at approved Technical Schools will similarly be allowed to count under the following conditions :—

(1) Each candidate claiming an allowance for time spent in attending evening classes at a Technical School must produce a certificate signed by the Principal of the School to the effect that he has attended regularly at a definite class or classes, which should be specified, and has made satisfactory progress. This certificate must also state the total number of hours spent by the candidate in attending each class.

(2) Time spent by the candidate in attending such classes as have a direct bearing on the training of a Marine Engineer will be reckoned at the rate of five hours to one day. The total number of days so obtained will then be accepted in lieu of a certain fraction of the same period of workshop service. This fraction will be fixed for each school at the time of approval and will generally be two-thirds.

(3) A candidate who has attended a Technical School in the evening, while being employed as an apprentice or journeyman Engineer during the day, must, in order that the school time may be accepted, produce satisfactory proof that he has spent the full working day in the works, at which he is employed, before attending the school. Such proof will usually take the form of a statement in the testimonial as to workshop service given by the employer.

(4) Allowance will only be given for classes attended after the candidate has reached the age of 15.

Paragraph 44.—Add the following :—

Where an Engineer is employed on a fishing or other vessel and is required to do stoking or other work not usually performed by an Engineer in the Mercantile Marine, such service cannot be accepted as qualifying.

The Examiners of Engineers will in all cases satisfy themselves that service on fishing boats, when claimed as qualifying for a certificate as Engineer, is of a similar nature to that performed by Engineers in the Mercantile Marine.

Paragraph 48.—Add the following :—

It is not necessary for applications of Chief Engine-room Artificers and Mechanicians, who have left the Royal Navy and who desire to be examined for certificates of competency as Engineers in the Mercantile Marine, to be forwarded either through their Commanding Officers or through the Admiralty. Men who are still serving in these ratings in the Royal Navy should make their applications through their Commanding Officers.

Artificer Engineers, however, being Warrant Officers, should make their applications in the same manner as that laid down for other officers of the Royal Navy.

Appendix J.—Substitute the following :—

The following is a list of Technical Schools attendance at which is recognised by the Government as affording remission of some period of the service required to qualify a candidate for examination for a certificate of competency as Engineer.

(I) Day Classes.

When nothing is stated to the contrary, time spent in attending the day classes in Mechanical Engineering of a recognised Technical School is accepted as equivalent to artisan service at the ratio of three years of the former to two of the latter, provided the applicant was over 15 years of age and can produce the Principal's certificate for continuous and regular attendance at all the approved classes and for satisfactory progress. Such time cannot as a rule be accepted as equivalent to more than two years' artisan service.

(III) Marine Technical Schools.

When nothing is stated to the contrary time spent at a Technical School recognised as suitable for the training of Marine Engineers will, subject to the provisions laid down in paragraph 28 of the Regulations, be allowed to count as sea service in the ratio of three months at the Technical School to two months at sea, time so spent not to be accepted as equivalent to more than one-sixth of the total sea service required for a certificate.

Name of School or Institution.

Greenock	... Watt Memorial School, Greenock.
South Shields	... The Marine School, South Shields.

TEMPORARY MODIFICATIONS IN THE REGULATIONS APPLYING ONLY DURING THE WAR.

Service under the Admiralty.—All service afloat during the war in His Majesty's ships or in auxiliary supply ships or any other ships in attendance on the Fleet will be accepted in full (subject to the ordinary conditions as laid down in the Government's Regulations) as qualifying sea service for the purpose of the Government's examination of Engineers.

The Government cannot undertake to accept the whole or any definite proportion of service in the Royal Naval Reserve, which is not qualifying service in accordance with the Regulations, but they will be prepared to consider sympathetically an application for examination from a candidate who has been prevented by his service in the Royal Naval Reserve from complying fully with the Government's requirements. This may be taken as applying to service in the engine-room, during which a candidate for a First Class certificate was not the senior Engineer in charge of the whole watch on the main engines or boilers.

Service in the Royal Naval Reserve: Ante-dating Certificates.—Government has considered the case of men serving in the Royal Naval Reserve during the war who are prevented by the exigencies of the service from presenting themselves for examination on completion of the period of qualifying service required by the Government's Regulations. Arrangements have been made whereby if such a person passes the examination for a certificate of competency at a time not remote from the conclusion of hostilities, he may have his certificate ante-dated to the date on which the period of qualifying service was completed; and service performed after that date, if eligible, will be accepted as qualifying for a higher certificate. No certificate, however, will be ante-dated to a date prior to that on which the candidate was called out for Active Service.

Service in the Army.—The Government is anxious that, so far as it is reasonably possible, seamen or apprentices who are at the present time serving in the Army should not be hindered in their ordinary profession: but the Government cannot, in the absence of any indication of the probable duration of the war, give a definite undertaking with regard to the extent to which such service could be accepted as part of the service required to qualify for certificate of competency in the Mercantile Marine. The Government must have regard to the essential condition that their certificates must testify to actual competency, but they will be prepared in due course to consider sympathetically any application to be examined by a candidate who has been prevented from complying fully with the Regulations owing to his service in the Army.

This may be taken as applying to candidates for Engineers' certificates who were prevented, by serving with His Majesty's forces, from completing before January 1st, 1915, the twelve months' sea service required by the Regulations then in force. (See paragraph 25.)

First Aid Certificates.—A First Aid Certificate which, though otherwise valid, is more than three years old will be accepted during the war if the holder has been prevented from renewing it by reason of the exigencies of the war service.

Examination of Enemy Aliens.—So long as the war lasts no subject of an Enemy State will be allowed to present himself for examination for a certificate of competency in the Mercantile Marine.

The 4th December 1916.

No. 118Marine.—In exercise of the power conferred by section 36 of the Indian Steamships Act, 1884, the Governor in Council proposes to make the following amendments in the rules to regulate the granting of certificates of competency to Engineers of sea-going steamships which were published with this Department's Notification No. 172Marine, dated the 30th December 1912, as amended by this Department's Notification No. 117Marine, dated the 4th December 1916.

The draft amendments will be taken into consideration after the expiry of a month from the date of their publication in the Gazette, and the Governor in Council will be pleased to consider any suggestions or observations which may be made concerning them within that period.

DRAFT AMENDMENTS.

CHAPTER II.

QUALIFICATIONS REQUIRED FOR THE VARIOUS GRADES.

Ordinary Certificates.

24. Value of Ordinary Certificates.—Ordinary Certificates will entitle the holders to go to sea in the grade certified as Engineers of any vessel in the British Mercantile Marine.

25. Second-class Engineer.—A candidate for a Second-class Engineer's Certificate must not be less than 21 years of age;

(a) He must have served as an apprentice Engineer for four years in Europe or five years in India at least, and prove that during the period of his apprenticeship he has been employed in the manner set forth in paragraph 31 of the Regulations relating to the Examination of Engineers.

Journeyman's time will be considered as equivalent to apprenticeship.

Every applicant must produce testimonials of ability as a practical Engineer to the satisfaction of the Port Officer.

If the candidate has served as an apprentice Engineer or as journeyman, under the conditions above prescribed, for less than four years in Europe or five years in India, he will be required to make up the deficiency or to complete the equivalent of four years' European apprenticeship by service as Engineer at sea on regular watch on the main engines or boilers (1) of a foreign-going steamer of not less than 66 nominal horse-power, or (2) of a home-trade steamer of not less than 66 nominal horse-power, such service to be counted as equivalent in the case of (1) to two-thirds, and in the case of (2) to four-ninths, of service as apprentice Engineer or as journeyman.

If the candidate has not served at all as apprentice Engineer or as journeyman, he will be required to have served at sea, in lieu thereof, as Engineer on regular watch on the main engines or boilers, six years in a foreign-going steamer of not less than 66 nominal horse-power, or nine years in a home-trade steamer of not less than 66 nominal horse-power.

(b) In addition to the apprenticeship as above described, or the alternative sea service, the applicant must have served eighteen months at sea as Engineer on regular watch on the main engines or boilers of a foreign-going steamer of not less than 66 nominal horse-power; or twenty-seven months in a home-trade steamer of not less than 66 nominal horse-power.

(c) He must write a legible hand, and have a good knowledge of arithmetic up to and including vulgar and decimal fractions and square root. He must also be able to apply these rules to questions relating to safety valves, coal consumption, consumption of stores, capacities of tanks, bunkers, &c., and other similar problems; and be able to calculate the suitable working pressure for a steam boiler of given dimensions, and the stress per square inch on crank and tunnel shafts and other parts of the machinery when the necessary data are furnished.

(d) He must be able to pass a creditable examination as to the various designs of paddle and screw engines in general use, including turbines; as to the details of the different working parts, external and internal, and the use of each part.

(e) He must have a satisfactory knowledge of the methods of construction of engines and boilers as used in the workshop, and of the attention required by the different parts of the machinery on board ship.

(f) He must be able to give a satisfactory description of boilers, and the methods of staying them, together with the use and management of the different valves, cocks, pipes and connexions.

(g) He must understand the precautions necessary to be taken when raising steam in boilers and when opening stop valves to admit steam to pipes, &c.

(h) He must understand how to make good the results of ordinary wear and tear to the machinery, how to correct defects from accident, decay, &c., and how a temporary or permanent repair could be effected in case of derangement or total breakdown.

(i) He must understand the use of the water gauge, pressure gauge, barometer, thermometer, and salinometer, and the principles on which they are constructed.

(j) He must be able to state the causes, effects, and usual remedies for incrustation and corrosion.

(k) He must be able to explain the methods of testing and altering the setting of the slide valves, and methods of testing the fairness of shafts and adjusting them.

(l) He must understand the construction and working of evaporators, feed filters, and feed heaters.

(m) He must understand the construction and working of centrifugal, bucket, and plunger pumps, and the principles on which they act.

(n) He must understand the construction and working of steering engines, electric light engines and dynamos, electric motors, refrigerating machinery, hydraulic machinery, and such internal combustion engines as are used to drive ships' launches, emergency and auxiliary machinery on board ship.

(o) He must possess a creditable knowledge of the prominent facts relating to combustion, heat and steam.

(p) He must be able to take off and calculate indicator diagrams and understand the distribution of the steam in the cylinder as shown thereby.

(q) He must be able to make a dimensioned working sketch or drawing of some simple part of the machinery.

26. First-class Engineer.—A candidate for a First-class Engineer's Certificate must be not less than 22½ years of age.

A more extended knowledge of the subjects named in paragraph 25 will be required and in addition to the qualifications specified for a Second-class Engineer,

(a) He must—

(1) have served at sea for 18 months, with a Second-class Certificate of Competency or Service, on regular watch on the main engines or boilers of a foreign-going steamship of not less than 99 nominal horse-power, as senior engineer in charge of the whole watch (see paragraph 36 of the Regulations); or

(2) have served at sea for 2 years and 3 months, with a Second-class Certificate of Competency or Service, as First Engineer of a home-trade steamer of not less than 99 nominal horse-power; or 3 years with a Second-class Certificate of Competency or Service as Second Engineer of a home-trade steamer of not less than 99 nominal horse-power; or

(3) have served 3 years and 9 months with a Second-class Certificate of Competency or Service as Third or Fourth Engineer of a home-trade steamer of not less than 99 nominal horse-power, and during the entire period have been the senior engineer in charge of the whole of a watch on the main engines and boilers (see also paragraphs 42, 43, 44 and 45 of the Regulations); or

(4) possess, or be entitled to, a First-class Certificate of Service.

(b) His knowledge of arithmetic must include the mensuration of superficies and solids and the extraction of square and cube roots, and the application of these rules to questions relating to the power, duty, and economy of engines and boilers, and to the stresses in rods, shafts, and levers of the engine. He should also be able to calculate the effect of the application of the lever, pulley, inclined plane, and other mechanical powers.

(c) He will be required to make an intelligible hand sketch, or a working drawing, of one or more of the principal parts of a steam-engine or boiler, and to mark upon it all the necessary dimensions in figures, so that the sketch or drawing could be worked from.*

(d) He must be able to take off and calculate indicator diagrams, and to recognise and know how to correct defects in the distribution of the steam as shown thereby.

(e) He must be able to calculate safety-valve pressures and the strength of the boiler shell and riveting, and of the furnaces, flat surfaces and stays.

(f) He must be able to state the general proportions borne by the principal parts of the machinery to each other, and to calculate the direct stress, the torsional stress, and the bending stress in round bars, and the direct stress and the bending stress in rectangular bars with given loads.

(g) He must be able to explain the method of testing and altering the setting of the slide valves, and to sketch approximately the difference any alteration in the slide valve will make in the indicator diagram.

(h) He must be conversant with surface condensation, superheating, and the working of steam expansively.

(i) He must understand the construction and working of, and be able to maintain in working condition the auxiliary machinery which is placed under his charge, viz.: refrigerating machinery, electric light engines and dynamos, electric motors, hydraulic machinery, the various descriptions of steering engines, and internal combustion engines as used in launches and for auxiliary and emergency machinery on board ship, &c.

(j) He must know how to provide against defects and breakdowns of the machinery, and be able to direct and carry out any ordinary repairs that may be required either to the engines or the boilers.

27. First-class Certificates without Second.—The Government may see fit to allow an applicant who, in consequence of service abroad, has had no opportunity to obtain a Second-class Certificate, to be examined for a First-class Certificate, although he does not possess a Certificate of the lower grade, provided he is able to satisfy them as to the satisfactory character of his services, but these must be ample both as regards length and experience. As a rule, at least 4 years' sea service, a fair proportion of which must have been in a responsible capacity and qualifying for First Class, will be required.

* See Appendix C of the Regulations.

If any such candidate fails to pass the examination for the First-class Certificate, but passes that for the lower grade, he may be given a Second-class Certificate of Competency, but no part of the fee will be returned. If he fails in practical knowledge, he may be re-examined for a Second-class Certificate only, subject to the usual regulations relating to such failures.

28. Marine Technical Schools.—A candidate for either a Second-class or a First-class Certificate who within two years from the date of application to be examined has attended an approved course comprising general mathematical and scientific instruction at a Technical School recognised by the Government as suitable for the training of Marine Engineers, will be allowed to count time so spent as equivalent to sea service in the ratio of three months at the Technical School to two months at sea. Time so spent cannot be accepted as equivalent to more than one-sixth of the total sea service required for either Certificate, but a candidate who has been allowed to count such time on examination for a Second-class Certificate, will not be debarred from counting similar subsequent time on examination for a First-class Certificate.

In every case in which an allowance is made for time spent at a Marine Technical School, the candidate will be required to produce the Principal's Certificate for continuous and regular attendance at all the approved classes and for satisfactory progress.

Sea Service.—It is desirable that the whole of the candidate's sea service should be covered by testimonials certifying to his sobriety, experience, ability, and general good conduct, but in future the usual testimonials will be required for at least the last 18 months at sea preceding the date of the application to be examined.

All candidates, including those for First Class who have not been in charge of the whole of a watch but qualify under paragraph 36 of the Regulations as the second or third senior of the watch and have been in charge of a section of the machinery only, will be required to have served at sea on regular watch on both the main engines and the boilers, not less than six months being spent on each.

The service described in paragraphs 42, 43, 44 and 45 of the Regulations may as heretofore be accepted as qualifying for examination in accordance with the conditions specified in those paragraphs.

Elementary Questions.—In future, the Elementary Questions, referred to in paragraph 69 of the Regulations, will not necessarily be taken from Appendix B, but may be new questions somewhat similar in form and covering much the same ground.

Certificates for Engineers of Home-trade ships propelled by oil engines.

29. Oil engine certificates.—Candidates may be examined for second class Certificates of Competency as Engineers of vessels propelled by oil engines.

These certificates will entitle the holders to go to sea as Second-class Engineers of home-trade ships propelled by oil engines, but will not entitle them to go to sea as Second-class Engineers of Foreign-going or Home-trade steamships.

30. Second-class Engineer (Oil Engines).—A candidate for a Second-class Oil Engine Certificate must be at least 21 years of age.

(a) He must prove—

(1) Four years' experience at the making or repairing of machinery of which at least six months must be at the making or repairing of oil engines, or

(2) Three and-a-half years' experience in charge of engines and boilers at sea or an equivalent suitable experience on shore, and, in addition to either (1) or (2)—

(3) Six months' experience with oil engines at sea.

(b) He must write a legible hand, and have a good knowledge of arithmetic up to and including vulgar and decimal fractions and square root. He must also understand the application of these and other rules to problems relating to spring and lever-loaded relief valves, and be able to solve questions about the relative speeds of a vessel at different revolutions, the capacity of oil tanks, &c.

(c) He must be able to give a clear explanation of the principle on which an oil engine works, and to show by means of illustrative sketches and otherwise that he understands the construction of those in general use.

(d) He must be able to describe the chief causes which may make the engine difficult to start, and to explain how he would proceed to remedy any defects.

(e) He must be able to show that he understands the mechanism of the starting and reversing arrangement, and is competent to deal with defects which may lead to failure in the prompt handling or reversing of the engine.

(f) He must have sufficient mechanical ability to be able to overhaul the engine, to adjust the working parts, and to put the engine together again in good working condition.

(g) He must be able to give satisfactory answers to the elementary questions numbered 305 to 310 inclusive in Appendix B (p. 82).

(h) He must be able to prove (by actual trial if practicable) that he is competent to manipulate an oil engine when under way by starting, running the engine, stopping, reversing or slowing down.

NOTE.—Alternative service to the above may be considered, but it is essential that the candidate should have experience with oil engines, and have spent at least six months at sea in the engine-room of a sea-going vessel.

(i) He must understand what is meant by the flash point, and have a knowledge of the explosive properties of the oil generally used in oil engines when exposed in the open air, and the danger of exposing any vapour from the oil to a light or of allowing any leak from the oil tanks, particularly into the vessel's bilges.

(j) He must understand the action of wire gauze diaphragms when placed in pipes and connections to all tanks, etc., for the purpose of preventing the explosion or ignition of oil vapour therein.

(k) He must be able to take the necessary precautions to guard against the escape of inflammable vapour from the vaporiser when the engines are stopped.

(l) He must be able to explain the principle and construction of a dynamo and the construction and arrangement of primary and secondary batteries and induction coils, so far as is necessary for the efficient management of an oil engine.

31. Workshop service.—Workshop service must have been performed in works where steam-engines, boilers, etc., are made or repaired, but no time served before the age of 15 will be counted.

Not less than two years in Europe or three years in India of the apprentice time must have been spent at fitting, erecting, or repairing engines and machinery either in the works or outside. The remaining two years may be made up of time spent in engine works at fitting, erecting, or repairing engines and machines or at one of the other branches of the trade given below, or at an approved technical day school (see Appendix J), the time so spent to count as follows :—

Fitting, erecting, repairing, or turning.	Full time.
Working in drawing office ...	Full time up to one year, and beyond one year one-half time.
Pattern-making ...	One-half time with a maximum allowance of one year.
Planing, slotting, shaping and milling.	One-third time.
Boiler-making or repairing	One-half time.
Smith work ...	One-half time with a maximum allowance of one year.
Coppersmith work ...	One-third time with a maximum allowance of six months.

This paragraph applies only to works at which the making and or repairing of steam engines, boilers, etc., forms part of the regular business for which the works exist. Service at works where the repairing of steam engines, boilers, etc., is merely incidental to the running of plant, however large, which is used for the production of power for other machinery, etc., should be dealt with under paragraph 33, each case being considered on its merits.

In the event of the apprentice time being extended to five years in Europe or six years in India, or more, four years at turning followed by one year in Europe or two years in India at fitting or erecting may be accepted as qualifying.

32. Workshop service other than the above.—When the workshop service has been performed in a place where engines are made but not in the manner specified in paragraph 31, the case must be referred to the Government with a report upon the service performed. If the service be such as is useful training for an Engineer, the Government may accept the service; but in every such case the applicant must prove additional engine-room* or marine engine workshop service as required in the succeeding paragraph.

33. Workshop service where engines are not made.—When the workshop service has been performed in a place where steam-engines are not made or repaired, and the class of work done is similar to that required in engine making, the service may be accepted with an additional year of qualifying service; that is, four years in Europe or five years in India of workshop service and either two years at sea on regular watch, or one year at engine fitting in a suitable marine engine workshop and one year at sea in the engine-room. The approval of the Port Officer must be obtained in every such case before the candidate is examined.

Service in Colonial and Foreign Workshops.—Paragraphs 31 to 33 apply to service in the United Kingdom and India only. Service in a Colonial or foreign workshop will not be accepted unless the Examiner is satisfied in each case that its value is substantially equivalent to that of service performed in the United Kingdom and India. In cases where the Examiner is not satisfied that the value is equivalent, he will refer the matter for decision.

Workshop service in India is to be taken as equivalent to not more than four-fifths of the same period of service in the United Kingdom.

34. Technical Schools.—Time spent after the age of 15 at a technical day school (recognised by the Government as suitable) where there is an engineering laboratory, may be taken into account and accepted as equivalent to artisan service, usually at the ratio of three years in the technical school to two in artisan service, provided that the applicant has taken the full engineering course and can produce the Principal's certificate for regular attendance at all the approved classes and for satisfactory progress; and provided also that the remaining portion of the time has been spent in works where steam-engines, boilers, etc., are made or repaired, in accordance with the scale of values indicated above.

For list of approved technical schools and time allowed for attendance at each (see Appendix J).

Time spent in attending evening classes in Engineering at approved Technical Schools will similarly be allowed to count under the following conditions:—

(1) Each candidate claiming an allowance for time spent in attending evening classes at a Technical School must produce a certificate signed by the Principal of the School to the effect that he has attended regularly at a definite class or classes which should be specified, and has made satisfactory progress. This certificate must also state the total number of hours spent by the candidate in attending each class.

(2) Time spent by the candidate in attending such classes as have a direct bearing on the training of a Marine Engineer will be reckoned at the rate of five hours to one day. The total number of days so obtained will then be accepted in lieu of a certain fraction of the same period of workshop service. This fraction will be fixed for each school at the time of approval, and will generally be two-thirds.

(3) A candidate who has attended a Technical School in the evening, while being employed as an apprentice or journeyman Engineer during the day, must, in order that the school time may be accepted, produce satisfactory proof that he has spent the full working day in the works, at which he is employed before attending the school. Such proof will usually take the form of a statement in the testimonial as to workshop service given by the employer.

(4) Allowance will only be given for classes attended after the candidate has reached the age of 15.

35. Sea-service.—The sea-service required by these regulations is, unless otherwise stated, service performed in foreign-going ships of at least the nominal horse-power specified for the respective grades of Certificate. The nominal horse-power, as given on the vessel's Certificate of Registry, may in all cases be accepted by the Examiners.

36. Qualifying service defined.—In the case of candidates for First-class Certificates qualifying service means, as a rule, service on regular watch on the main engines or boilers as senior Engineer in charge of the whole watch. When, however, three or four Engineers are on watch at the same time the service of the two seniors may be allowed to count, and when not less than six Engineers are on watch together that of the three seniors, provided a certificate from the Superintending Engineer is produced stating the number of Engineers on watch, the rank held by the applicant and that he was in full charge of a watch on a definite section of the main engines or boilers. During the whole of the period claimed, candidates must have been in possession of Second-class Certificates.

In the case of candidates for Second-class Certificates qualifying service means service as Engineer on regular watch on the main engines or boilers. In no case will time spent in clerical work be allowed to count.

37. Further as to Qualifying Service.—Only such service as gives the experience required to make a man thoroughly competent as a sea-going Engineer is accepted as qualifying service. Even for a Second-class Certificate the candidate must prove to the satisfaction of the Examiner that he is qualified by experience and knowledge to act as Chief Engineer in an under-powered steamer of 99 nominal horse-power on a voyage, say, from India to Egypt, taking full responsibility for engines and boilers.

38 Foreign Engineers.—Foreign Engineers cannot be examined for a First-class Certificate unless they have performed the sea-service stated in paragraph 26 with the requisite British Certificate. The service may have been performed in foreign vessels if the candidate can produce satisfactory testimonials as to conduct and character, and is able to prove that the service has been in the required capacities, and that during the period of service he has held a British Certificate of Competency of the rank required by the Regulations (see paragraph 15).

39. Names on Articles.—In all cases the candidates' names must have been duly entered on the ship's Articles as Engineers in their proper ratings.

40. Regular Watch.—Being on regular watch means being on watch for at least eight hours a day.

41. Home-trade Service.—Service in the home or coasting trade is regarded as being equivalent to two-thirds of the same period of time served in the foreign trade except where other allowances are specified [see paragraphs 26 (a) (2) and (3), 42, 44 and 45]. Also except in the case of Indian coasting voyages extending beyond a distance of 500 miles from the port of departure in steamships commanded by masters holding foreign-going certificates, when such service will count as foreign-voyages, and will be reckoned as full time; but the time spent in the port of departure or Home Port will not be allowed to count. In all cases the length of service is deemed to commence on the date of sailing from the port of departure or Home Port and to end on the date of arrival at the Home Port. Such service must be vouched for in the form laid down in Appendix K.

42. Lake or River Service.—Service as watch-keeper on a lake or river steamer of not less than 66 nominal horse-power may be accepted under the following conditions :—

(a) the service will only count half as much as sea service, i.e., every two months of lake or river service is only equivalent to one month's foreign-going sea service ;

(b) candidates for Second-class Certificates must prove, in addition to the lake or river service, at least three months' qualifying service at sea in a foreign-going steamship of not less than 66 nominal horse-power, or four and-a-half months' similar service in the home-trade;

(c) candidates for First-class Certificates must prove, in addition to lake or river service in vessels of not less than 99 nominal horse-power, at least six months' qualifying service at sea, with a Second-class Engineer's Certificate, in foreign-going vessels of not less than 99 nominal horse-power or nine months' similar service in the home-trade.

43. Service in Auxiliary Screw Steamships.—Service performed on board auxiliary screw whalers and other vessels with auxiliary steam-power of not less than 66 nominal horse-power in the capacity of Engineer may be allowed to count towards qualifying candidates for examination for Second-class Engineers' Certificates of Competency to the extent of one-half the time the vessel is actually at sea. If the candidate is able to prove a larger amount of time under steam, he will be allowed to count the whole of such extended time.

44. Service in dredgers, fishing boats, Tug-boats, or Pilot-vessels.—Service in sea-going steam dredgers, fishing boats, or tug-boats, and in sea-going pilot-vessels when on their station or when going to or returning from the same, may be accepted under the following conditions:—Two months of such service is only equivalent to one month's qualifying service in a foreign-going steamer. Candidates for Second-class Certificates may perform all their sea service in sea-going steam dredgers, fishing-boats, tug-boats, or pilot-vessels, but they must have been on regular watch on the main engines or boilers and the vessels must not be less than 66 nominal horse-power. Candidates for First-class Certificates must, while in possession of a Second-class Certificate, have served in vessels of at least 99 nominal horse-power, and have been in charge of a watch on the main engines or boilers. They must, in addition, have served in a qualifying capacity for at least six months in a foreign-going cargo or passenger steamship, or nine months in a home-trade cargo or passenger steamship. This rule will not apply to service on the steam pilot-vessels at the Sandheads. Service on the regular watch on board such vessels for the period the vessels are on the station, or when going to, or returning from the same, shall be accepted as equivalent to two-thirds of the time performed in foreign-going trading vessels, as in the case of steam yachts.

Where an Engineer is employed on a fishing or other vessel and is required to do stoking or other work not usually performed by an Engineer in the Mercantile Marine, such service cannot be accepted as qualifying.

The Examiners of Engineers will in all cases satisfy themselves that service on fishing boats, when claimed as qualifying for a certificate as Engineer, is of a similar nature to that performed by Engineers in the Mercantile Marine.

45. Service in yachts.—Service performed in steam yachts, either within or beyond home-trade limits, may be accepted as equivalent to two-thirds of the time performed in foreign-going trading vessels, provided that the candidate's name is entered on the vessel's articles, and that he can prove to the satisfaction of the Examiner, that the time claimed was actually served at sea.

Candidates for Second-class Certificates may perform all their service in yachts, but the candidate must have been on regular watch on the main engines or boilers and the vessel must be of not less than 66 nominal horse-power.

Candidates for First-class Certificates must have served on vessels of not less than 99 nominal horse-power, and must have been in regular charge of the main engines or boilers. In addition they must have served for at least three months in a qualifying capacity on board a foreign-going cargo or passenger steamship. This additional service will, however, not be required in the case of a candidate who has served for 18 months as First Engineer, or for two years as second Engineer, of a steam yacht of the requisite power.

46. Certificates of Service.—An officer who has attained the rank of Engineer Lieutenant or Engineer Sub-Lieutenant in His Majesty's Navy or the rank of Engineer or Assistant Engineer in the Indian Marine Service, is entitled without examination, if an Engineer Lieutenant or Engineer, to a Certificate of Service as First-class Engineer, and if an Engineer Sub-Lieutenant or Assistant Engineer, to a Certificate of Service as Second-class Engineer. These officers may be examined for a Certificate of Competency on the same conditions as Engineers of the Mercantile Marine.

An officer who has attained the rank of Chief Artificer Engineer in His Majesty's Navy is also entitled without examination to a Certificate of Service as Second-class Engineer.

47. Examination of Engine-room Artificers.—Artificer Engineers, Chief Engine-room Artificers, Engine-room Artificers, and Mechanicians in the Royal Navy may be examined for Certificates of Competency on the same conditions as Engineers of the Mercantile Marine.

48. Application by Naval Officers.—The Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty have directed that applications from officers of the Navy for Certificates of Service or for permission to be examined for Certificates of Competency must, in the case of officers on the active list, be made through the Commanding Officer to the Secretary to the Admiralty, and in the case of officers who are on half-pay or who have retired, direct to the Secretary to the Admiralty, who in either case will forward the applications to the Port Officer.

It is not necessary for applications of Chief Engine-room Artificers and Mechanicians, who have left the Royal Navy and who desire to be examined for Certificates of Competency as Engineers in the Mercantile Marine, to be forwarded either through their Commanding Officers or through the Admiralty. Men who are still serving in these ratings in the Royal Navy should make their applications through their Commanding Officers.

Artificer Engineers, however, being Warrant Officers, should make their applications in the same manner as that laid down for other officers of the Royal Navy.

49. Masters' and Mates' Examination in steam.—Particulars of the examination of Masters and Mates in steam will be found in Appendix F, pages 35-37.

50. Certificates.—The term "Certificate" in these regulations means a Certificate issued by the Board of Trade, or by a British Possession under Order in Council in accordance with section 102 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894. A list of the Colonial Certificates issued under Order in Council is given in Appendix G, and the holder of a Certificate so issued must not be examined in the United Kingdom for a Certificate of the grade already held.

51. Colonial Local Certificates.—The holder of a Colonial Certificate of Competency not granted under the Merchant Shipping Act, or of a Certificate of Competency granted after examination on board one of His Majesty's ships, who wishes to be examined for a Government of Bengal Certificate of the same grade, must prove that he has performed the amount of service required by these regulations for that grade, and complied with the conditions laid down as to testimonials. No fee will be demanded for the first attempt, but if the candidate fails the usual fee will be demanded on any subsequent attempt.

NOTICE.

DEPARTMENT OF MINES IN INDIA, DHANBAD P. O., MANBHUM.

Indian Mines Act, 1901.

AN examination for first and second class Coal Mine Managers' Certificates of Competency under the rules applicable to coal mines will be held at the Railway Institute, Dhanbad, on the 21st, 22nd and 23rd February 1917.

Rules 32 and 33 of the Indian Mines Act, 1901, require that a candidate for a first class certificate must be at least 23 years of age and have had at least five years' practical experience in a coal mine, and for a second class certificate be at least 21 years of age and have had at least three years' practical experience in a coal mine. The periods of practical experience may be reduced to three years and one year, respectively, in the case of a candidate who has received a diploma in scientific and mining subjects after a course of study of at least two years at an educational institution approved in this behalf by the Governor-General in Council, or who has taken a degree in scientific and mining subjects at a University approved in this behalf by the Governor-General in Council.

The fees are Rs. 15 in the case of first class certificates and Rs. 8 in the case of second class certificates. By rule 34 of Government of India (Department of Commerce and Industry) Notification No. 2968—82, dated the 21st April 1906, "these fees shall be paid, not less than one month prior to the date of the examination, to the Chief Inspector of Mines at his office." The fees may be remitted by money-order or paid in any other manner.

Applications and fees should be addressed to the Chief Inspector of Mines in India, Dhanbad, East Indian Railway, and not to any officer by name. No candidate will be permitted to sit at the examination unless his application and fee is received on or before the 21st January 1917.

(EXPLOSIVES.)

The 2nd December 1916.

No. 92-C.—In accordance with the provisions of section 18 of the Indian Explosives Act, 1881 (IV of 1884), and of the Notification of the Government of India in the Home Department No. 1964, dated the 2nd September 1887, the Governor-General in Council is pleased to publish, for general information, the following amendment which His Excellency in Council, in exercise of the powers conferred by section 5 of the said Act, proposes to make in the Indian Explosives Rules, 1914, published with the Notification in this Department No. 4013-33, dated the 6th June 1914.

The draft will be taken into consideration by the Governor-General in Council on the expiration of two months from the date of publication of this Notification in the Gazette of India.

Draft amendments.

1. In rule 4 of the said rules, after clause (6), the following shall be inserted as clause 6 (a):—

"District Magistrate" includes, in cases where the Local Government so directs, "the Additional District Magistrate in respect of such area as such Local Government may so order."

No. 142-D.—In exercise of the powers conferred by section 5 of the Indian Explosives Act, 1884 (IV of 1884), the Governor-General in Council is pleased to make the following amendments in the Indian Explosives Rules, 1914, published with the Notification in this Department No. 4013-33, dated the 6th June 1914:—

I. To the entry against rule 97 in the list of contents prefixed to the said rules the words "and Chinese crackers" shall be added.

II. For rule 97 of the said rules the following shall be substituted, namely:—

Saving as to the conveyance of ammunition and Chinese crackers.

"97. Nothing in rules 80 to 89 shall apply to ammunition (Division 1) and in the case of the transport by rail of Chinese crackers (Division 2 of class 7—Fireworks) the provisions of rule 89 may be relaxed during the period from July to March inclusive under an order of the District Traffic Officer when the number or size of consignments offering is such that, in his judgment, serious delay would be caused by the observance of the rule: provided that in both instances, all due precautions shall be taken to prevent explosion."

III. For clause (d) of rule 134 of the said rules the following shall be substituted, namely :—

"(d) sporting gun-powder packed in double packages as provided in schedule IV, so long as the gun-powder is contained in tin canisters containing not more than 5 lbs. each and packed in a stout wooden case with an outer covering of tin or zinc completely spark-proof, or in metal-lined cases of a pattern approved by the Chief Inspector of Explosives. But no outer case shall contain more than 25 lbs. of gun-powder, and the total consignment by one train shall not exceed 80 lbs."

IV. In column 1 of form H in form I and in the first column of the table of distances appended to the said rules, below the entry "Government building" the words "Wireless station" shall be inserted.

In addition to the details on the reverse, information under the following heads is also given :—

(a) If the ordinary surplus is insufficient to meet the charges of the proposed loan, the particular steps which the municipality has taken, or has agreed to take, in order to make good the deficiency.	The ordinary surplus is inadequate to meet the charges of the proposed loan. The Municipal Commissioners propose to make good the deficiency by raising taxes as stated below.
(b) The reserve of taxation or other possible means of increase in the revenues of the municipality.	The revenues of the municipality are likely to increase under the head "Tax on professions and trades," as the Municipal Commissioners have resolved at a meeting held on 22nd December 1915 to revise the scale of fees of licenses which has been sanctioned by the Divisional Commissioner and also the head "Hackney Carriages."
(c) A statement of all outstanding loans specifying, in respect of each loan, the date when taken, the purpose (very briefly), the amount, the annual charges involved, and the amount still payable.	A loan of Rs. 15,000 was taken from Government on 1st October 1913 for the purpose of constructing new drains according to the drainage scheme. Rupees 1,096-10-9 is the annual charge, and Rs. 14,451-10-8 is still payable.
(d) Any explanations in regard to receipts and expenditure to show the true financial position of the municipality when such position is otherwise than the ordinary surplus would indicate.	Nil.

No. 2673M.—The 4th December 1916.—The Commissioners of the Howrah Municipality, in the district of Howrah, recommended at a meeting held on the 22nd September 1916—

Howrah.

(a) that two local areas (hereinafter referred to as plots A and B) which are contiguous to that Municipality, and the boundaries of which are hereinafter described, should be included within the said Municipality, and

(b) that two local areas (hereinafter referred to as plots C and D) which are comprised within the said Municipality, and the boundaries of which are also hereinafter described, should be excluded from the said Municipality.

The Governor in Council is accordingly pleased, in exercise of the powers conferred by clauses (b) and (c) of section 9 of the Bengal Municipal Act, 1884 (Bengal Act III of 1884), to declare his intention to give effect to the said recommendations (a) and (b).
